DEMAND 4 MORE CONGRESSMEN IN COOK COUNTY

Wets Take Action on New Population.

Efforts to force a re-division of Illinois into congressional districts which will give Cook county and other rapidly growing urban areas their proper representation in congress were announced yesterday by Congressman James T. Igoe [Dem., 6th]. He will consult United States Attorney General W. D. Mitchell and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom of Illinois regarding the proper legal steps.

The Illinois legislature, with downstate having the majority of representation, is the only agency through which the lines of the congressional districts may be changed. While no expression of opposition has come from the legislature the proponents of equalized districts have in mind its refusal to rearrange state senatorial district boundaries to give Cook county its proportional membership. It is Congressman Igoe's idea to see if federal pressure can be applied.

Discrimination Is Charged.

Chicago leaders have called attention to discrimination against Cook county as shown by the 1930 census and the proposed re-allotment of members of congress to the various states. Under plans now being given consideration Illinois will be allotted the same number of congressmen it now has, 27, although other states will gain and some will lose in their congressional representation.

Assuming that Illinois will continue to have 27 congressmen, Congressman Igoe and other wet leaders say that on the basis of population Cook county is entitled to 14 congressmen instead of the 10 the county now has. Cook county has 52 per cent of the population of the state, the census shows, whereas in 1910, the time of the last reapportionment of congressional districts, the county had only 42 per cent of the state's population.

Inequality in Illinois Shown.

If congress adopts the plan of giving representation to the states on the basis of dividing the total population of 122,728,873 by 435, the number of members to be retained, which is called the "equal proportions" plan, an average congressional district would contain 282,365 persons. Cook county's population is 3,972,434.

If Cook county is to have only 10 representatives, each would represent an average of 397,243 persons, which advocates of redistricting say amounts to the disfranchisement of 1,148,784 people in voting for congressmen. On the other hand, it was pointed out, downstate Illinois with its 15 districts and its population of 3,657,849, has representation based on a population 577,626 less than the federal average of 4,235,475 for the 15 districts.

If the two members of congress at large, who at present are both from downstate, are considered as downstate representation, Illinois, outside of Cook county, has representation equivalent to a population of 4,800,205, or 1,142,356 greater than its actual population.

Population Figures Cited.

Inasmuch as one of the Cook county districts, the Tenth, includes all of Lake county, the 10 Cook county congressmen represent a present population of 4,075,784, it was shown, or one representative for each 407,578 persons. A table showing the population figures of the last four decades, with increases and decreases, was given as follows:

Total Ill.—	4,801,550	5,638,591	6,485,280	7,630,283

These figures show that, whereas in 1900 Cook county was 1,144,080 behind the rest of the state and had but 38 per cent of the state's population, in 1910 it was only 828,125 behind and had 42.6 per cent, and in 1930 it has exceeded the rest of the state by 314,585 persons, making a total gain on downstate of 1,458,665.

The percentages of gain of 1930 over 1920, as given, were: Illinois as a whole, 17.6 per cent; Cook county, 30 per cent; the rest of the state, 6.5 per cent.

On that showing, downstate's gain in the 30 year period—675,034—was 31.6 per cent of Cook county's gain—2,133,699.

As another comparison the population changes of the last 30 years in the 24th Illinois congressional district were given. The present population of this district is 171,942. The largest

CUBS GAME FROM TOP; WIN, 6-0, 11-1; ROBINS LOSE TWO

Hack Wilson hit three home runs yesterday as the Cubs won a double header from Boston, 6 to 0 and 11 to 1. Wilson now has 39 for the season. Root allowed three hits in the opener and Malone permitted five in the second.

FIRST GAME.

Boston	000	000	000	0	3 1
Cubs	202	000	02*	6	10 1

SECOND GAME.

Boston	001	000	000	1	5 2
Cubs	080	000	03*	11	13 0

Batteries—Cunningham, Brandt, Jones, and Cronin; Malone and Hartnett.

Brooklyn lost a double header to St. Louis, 8 to 2 and 4 to 0, and now is only one game ahead of the Cubs.

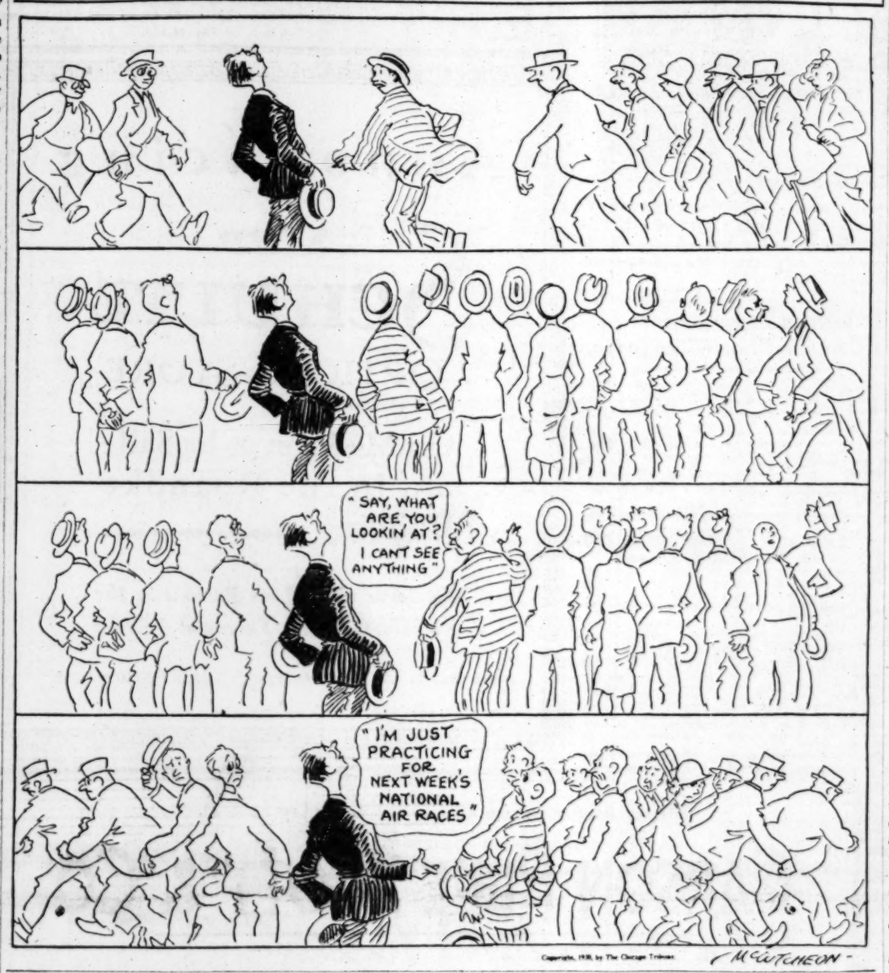
THINGS WILL SOON BE LOOKING UP



GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE; DRINK POISONS 2 MORE

Agnes Orlikowski, 2532 North Mozart street, the 19 year old daughter of a policeman, walked into the Graves nut shop, 3143 Logan boulevard, last night and ordered a pineapple soda.

The girl paid the waitress 20 cents, took a few sips of the soda, and walked out. The proprietors, Mrs. Anna Graves and Mrs. Hope Dwelly, affronted by the customer's rejection of the soda, each tasted it and agreed it was up to standard. Within a few minutes, however, they became ill.

Dr. Benjamin Milton, 3040 Logan boulevard, hastened from his office, sniffed the soda once, and immediately administered the women an antidote for bichloride of mercury. West park police instituted a search for Miss Orlikowski and found her unconscious at the base of the Logan monument in Logan park.

At the Belmont hospital she admitted attempting suicide but refused to tell the reason. Her condition is critical.

SHOT TO DEATH IN PURSUIT OF 3 CENT ROBBERS

Pursuing two Negro gunmen who had robbed his cousin of 3 cents, John Stasnick, 50 years old, a laborer of 230 Swan street, was shot to death, and his son, Steven, 22 years old, was wounded twice in the left leg last night. The cousin, David Chalko, 40 years old, who also joined the chase, was not wounded.

Having attended a movie, Chalko was returning to the Staswick home, where he lived, when the Negroes held him up under the Rock Island railroad viaduct a block from home. They took the pennies, kicked him twice, and sent him on his way.

Incensed when Chalko related his experience, the elder Stasnick vowed he would teach the Negroes a lesson. The son begged him to remain home and failing to win his point, started out with Chalto trailing behind. None of the three was armed. After the shooting the Negroes escaped.

Former Gang Roadhouse Now Scene of Revivals

Marion, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Shady Rest, roadhouse on the Marion-Harrisburg state highway, has reformed. Former headquarters of the Charles Birger gang, it today began a career as the center of an evangelist revival service. The place gained notoriety when the gangster enemies of Birger, finding it too strong to be stormed, engaged an airman to bomb it. Several of the buildings were destroyed by the high explosives dropped from the air.

Robbers Force Victims to Put Safe on Truck

Four armed bandits clad in overalls yesterday raided the Mulvihill-Goodwine company, beverage dealers at 1527 Flournoy street, and escaped with a safe containing between $2,500 and $3,000 in cash and checks. The bandits forced an official of the company and three employés to load the safe on a truck, mask it under crates of soda pop, and then locked the four men and a fifth, who chanced on the scene, in a second floor storeroom.

The robbers appeared on the company's loading platform as Samuel Jerome and his brother Ned, both of 3850 Prairie avenue, Schiller Park, and John Lipa, 2126 South May street, were loading crates of empty pop bottles on a truck. The quartet wore handkerchief masks; two of them had chauffeurs' badges on their caps.

Forced to Load Safe.

The employés were ordered to cease their work and lie prone on the platform. One of the bandits stood guard over the men as the others entered the offices. There Herman Glick, treasurer of the company, was at work at his desk. He was ordered to lie on the floor.

Three of the bandits took a two wheel truck from the storeroom and strove to place the two by four safe upon it. After fruitless straining, the leader said, "Call the boys in from the platform." The three employés and Glick were made to place the safe on the truck, wheel it to the platform, and put it on the motor truck. They were then ordered to cover the safe with cases of pop.

Lock Five in Storeroom.

After the truck was loaded A. Swidler, 6736 Clyde avenue, a jobber for the company, walked into the office. He was forced into line with the other prisoners. The five men were marched to the second floor and padlocked in a small storeroom. The bandits drove off after taking two acetylene torches with which to open the safe.

The prisoners forced the door by their concerted efforts. The Maxwell street police were notified and sent squads in search of the truck with a license number of M 611-86. The safe is the property of the Brinks Express company and contained Saturday's receipts, which were to have been banked today.

NEWS OF TRACK TRAGEDY KILLS VICTIM'S SISTER

The solicitude of Robert Whalon of Chicago, president of the National Automobile Racing association, for the safety of spectators at a dirt track at Sterling, Ill., led directly to his own death and indirectly to the death of a relative of his yesterday.

Mr. Whalon, who was 37 years old and proprietor of a battery station at 4800 Cottage Grove avenue, was outside a fence on a curve of the Sterling track, trying to keep the crowd from pushing through. The leading car passed in a cloud of dust and the second, swerving close to the fence, struck and killed Mr. Whalon.

His wife, Lillian, who witnessed the accident from a car in the infield, fainted but was revived. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Bernice Whalon, 501 West 79th street, left a widow when Robert's brother, Douglass Whalon, died two months ago, collapsed and died when a nurse at the German Deaconess hospital informed her of the accident. She was under treatment for a heart ailment.

GERMANS FIGHT TO GRAB BRITISH TRADE IN INDIA

200 Industrialists Invade Land.

No Blows Struck

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 10.—In sharp contrast to all previous demonstrations, a monster parade of Indian Nationalists in Bombay today passed without incident. Although 10,000 took part and 100,000 more lined the streets, not a blow was struck. Police instead cleared a passage for the paraders and abstained from cracking heads with their lathis, or bamboo sticks. The parade was held in celebration of "All Prisoners" day in the forbidden business area of Bombay.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 10. — While Great Britain is feeling more and more the loss of trade with India because of the intense boycott in the civil disobedience, and while the United States and other countries are displaying a neutrality in the situation, Germany is wading in and has launched a scheme for the capture of Indian trade. In this she has the aid of Indian capital and, while the movement is still in its infancy, British supremacy in the vast market of India is seriously threatened.

The new move by the Germans has a two-fold object entirely aside from the general plan to restore her world-wide trade. Germany is not only seeking to capture the entire market for German made products, but is also cooperating with Indian capital in an effort to develop Indian industries. Two hundred German firms have united to this end and already the movement has obtained general encouragement from both Indian traders and industrialists.

200 German Industrialists Unite.

Since America's trade with India represents but 1 per cent of American foreign commerce, there has been no more than the natural expansion and there seems no reason why the general American trade with the British empire should be endangered. Our business with India is chiefly in automobiles, electric refrigerators, hardware, phonographs, and typewriters. But the buying power of the Indians has decreased as the civil struggle intensifies.

But Germany, keen as she is to regain her world markets, is doing all she can to drive a further nail into the industrial coffin of Great Britain with the formation of the Export-Dienst [India] Ltd., by 200 manufacturers, with the dual purpose of "selling as many German products as they can to India and of buying as many Indian products and raw materials as possible for use in German manufactures and for consumption in Germany."

Studied Indian Markets.

The organization is headed by Theodor Ficker, a former member of the German Nationalist party and prominent industrialist. He came to India last January and made a careful study of Indian markets and of industrial needs and sought cooperation with a group of Indian business men who were trying to develop local industries

Dive in River to Sinking Boat; Return to Cell

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—In sight of 2,200 prisoners getting their daily allowance of fresh air in the yard that slopes from Sing Sing down to ten feet from the edge of the Hudson river, a rowboat began to fill with water and sink today.

Two men at the oars struggled to row to the dock in front of the prison. Two women in the boat screamed for help. The prisoners started for the twelve foot iron fence and the guards raised their rifles to ready, machine gunners pulled the first cartridge under the firing pin.

Three Allowed to Drown.

Three years ago under similar circumstances, three young men were allowed to drown while the guards kept the prisoners safe. "Orders are orders," they said three years ago in justifying the action; but the three deaths then produced a further order that in future the responsible prison officer should use his discretion as to rescues.

Today discretion was lodged in Alfred Mollitore, sergeant of the guard, and he decided to exercise it. The rowboat was making slow headway because the wind had turned the river at that point into rough water. As the boat settled waves came over the side faster.

There was no lack of volunteers. Mollitore picked four short termers, Irving Brown, Joseph Oates, Anthony Triano, and David Weller, to be let out. They promised to come back after the rescue. The greatest responsibility lay in opening the gates of a prison yard which held 2,200 prisoners, some with life sentences.

Back Prisoners to Wall.

Sergt. Mollitore gave the orders. The prisoners backed from the iron fence to the gray walls. The gates were opened. The long termers who had been there long enough to take almost any chance for liberty had been there three years ago when the canoe with the three young men turned over. The last one went down 5 yards from the end of the dock. In the presence of that recollection and of the rifles and machine guns no one rushed the gate except the four rescuers.

The gate closed after them. All the vigilance of the guards was concentrated on the 2,196 prisoners still inside. Ahead was the dock and to either side between the wall and the river ran the road to liberty for prisoners Brown, Oates, Triano, and Weller. The guards paid no further attention to them, but the other 2,196 prisoners followed them with their eyes. Three years ago the impotence of being in prison watching other men drown had made these felons weep and left them unable to eat their special July 4 dinner.

Swim Out to Boat.

Prisoners Triano and Weller plunged into the river to swim out to the boat. Prisoners Brown and Oates, equipped with long firemen's hooks, stayed at the end of the dock to haul them out. The rowboat, helped along by Triano and Weller, got as far as the end of the dock just as the gunwales were awash. Prisoners Brown and Oates held it up with their hooks and Prisoners Triano and Weller steadied it in the water while the two men helped the two women out and scrambled out themselves. Then the boat sank.

The four prisoners and the four rescued persons walked to the prison gate and were all admitted together. Then it was discovered that the four prisoners had rescued J. D. Roosa, chief of police of the New York Central railroad lines, with his brother-in-law, Albert Graff, and their wives.

Savings for Women—Who Buy Wearing Apparel Now

Monday and Tuesday of a recent week were hot days. Humidity was high. It was the sort of weather when women thought of anything but how to keep warm next winter. And yet on those particularly uncomfortable days, more than 1,000 women responded to the advertisement of a single State street department store, and purchased their coats for next winter.

Here was a perfect demonstration that stores today are offering genuine bargains. How these bargains came about is a story in itself. Alert buyers from Chicago's department stores and specialty shops went to market and demanded superior merchandise for less money. Manufacturers, eager to get business, were led to make big concessions. The stores are letting their customers have the full benefit of their fortunate buying. The present generation of young women have never seen wearing apparel offered at the present level of prices. For those to whom savings are important, the present is an unusual time to buy.

HOOVER AWAITS FIGURES TODAY ON CROP DAMAGE

THE DROUGHT

2 Government corn report today expected to show a crop loss of 500,000,000 bushels, or about 16 per cent, as result of drought. Details on page 25.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—While President Hoover at his Rapidan camp devoted a part of the Sabbath to further study of the drought problem, acceptances were received at the White House today from all but three of the governors invited to the President's relief conference next Thursday.

Meanwhile telegrams from county agents giving detailed data on conditions in the states hardest hit by the prolonged dry weather poured into the department of agriculture in response to requests from Secretary Arthur M. Hyde. These data, to be compiled tomorrow, are expected to furnish a reliable basis for the government's relief program.

Secretary Hyde and James C. Stone, vice chairman of the federal farm board, were week-end guests at the Hoover camp. They discused the drought with the President last night and again following breakfast this morning.

May Postpone Vacation.

Mr. Hoover will return to the capital tomorrow, when he is to receive from Mr. Hyde a report on the county agents' messages and a special department of agriculture crop report. The drought will continue to occupy almost his entire attention during the week. It also became known today that he definitely has decided to postpone his vacation, set for the latter part of August, should the drought relief program demand his presence in Washington.

Governors whose acceptances to the relief conference invitations had been received today were those of Arkansas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Montana, Virginia, West Virginia, and Kansas. Govs. Emmerson of Illinois, Hammill of Iowa, and Weaver of Nebraska had not yet been heard from.

It was stated at the White House, however, that each one of the governors invited are expected either to attend the conference in person or send representatives. Little credence was given to dispatches from Nebraska quoting Gov. Weaver as saying he did not wish to advertise his state as one of those suffering from the drought by coming to Washington. Although his acceptance telegram still was missing, the White House was sure he would not ignore the invitation. It was pointed out that Nebraska was one of the states listed by the President as being "less acutely affected" than the others.

Comprehensive Relief Plan.

Upon their arrival the governors, after being greeted by the President, will immediately tackle the task of organizing a comprehensive relief plan.

Although the scope and mechanics of the program will depend largely upon the data still to be gathered on the rainfall during the next few days, it was intimated today that it will be along the lines of the Mississippi flood relief plan devised by Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce.

Under the flood relief plan each state with the advice of the governor selected a reconstruction commissioner, who acted as a liaison officer between the federal government, state department of agriculture, the Red Cross and local agencies participating in relief work. In the badly stricken areas business men set up corporations through which farmers borrowed money to replace live stock and ruined crops. The federal intermediate credit banks in turn helped to finance the local corporations which guaranteed the farmers' notes.

In the present situation the federal farm board probably will be called upon to furnish a part of the emergency funds as well as grain for feeding live stock.

So far the relief program has been confined to preparatory measures, the most important being the action of the interstate commerce commission in removing legal barriers to railroad rate reductions on live stock and feed moved into or out of the drought districts. No reports of human suffering have reached the White House, but the Red Cross and war department have been directed to stand by for emergency work if need arises.

The first political attack on the administration's drought action came from the Democratic national committee today in the form of a statement by Representative Arthur H. Greenwood [Dem., Ind.], asserting that the government should find "something more immediate for the amelioration of distress" than the governors conference.

"Undoubtedly these able men are doing everything they can consistent with their authority in meeting their respective local situations," said Mr. Greenwood. "It is inconceivable that the federal government, in its various departments, lacks any information they can furnish.

Says It's Up to Farm Board.

"Clearly the question of immediate aid to the farmer is one for the federal government through the federal farm board to solve. No state government has any control of the tariff or any other problem of an interstate character."

Representative Greenwood said "mere resolutions" will not help the farmers, while they can be materially aided through the farm board intervention and reduction of "the exorbitant costs of living under despotic tariff levies."

"If President Hoover really is solicitious to render the farmer substantial relief he would yield no further time in reorganizing the tariff commission, as provided in the new tariff act," he said. "Althouh he has had more than a year in which to give examining thought to the personnel of this commission, for some reason best known to himself he continues to defer action. He could afford the farmer a measure of real relief by organizing the tariff commission and through it reduce the exorbitant duties which now exact onerous toll from the millions engaged in the profitless pursuit of agriculture."

CITY'S WEATHER IDEAL

Chicago enjoyed ideal summer weather yesterday and more of the same is in prospect for today. The forecast: Fair and continued cool Monday with gentle winds, mostly northeast.

The August sun, which had scorched the city unmercifully last week, shone as bright as ever yesterday, but a brisk lake breeze made the air as crisp as in late September. The temperature range was between 67 and 71, and sweaters were not inappropriate on the golf links.

While the cool wave overspread the greater part of the north central region, sultry weather continued in the tobacco and cotton belts. The general forecast advanced no hope of early rains to relieve the drought, now becoming serious in the south, nor in the corn belt, already ravaged by aridity and recurrent heat waves.

PANAMA DIVORCE MILL TO RIVAL RENO AND PARIS

Republic Passes Law to Cut Nuptial Ties Quickly.

BY GERALD MARTIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Aug. 10.—Reno and Paris fade into insignificance as happy hunting grounds for those seeking separation of the tie that is supposed to bind when compared with the Republic of Panama, where divorce is probably as easy to obtain as anywhere in the world.

The Supreme court of the republic has recently paved the way for bigger and better divorces with its ruling that the mere fact of "residence" is sufficient evidence of intention to remain here.

Some Residence Required.

A prominent American attorney told THE TRIBUNE correspondent that those obtaining divorces by the constructive decree method stay here for a while in order that the divorce may be legalized in the sight of the United States courts, which recognize the "status" of the separation, but which might not recognize the cancellation of the marital "contract" involving property rights if a sudden departure from Panama after the decree was obtained was made.

"Residence required on the Canal Zone, which is of course under United States jurisdiction," he said, "is the same as in Illinois and California and is one year. New Jersey requires two years and Massachusetts three, if both parties are present, and five years is required if only one party resides in the state, but in Panama residence with intention of staying is all that is required, and this may cover a few weeks or perhaps four or five months."

As in so many Latin countries, in Panama the man is placed on a higher footing than the woman and the latter is supposed to follow him. Therefore when one of the parties to the divorce is absent from the country it is easier for the man to rush the desired separation through. For the woman in like circumstances it is more difficult to establish "intention" to reside here than the man.

Ten Grounds for Divorce.

According to Panama's civil code grounds for divorce are the following:

Adultery of the woman, scandalous conduct on the part of the husband, an attempt of one to take the life of the other; cruel treatment, such as placing the life of one or both of them in peril, the proposal of the husband to prostitute the wife, an agreement of either wife or husband to corrupt their sons or prostitute their daughters, actual separation for more than four years, habitual drunkenness, absolute abandonment on the part of the man of his marital or parental duties, and on the part of the woman of her duties as wife or mother; permanent insanity, judicially declared, and, lastly, mutual consent of the spouses.

KING GEORGE SENDS HOOVER GREETING ON HIS 56TH BIRTHDAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Scores of congratulatory telegrams arrived at the White House today as President Hoover was celebrating his 56th birthday at his camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia. Among them was one from King George of England.

The king's message, cabled from London, said: "It is with great pleasure that I offer you on the occasion of your birthday my warmest felicitations together with my sincerest good wishes for your continued health and happiness."

The President will receive the messages when he returns to Washington tomorrow morning.

German Flyer Arrives in Canada; Plans Chicago Hop

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 10.—Wolfram Hirth, young German aviator, who, with Oscar Weller, started to fly from Germany to Chicago, July 22, but was forced to abandon the flight in Iceland, arrived here this evening on board the steamship Minnedosa with his airplane. He stated he probably will fly to Chicago.

THE MISSISSIPPI IS LOWEST IN 25 YEARS AT QUINCY

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The Mississippi river registered the lowest here this morning it has been for more than a quarter of a century. One and seven-tenths feet were recorded, but in reality the river was one and three-tenths above low water mark. Some years ago government engineers raised the low water mark four-tenths of a foot, and this has never been changed, all readings being given by the new standards.

The Illinois river was the lowest it has been for many years during the last week. An excursion steamer, Idlewild, was stranded on a sandbar near Peoria. The five hundred passengers were removed by motorboats and small barges. A government boat coupled with the Mississippi steamer Cape Girardeau worked for two days getting the pleasure craft afloat.

The government forecast for the Mississippi is that it will continue to fall.

St. Paul, minus 1 foot; Dubuque, 2.7; Davenport, 2.2; Keokuk, 1; Quincy 1.7; Hannibal, 2; Louisiana, 1.8; St. Louis, 2.2; Cairo, 8.5.

River men declare that if more Lake Michigan water were diverted through the drainage canal it would aid navigation in the Illinois river and from Grafton on down in the Mississippi.

McCULLOCH HOME IN EVANSTON IS RANSACKED

The home of Attorney Frank H. McCulloch and his wife, Attorney Catharine Waugh McCulloch, at 2236 Orrington avenue, Evanston, was visited last night by a burglar who took jewelry, clothing and trinkets valued at $1,000. Another burglary in Evanston was discovered when the fire department was called to the home of Walter A. Uphof, 635 Judson avenue, who, with his family, was away.

The McCullochs were absent from their home between 6 and 9:30 o'clock last night and on their return they found the bedrooms had been ransacked.

At the Uphof home police learned that the loot was worth $1,000. The fire was seen by A. T. White, 623 Judson avenue, who called the fire department, and the flames were confined to the second floor. The fire loss was put at $5,000.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MISS KIRKLAND, MADAME X OF TRIBUNE, DIES

Was Writer on Society for 21 Years.

Miss Caroline Kirkland, known to TRIBUNE readers as Madame X, died yesterday in the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest after an illness of two weeks. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. She was 65 years old.

For the last 21 years Miss Kirkland had conducted a column of society news under her pen name. Miss Kirkland wrote of the people she knew and of the world in which she lived. Her column was widely read, and exerted influence. In addition to this writing she was the author of two books. She traveled widely.

Several years ago when the Lincoln park board was considering tearing down the water tower at Chicago avenue, Miss Kirkland voiced protest in her column against the destruction of the old landmark. She created public sentiment which resulted in its preservation.

Born in Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Kirkland was born in Syracuse, N. Y., March 20, 1865, the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Joseph Kirkland. As a baby she was brought to Chicago by her parents, who made their home at what is now 719 Rush street. She was reared with members of Chicago's most prominent families.

She began her writing by editing a weekly society newspaper, "The Figaro." In 1908 she published her first book, "Some African Highways." It received praise from President Roosevelt, then contemplating his trip in that country. The book was the result of a visit to Africa in 1906-7.

In 1909 she was invited by the late Medill McCormick to join THE TRIBUNE staff to edit a column. Of her acceptance she recently wrote: "He named a sum which I thought was for a month. When I found it was for a week I knew I could never earn it, so accepted it for only one issue. It made quite a talk when my stuff, reeking with indiscretion, first appeared. One friend, now deceased, said: 'You'll never be invited to dinner, my dear, if you go on writing for THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.' 'Then I'll have to eat at home,' I replied."

Member of Many Clubs.

Miss Kirkland was a charter member and past president of the Friday club and a member of the women's board of the Ravinia Opera company. She was also a member of the Casino, the Red, White, and Blue, Scribblers, Casa Maria, and Arts clubs. Her town residence was at 25 East Walton place and her summer home in Westminster road, Lake Forest.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the chapel of Graceland cemetery.

The following list of honorary pallbearers was named:

Admiral Blackwood	J. M. Patterson
Tiffany Blake	Henry J. Patten
Samuel Insull	Samuel T. Chase
Ronald Ryerson	Kellogg Fairbank
Louis Eckstein	Cyrus McCormick
Herman Waldeck	Edward Bennett
Ralph Poole	Charles E. Brown
Arthur Aldis	Robert Allerton
John V. Farwell	James Keeley
John T. McCutcheon	Arthur Meeker
Charles Atkinson	Alfred Granger
Edward S. Beck	Arthur Heun
Augustus Peabody	A. B. Dick
Col. R. R. McCormick

Miss Kirkland is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Victor Channing Sanborn of Lake Forest and Mrs. G. F. M. Annis of Cape Town, South Africa, and a brother, John W. Kirkland of Johannesburg, South Africa, who now is in Chicago.

PACIFIC FLYERS FORCED DOWN ON FLIGHT TO TOKIO

Gas Trouble Develops Over Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bob Wark and Edward L. Brown, Seattle aviators, were forced down here today on the first leg of their flight from Tacoma to Tokio.

Two main gas lines became "airbound" and the flyers were forced to bring their big red Fokker biplane to a quick landing.

They left Tacoma at 11:30 a. m., P. S. T., today en route to Whitehorse, Yukon territory, on a proposed four stop flight to Japan, hoping to reach Whitehorse within twelve hours.

With the exception of the gas lines, the motor and ship functioned perfectly, the flyers said. They said they would take off tomorrow morning for Whitehorse.

Start from Tacoma, Wash.

The Pacific Era, their Fokker biplane, soared off the runway at Tacoma, Wash., at 11:33 a. m. [Pacific coast time] today.

Just before the takeoff the flyers were advised ideal weather prevailed along the entire route of the first leg, scheduled to end at Whitehorse, Yukon, 1,200 miles north of Tacoma.

From Whitehorse the pilots of the big red plane expected to reach Tokio via Fairbanks and Nome, Alaska, and Petropavlovsk, Siberia. From Whitehorse to Fairbanks is about 800 miles; Nome in 500 miles farther on, and the distance from Nome to Petropavlovsk is about 1,400 miles.

Built for Argentine.

The plane was one of four built for Maj. Pedro Zanni, Argentine aviator, for an around-the-world flight, but never used. It was left stranded in Halifax for a time, where it was bought by Maj. C. O. Osborne, English flyer, who planned to enter it in the Dole San Francisco to Honolulu flights.

As a ship in which the major was traveling from England entered Canadian waters he fell overboard and drowned.

Maj. D. R. McLaren, Canadian war flyer, then bought the plane for the Dole flight, but on a test flight had so much difficulty getting the ship back on the ground he abandoned it and left it in a Seattle hangar.

Lieut. James Brewster, U. S. N., then bought it and experienced the same difficulty in landing. The plane was purchased a year ago for Miss Ruth Rhoades, who was to attempt a woman's endurance record, flying from the Seattle airport.

The day before Miss Rhoades was to take to the air she was killed in a hunting accident.

U. S. PILOT SMASHES ENDURANCE RECORD IN A FLYING BOAT

Port Washington, L. I., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—One more world's record returned to the United States this afternoon as William B. Atwater, test pilot for the American Aeronautical corporation, set his little flying boat down on Manhassett bay.

Atwater, in spite of a right leg in a plaster cast, had been aloft 22 hours 18 minutes and 32 seconds. He exceeded the light seaplane record held in Germany by eight hours and the amphibian record held in this country by nearly fifteen hours. Atwater flew alone.

Chase Hunter Record.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Fifteen thousand aviation fans visited Lambert-St. Louis field today to watch Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, now nearing a new record for endurance refueling flying. If still aloft at 7:11 a. m. [C. S. T.] tomorrow, Jackson and O'Brine will enter their fourth week in the air in their effort to better the 554 hour record of the Hunter brothers of Chicago.

At 7:11 [C. S. T.] today Jackson and O'Brine had been in the air 492 hours and were within 62 hours of the Hunters' record.

Fourth Dry Arrest Made at Pendennis Club, Louisville

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A fourth employé of the Pendennis club, leading Louisville social organization for men, was arrested today as a result of a raid on the club by prohibition agents yesterday. The federal agents today were occupied with assorting and checking the fine liquors seized in the raid. Labels indicating whether they were taken from members' lockers or the club's storeroom were attached to the bottles.

MEDIC LEADERS OF EUROPE VISIT HOSPITALS HERE

Prominent surgeons and physicians of Germany, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia, touring the United States, yesterday hailed Chicago as the coming medical center of this country. The party will tour medical schools, hospitals and other points of interest during a four day visit here.

The group, which includes eleven physicians and surgeons, four of them accompanied by their wives, also numbers eight laymen. They arrived here yesterday morning under the guide of Mr. R. Feick of the Hamburg-American line. They are quartered at the Bismarck hotel.

"Chicago is one of the leading medical centers both in the United States and in the world," Dr. Samuel Goldstern of Vienna said. "With four medical schools giving remarkable opportunities for research and also study along associated lines, and with modern well equipped hospitals, Chicago indeed is fortunate.

"Further development undoubtedly will make Chicago the medical center of this country."

PASSENGER SHIP WRECKED IN FOG; BOATS SAVE 110

Make Shore in 6 Hours in Heavy Sea.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 10.—The government railway steamer Caribou, which served as the connecting link between Newfoundland and the Canadian Railways service, went aground in a dense fog at 5 o'clock this morning three miles west of the entrance to Port-aux-Basques.

The boats were lowered without excitement or mishap, however, and the entire ship's company of 65 passengers and a crew of 45 rowed to Port aux-Basques, where they entrained for St. John's. They reached land in six hours despite fog and heavy seas.

Ship Filling Rapidly.

The ship is now rapidly filling with water and is likely to be a total wreck, according to word received here. The Caribou had left North Sydney, on Cape Breton island, Nova Scotia, last night and had been proceeding at low speed through the fog for seven hours before she struck.

U. S. Ship in Collision.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The United States lines ship American Farmer, bound from London to New York, was in collision last night at the mouth of the English channel with the German steamer Lichtenstein.

The American ship was only slightly damaged, but put back to Southampton for examination. She lay in the Solent tonight after having transferred her passengers this afternoon to the United States liner Leviathan.

German Boat Unharmed.

The ship will go into drydock tomorrow. The Lichtenstein reported she was not in need of assistance, and escaped practically unharmed.

The collision occurred shortly after 10 p. m. The ships were about 20 miles southwest of the Lizard, a headland in Cornwall at the mouth of the channel.

ZUTA WITNESSES WILL BE QUIZZED IN SECRET TODAY

Hope to Identify Pictures of Gang Slayers.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

District Attorney Herman Salen of Waukesha county, Wisconsin, announced yesterday that fifteen or twenty witnesses to the murder of Jack Zuta, Chicago gangster and vice monger, were under subpœna to appear for a secret hearing in the Municipal court at Oconomowoc today.

Several witnesses believed to have been in hiding were found by deputy sheriffs and will be present, Mr. Salen said. These include several persons sought by George Williams, investigator of the Cook county prosecutor's office, who is interested in reports that Zuta was killed because of a part he played in the murder of Alfred Lingle.

Girl Dancer Is Summoned.

Inez Fehrman, who was dancing at the Lake View hotel near Delafield, Wis., on the night of Aug. 1, when the assassins turned a machine gun, shotguns, and pistols on Zuta, will be present at the hearing, Mr. Salen said. John and Walter Newman, students at St. John's Military academy, whose fathers sent them away after they had witnessed the murder, are also expected to attend the inquiry.

Three girls who were dancing to the music started by Zuta's dropping nickels in the electric piano were included in those subpœnaed. They are Elinor Lehman, Jane Niesen, and Luella Lawson, all of Milwaukee. Mrs. Louise Parker was said by Mr. Salen to be a material witness because she lives next to the cottage believed to have been used by the gunmen and because she saw them on several occasions. She has arranged to attend the Oconomowoc hearing, the prosecutor said.

Other Women Subpœnaed.

So has Mrs. W. F. Coakley, cottage owner, to whom the suspected killers paid rent, and her maid, Sophie Oninski, who went swimming with one of the suspects. Other witnesses whose names were withheld by District Attorney Salen are a girl who was pushed out of the way of the muzzle of the machine gun and two boys who jumped out of a window after seeing the murder, and a storekeeper who sold supplies to the occupants of the Coakley cottage.

Not more than three or four of the witnesses have been shown pictures of Chicago gangsters who may have committed the murder, it was explained, and therefore importance is attached to the hearing today, when all will be together. District Attorney Salen also wants to question Mrs. Laura Nelson Bioff, 6719 North Artesian avenue, Chicago, to whose home Zuta telephoned several times from Wisconsin.

BRITISH PLAN SHAM WAR AT NIGHT USING "ROBOT" AIR BOMBERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A complete squadron of bombing planes equipped with "robot," or mechanical pilots, will for the first time be a feature of the British air force maneuvers to be held this week. "Somewhere in England" they will conduct night bombing raids in conditions closely approximating actual warfare. Test flights have already been made of the "robot" pilots over a 400 mile course in all kinds of weather conditions. It is claimed that the planes, flying without the aid of human hands, have performed as efficiently as those guided by the most skilful pilots.

Planes to Defend Alps.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Airplane defense and offense will be an important feature of the French maneuvers to be held along the Italian border late this month. Though the highly significant location of these maneuvers, in view of the strained relations between France and Italy, had been intimated some time ago, the official announcement was not made until today.

Cavalry, artillery, anti-aircraft units and practically the whole corps of the famed Chasseurs Alpins or "Blue Devils" will take part. Over 50,000 men will take part in the maneuvers.

NORTH GERMANS ARE ADDRESSED BY J. H. LEWIS

The devotion and self sacrifice of its foreign born citizens assures the future of the United States against all assaults of communism or anarchy, James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, told members of the Plattduetsche Grot Guild at their picnic yesterday in Riverview park.

"Tribute is due American citizens of German ancestry, for it was the constitutions of the free Germanic states which provided the model for our own constitution after the revolution," declared Mr. Lewis. "Your ancestors brought the spirit of liberty to America and fused it with the American ideal of liberty."

OPEN INQUIRY IN CRASH OF PLANE INTO GAS TANK

Girl Victims to Have Double Funeral.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen and Maj. Reed Landis, special deputy coroner, began an investigation yesterday into the airplane crash which took the lives of two girl passengers and their pilot Saturday, when the plane plunged into a gas tank on Elston avenue near Division street.

The coroner said that he would appoint a special coroner's jury composed of aviation experts and engineers for the inquest, which is tentatively scheduled for this afternoon at the county morgue. It is planned to call witnesss of the crash before the jury. Assisting also in the investigation are Capt. Norman Barlow of New Zealand and Pilot George Pomeroy.

Double Funeral for Victims.

The passengers who met death were Miss Mary Laws, 25 years old, and Miss Eugenia Laws, 22 years old, her sister, of 2250 Warren avenue. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Laws, have arranged a double funeral for tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the chapel at 214 South Western avenue, with burial at Elm Lawn cemetery. The dead pilot was Orville Suchy. His father, John Suchy, is owner of the West Auburn garage at 7939 South Racine avenue. The pilot lived at 1144 West 80th street.

Drawn by curiosity to the scene of the tragedy, crowds continued to mill about the entrances to the enclosure in which the Ryan monoplane fell, piercing the steel top of the gas holder and resting, finally, a heap of tangled wreckage in seven feet of muck under forty feet of water. The bodies were recovered late Saturday night.

Views of Witnesses Differ.

Persons who saw the plane fall were not agreed on whether it was afire or not. Asked why the gas in the tank did not explode, William G. Rudd, vice president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, said: "I am sure the plane was not afire, and if the ignition was turned on its descent into the water filled reservoir was so fast that there was no time for the gas to mix with the outside air. Pure gas will not burn."

Mr. Rudd said that the damage to the tank was about $50,000. There were about 790,000 cubic feet of gas in the holder valued at $790.

The two girl victims, both loop stenographers, had gone to the Municipal airport Saturday afternoon to take an airplane ride. One of the sisters had been up before. They chatted with pilots for a few minutes, tried to persuade several bystanders to come with them, and then boarded the plane. They were flying northwest at the time of the crash.

Melrose Park Police Hold Up Traffic to Sell Tickets

BY HAL FOUST.

The village of Melrose Park yesterday had a dozen policemen and firemen mingling with the motorists stalled in the congestion at the busy intersection of Mannheim road and Lake street.

The uniformed men, wearing badges of authority, were not there to relieve the motoring public from the delays and annoyances at a grade crossing of important pavements on a fine Sunday. They were there to relieve the motorists of silver for tickets at 50 cents a piece for the sixth annual benefit program of the Police and Fire associations of Melrose Park.

Many Cars Are Delayed.

Long lines of cars were held up while a village policeman made change for a purchaser. Few of the buyers were residents of the village who have a direct interest in the welfare of the municipality's employés and who would find it convenient to attend the benefit program on Oct. 16 and 17. Most of the buyers were Chicagoans, evidently with little idea of why they were handing over money for a white ticket except that they were asked to do so by a solicitor in uniform and with a badge.

There were no figures available last night on the volume of this business. In the middle of the afternoon, a ticket purchased from The Tribune's road car bore the number 6023. If this is any indication of the number of tickets sold, there would be a big crowd at the police and fire show, were any considerable portion of the purchasers to attend.

Month More to Sell.

However, the uniformed men have more than a month more in which to sell tickets and the capacity of the performance hall will probably have little to do with whether the motoring public shall continue to be stopped at Mannheim road and Lake street.

Yesterday's refreshing weather, which brought good business to the Melrose Park employés, filled all the radial highways of the metropolitan area. These are roads that the state is widening but is making little progress in separating the grades at busy intersections. On the secondary roads running north and south in DuPage county, approximate routes of state bond issue pavements as yet unbuilt, there was little traffic.

VILLAGE TO BURY ITS BENEFACTOR, ONLY EMPLOYER

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Sorrow hung today over the little town of Woolrich, near here, as it prepared for the funeral of its benefactor, 75 year old Michael Bond Rich, tomorrow.

For a hundred years the family of Rich has provided the community with its only industry, woolen manufacture. For a hundred years only employés of the Rich family have lived in Woolrich. And for a century, too, there have been no labor troubles between employers and employés.

The last gift of Rich to the people of Woolrich was made at the town's centennial celebration last week—a history of Woolrich and of the Rich family compiled by himself. His death occurred Friday.

PILOT SAVED BY LEAP AS PLANE CATCHES ON FIRE

Edward B. Twells, 24 years old, 6347 Kenwood avenue, yesterday became a member of the Caterpillar club by virtue of a forced parachute leap from a burning plane over Curtiss airport, near Glen View. Twells, a student pilot with 27 hours in the air to his credit, had taken a Fledgling trainer biplane into the air alone for a practice flight. He was about 1,500 feet in the air when his motor burst into flames. He jumped overboard and landed safely on the field. The plane descended in a field a mile east.

ELDERLY COUPLE HIT ON MICHIGAN AVE.; WIFE KILLED

Woman and Boy Die in Lemont Crash.

Two elderly women and a small boy were killed in two auto accidents yesterday as six deaths increased Cook county's motor toll for the year to 595.

Mrs. Lillian Bellingham, 62 years old, 4815 Nelson street, was fatally injured while crossing Michigan avenue at Jackson boulevard in the afternoon with her husband, Adam Bellingham, 70 years old, who was seriously injured.

The Bellinghams, according to witnesses, were crossing Michigan avenue against the red lights when run down by a Drake Motor Livery company bus driven by Daniel Gilbert, 1126 North Clark street. The driver was arrested.

On Way to Circus.

The couple were on their way to attend the circus at Grant park. Bellingham, a foreman in the radio plant of the Grigsby-Grunow company, is in St. Luke's hospital, where Mrs. Bellingham died of her injuries. Hospital authorities withheld news of her death from Bellingham, who suffered a brain concussion and other injuries.

Mrs. Marie Lauer, 63 years old, 8130 South Wood street, and Roger Donahue, 5 years old, were killed and three others persons seriously hurt last night when an automobile driven by Frank Richter collided with another machine at Stevens and Main streets, Lemont. The boy killed was a grandson of the driver. Richter's wife, Helen, 60 years old, and his son, Robert, 20 years old, incurred possible skull fractures and internal injuries. All five resided at the Wood street address. The driver of the other car, Henry Polacek, 5115 South Albany avenue, escaped unhurt.

In a collision between two cars at 23d street and South Park way, Bernard Fink, 27 years old, 734 Bittersweet place, a rumble seat rider, suffered a skull fracture, resulting in his death a few minutes later in the Wilson hospital.

Autos Hit, One Upsets.

Miss Marie Myers, 734 Bittersweet place, riding with Fink, escaped with scalp lacerations and bruises as the car, driven by Harry Hausman, 5471 North Mansfield avenue, overturned. Housman was taken in custody as was the other driver, Miss Irene Burk, 32 years old, 2115 Prairie avenue. Both cars were traveling north, and Miss Burk's struck Hausman's in the rear as he cut in front of her.

Edward Tyndel, 29 years old, 3154 North Lawndale avenue, died early yesterday in the Belmont hospital of injuries suffered on July 29 when a car in which he was riding with W. R. Wheatby, 1320 Waveland avenue, collided with a street car at Kedzie avenue and George street. Wheatby escaped injury.

Henry Lundberg, 62 years old, 4924 Melrose street, was struck and fatally injured by a motorist who did not stop last night at Armitage and North Kilbourn avenues. He died en route to the Keystone hospital.

Police Captain Hurt.

Police Captain Dennis Malloy, commander of the East side station, was painfully hurt when an allegedly intoxicated driver swiped the captain's parked car in front of the station, 10120 Ewing avenue. Malloy was cut and bruised and his left side wrenched. The driver, Peter Sachowich, 28 years old, 3437 Essex avenue, and two companions were locked up.

Colliding with a switch engine at the Baltimore and Ohio tracks and 92d street, Carl Gustafson, 31 years old, a steamfitter of 10541 Avenue G, was carried 100 feet amid the wreckage of his car on the pilot of the engine.

Gates Fail to Work, Claim.

South Chicago police locked up the gatekeeper, Steve Kasazak, 8515 Buffalo avenue. Witnesses said the gates failed to lower at the switch engine's approach and Kasazak, according to police, admitted the mechanism became stuck when he started to lower the gates. The motorist's view of the engine was blocked by a string of box cars.

BRITISH AIRSHIP HOPS TO OTTAWA ON FLIGHT WEST

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The British dirigible, R-100, cruising over Ottawa for 45 minutes, turned its nose westward at 9:45 [Chicago daylight saving time] tonight and headed for Toronto, where it is expected early tomorrow morning. The commander planned to slacken speed to ride out the night.

200,000 Watch Departure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Aug. 10.—The giant British dirigible R-100 left her mooring mast at 6:18 p. m. today on a 1,000 mile 24 hour flight to Ottawa, Toronto, and possibly Niagara Falls.

The airship faced a strong northwest wind as she circled the airport amid the cheers of 200,000. The airship hovered over Montreal for several minutes before turning her nose west to the capital.

Flight Has Dual Purpose.

A distinguished company of military, naval and air force officers was aboard, as well as personal guests of the ship's commander, Squadron Leader R. S. Booth. The airship is expected to return here tomorrow evening.

The flight has a double purpose. It will give many Canadians an opportunity of seeing the ship, as well as serving as a test flight preliminary to the return journey next Friday.

CUSTOMS GUARD, MEXICAN SLAIN IN BORDER FIGHT

Laferia, Tex., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Burt Ellis, 35 years old United States customs officer and Margarito Rodriguez, a Mexican, were killed and another Mexican probably fatally wounded, the result of a fresh outbreak of border gun fighting here.

Ellis, assigned to duty at Weslaco, Tex., was slain from ambush last night near a Mexican dance hall at Hargill, Hidalgo county.

Customs officers and local constabulary seeking the slayers today engaged in a gun fight with a group of Mexicans in a cotton patch three miles from Laferia.

Rodriguez was slain in the fight and his brother, Victor Rodriguez, was probably fatally wounded. The United States officers asserted the Mexicans fired the first shot.

TWO COUPLES DIE AS TRAIN CRUSHES AUTO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hartland, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Four persons, two men and two women, were killed at 10:30 o'clock tonight when the fast Fishermen's Special of the Milwaukee railroad crashed into their automobile at the Maple avenue crossing.

From cards carried by the men the identity of the four were established as:

Paul S. Gladney, 138 26th street, assistant manager J. Mandelker & Son, 306 Grove street, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Hilma Gladney, a bride of a few weeks.

William Hanson, 5924 Vliet street, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Margaret Hanson, 5924 Vliet street, Milwaukee.

The crossing where the accident occurred is a dark one over a little used street, going to private lake resorts. It is not guarded by a signal nor flagman.

Gunman in Auto Runs Amuck on Southwest Side

The police last night were hunting Joseph Gincek, alias Joseph Ginger, 23 years old, 2158 West 18th street, an ex-convict who, they said, drove around the near southwest side yesterday firing a pistol at pedestrians. He fired into a group at 20th and Lincoln streets from an automobile and again at 21st and Leavitt streets.

Policemen Walter Kolny, Joseph Felix, Edward Callopy and John Enright, at different places, opened fire on the car which sped away from each shooting scene. Later the automobile was found abandoned with 15 bullet holes in it.

UNIFORM STATE LAW BOARD TO CONVENE TODAY

Drafts Acts to Remove Conflicts in Statutes.

The fortieth annual conference of commissioners on uniform state laws will open today at the Stevens hotel as a prelude to the meeting of the American Bar association next week. The conference on uniform laws will continue six days. Progress will be reported to the bar association, with the recommendation that proposed changes be adopted throughout the United States.

The conference is an outgrowth of a special committee, appointed by the bar association in 1889. All except five states are represented. In thirty-three of the jurisdictions three commissioners are appointed by the governor and in others by general executive authority.

53 Measures Drafted.

The commissioners are working to promote uniformity in state laws on all subjects where uniformity is deemed desirable and practical. Among uniform acts to be considered are legislation concerning public utilities, real estate, divorce, veterans' guardianship, coöperative marketing, drugs, firearms, air licensing, mechanics' liens, absentee voters, and civil depositions.

Secretary John H. Voorhees said that the commissioners have thus far drafted 53 acts. Of these 43 are to be recommended for adoption, the remainder having been declared obsolete or superseded since their formulation.

Iowan Heads Commissioners.

Jesse A. Miller of Des Moines, president of the commissioners, will preside at the meetings. The executive committee will meet this morning to discuss its problems. The conference will open with the submission of reports compiled during the year by committees.

Tomorrow the commissioners will discuss a uniform principal and income act, child labor and motor vehicle laws, and the drafting of an act to compel nonresident witnesses to appear in criminal cases. During the remainder of the week the other acts under consideration are to be discussed.

The purpose of the organization is to remove conflicting laws throughout the various states and substitute as far as is possible a general level of laws.

GERMANS FIGHT TO GRAB BRITISH TRADE IN INDIA

200 Industrialists Invade Land.

and to explore other foreign markets than British.

Many U. S. Firms Deal Directly.

On the other hand, aside from her neutrality and general desire not to interfere in any way with India's struggle, many American firms do business directly through British firms located in India, and in order to escape tariff preferences and other handicaps. American capital has established its own branches in Great Britain or Canada, notably the Eastman Kodak company, and the great film companies.

Goods shipped from Britain not only get an advantage in price with no increase in overhead, but also get speedier transportation over India's railways, whether coming directly from Britain or consigned to British firms. Such items do not figure directly in the statistics of America's trade with India, but come under the classification of British goods, and hence much of America's trade with India is invisible.

But Germany is going directly into the Indian market. The Export Dienst [India] has opened offices in Bombay and in three months has experienced a good trade in both directions.

"Made in Germany" Umbrella.

India's advance in small manufactures, such as crockery, small hardware, hosiery, cutlery, and toilet articles, is noticeable. While I was caught in one of the torrential downpours incident to the monsoon I bought a cheap umbrella from a peddler. The umbrella was stamped Swadeshi [home made]. But when I reached my hotel and opened the umbrella to dry I found stamped in small letters both on the shaft and cover, "Made in Germany."

Investigation of German trade penetration has revealed that the Export Dienst is establishing a network of selling agencies all over India under the title of the Indo-German Products company, Bombay. Already nine suboffices have been established at important cities and ten warehouses filled with German made goods.

The development of commerce for German bound ships is also going forward. It is the purpose of this coöperation with Indian capitalists and industrialists to take over the raw material and manufactured products of India and to help India keep her labor, already idle by thousands as a result of the British boycott, from becoming a menace to society.

Sixty-Five Schemes in Progress.

It is declared here that the German-Indian promoters of this project already have 65 schemes of industrial enterprise under way in India. One of these, already launched, is known as the India Stationery company, which will try to supply all India's needs.

It is also proposed to develop the manufacture of cigarets by importing tobacco directly from America, glassware, soaps, sandals, boots and shoes, chemicals, certain lines of hardware, cutlery, paints, even in competition with Germany itself. Germany in this case will make her profit by bringing machinery and tools to India.

Bandit Wearing Bathing Suit Robs Truck Driver

BRITISH TROOPS BEAT OFF TRIBE NEAR PESHAWAR

PESHAWAR, India, Aug. 10.—(AP)—British troops, after a sharp skirmish today, beat off a raiding group of Afridi tribesmen in the gardens close to this key city of northwestern India. The Afridis, part of a force of between 5,000 and 10,000 warriors, attacked the military supply depot near the Peshawar railway station.

Troops sent out to protect the depot drove them into a group of gardens, where there was a hot engagement. The Afridis were dislodged from their posts and driven back. The invaders were reported checked at all points, and, though great tension still exists, the immediate danger to the city is apparently past.

Th Afridis have not yet attempted to make a general attack in force on the city, which is strongly garrisoned.

Six Indian Troopers Slain.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Peshawar dispatches to the Daily Herald today said that in recent skirmishing on the outskirts of the city six Indian troopers were killed. The slain Indian troopers belonged to the 17th Poona horse, and were patrolling the thickly wooded orchards of Hazarkhani. Hidden Afridi sharpshooters ambushed them. In a first sudden volley, several troopers fell from their saddles. The others returned the fire.

ARMY AND NAVY CUT CONSIDERED TO INCREASE PAY

Congressional Committee Will Make Survey.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover's campaign for economy in government expenditures coupled with the desires of the services for a higher pay scale may result in a move to reduce personnel in the navy and army establishment, it was learned today.

One of the arguments advanced is that by reducing the size of the standing army and cutting navy enlisted and officer strength, higher pay could be given those remaining in the services without increasing the total national defense costs.

Whether President Hoover has asked the navy and war departments secretaries to make a study of the possibility of cutting down their personnel has not been made known. It has been learned, however, that such a step has been considered by high ranking officials and officers. The enlisted strength of the army is now limited to 118,750 and the navy to 84,500. The army has slightly more than 12,000 officers and the navy around 5,500.

Pay Will Be Studied.

An exhaustive study of the whole army and navy pay situation is to be made this summer by a joint congressional committee provided by the last congress. This committee will study pay conditions in the army, navy, coast guard and other services where pay revisions have been delayed and, if possible, report out a legislative plan for action by congress this fall. An inter-departmental pay promotion board has been formed with President Hoover's approval and will also make a report.

Annual national defense expenditures for the army and navy total slightly above 700 million dollars, counting all appropriations carried in the regular supply and deficiency bills. In a statement given out at the White House last spring it was estimated that passage of the type of pay increase bill sponsored by the army and navy would increase government expenditures by $80,000,000 annually. Army and navy officers believe that a satisfactory bill can be worked out which will cost considerably less.

Choice May Be Offered.

The disclosure that the President may offer the services the alternatives of keeping present pay scales and personnel or receiving increased pay for a smaller personnel became known as both the army and navy establishments, together with other government departments, are completing exhaustive surveys designed to find ways and means of cutting government expenditures during the present fiscal year.

It was learned in this connection that the total navy savings due to the scrapping of worthless ships, the decommissioning of old destroyers, the retirement of the three battleships scrapped by the London naval treaty, retarding of repair work at government yards, and the closing of certain activities at naval yards may approach $10,000,000. Among measures which are being taken are the reduction of fuel for the use of naval vessels, which will curtail fleet training to some extent and most probably minimize the sending of naval vessels to certain ports on special occasions.

Another contemplated naval move would cut down the amounts appropriated by congress for improvements at certain navy posts.

Housing Cut Possible.

The full extent of army economies has not been divulged. It is known, however, that the army program contemplates slowing down the housing program.

Partly as an economy move the President has urged the army and navy to settle their long standing controversy over a division of aerial coastal defense. For years the army has sought to push naval aviation into the sea and confine naval air activities to work with the fleet and shore training. The navy has fought for a share in the task of coastal patrol and has argued that coastal shipping, in certain cases, could be better protected from naval planes based on the shore than by planes based on carriers.

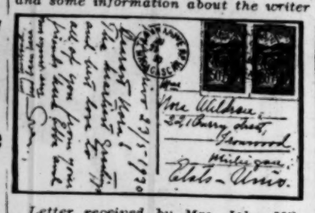
INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Mrs. John Mildren, 221 South Curry street, Ironwood, Mich.

"I am inclosing a postcard sent to me on May 23 from Tananarivo, the capital city of Madagascar," Mrs. Mildren writes. "I received it one month later. It came from friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Schwartz, the former a Swedish mining engineer whose occupation brought him to the gold mines there.

"This city is situated 2,000 meters above sea level; hence the climate is mild and all kinds of tropical fruit grow there. The soil adjacent to the city has an abundance of precious stones, notably emeralds and beryls. The women weave beautiful laces and carpets, and also make pottery.

"In Maovatanana the heat is indescribable, and the natives, called Malgaches, suffer terribly, as there is very little rain, so that fever and malaria and typhoid prevail there.

"There are thousands of crocodiles in the river Betsibako, and all kinds and sizes of monkeys, lizards, and reptiles are found in the dense forests. The natives live chiefly on rice and fish. During the regency of Queen Ranavalona, about 1850, there were thousands of Christian martyrs. Today Madagascar boasts of 2,000 churches, thanks to the untiring efforts of the missionaries, who have made excellent progress in building churches, schools, and hospitals for the natives. The first missionaries were sent there from England."

Tananarivo is located in the central part of the island of Madagascar, but is only 90 miles from the eastern coast. It is connected by rail with Tamatave, the principal seaport of the island, which is 135 miles distant. The city has a commanding position on a narrow and rocky ridge. With the conquest of the island by the French in 1895 many improvements, including paved and graded streets, were added.

CAROL DECIDES HE'LL TAKE CROWN WITHOUT HELENE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Aug. 10.—Reconciliation negotiations between King Carol and Helene took a startling turn yesterday, when the prodigal king decided that the coronation take place in September without Helene. Premier Maniu thereupon refused to organize the coronation festivities and threatened to resign.

King Carol finally suggested the compromise to crown Helene queen without annulment of the divorce, but the premier maintained that the crowning would be impossible without official reconciliation.

The situation will be socially uncomfortable if Carol persists, since most of the foreign royal guests will probably refuse to participate in the coronation of a divorced king. Carol hopes to receive support of the king of Jugo-Slavia, and will visit him at Belgrade early in September.

Boy "Pants Burglar" Will Have Court Hearing Today

Lawrence Free, 16 year old "pants" burglar, will be arraigned before Municipal Judge George B. Holmes in the Boys' court today on seven charges of robbery. Chief of Detectives John B. Norton asked that Judge Holmes hear the case rather than bring the youth before the Juvenile court. Free forced his victims to remove their trousers in order to forestall pursuit. He was arrested in a Y. M. C. A. class with a revolver in his brief case.

YOUTH DROWNED IN QUARRY.

ELECTRIC COSTS IN CHICAGO LESS THAN NEW YORK

Rate Cut There No Aid to Small User.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—It costs a lot more to punch an electric light button in this city than it does in Chicago and a number of other metropolitan centers, but New York had to look a gift horse in the mouth to find it out. The Associated Edison Power companies with their proposed rate "cuts" have been described as "Greeks bearing gifts," and today Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has an issue for his next campaign that several million householders, apartment dwellers and shopkeepers are interested in financially.

The power companies here have proposed a rate "cut" that statisticians say will increase the bill of 59 per cent of the electric current consumers $2,600,000 a year and give the companies a "nest egg" of $21,334,380 annually before a single meter ticks a charge of energy actually used. The burden, every one admits, would be placed on the small consumer.

Governor for "Little Fellow."

Gov. Roosevelt insists the rate "cut" shall not be accepted at the expense of almost a million small consumers. As the governor sees the matter, rate reductions have long been in order, but they should be for all and should first take care of the little fellow. He believes that power users should pay only for the current which they actually use and should not be assessed, as in the proposed 60c service charge, for the privilege of using it.

Gov. Roosevelt has refrained from discussing his attitude with interviewers, explaining that he does not desire to direct the public service commission, which in this state controls all rate fixing. Nevertheless, with Milo R. Maltbie, Roosevelt appointee, as head of the board and its membership controlled by Democrats, the board's attitude is known to be Mr. Roosevelt's attitude.

It is the governor's view that upstate utilities as well as those in other states may, like the companies here, be on the verge of offering rate changes that would work a hardship on many consumers.

The New York Proposal.

Reduced to its simplest terms, the proposal of the Edison group here has been to reduce its rate from 7 to 5 cents a kilowatt hour, while making a fixed monthly charge of 60c for every meter.

In this connection the governor is fearful that such a charge might serve as a precedent for all sorts of fixed minimum charges which might run even into an assessment upon wires entering the home.

Accordingly, state and city officials and civic groups will go before the public service commission Tuesday to oppose the proposed rate changes. Gov. Roosevelt has instructed the board, it is said, carefully to inspect the rate base on which income is fixed. He believes that such inspection would stress the necessity of using the amount of actual capital invested as the rate base instead of the reproduction cost theory which in connection with other factors has, under the present system of regulation, been upheld by the courts.

City Also Fights Change.

Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly has been instructed by Mayor James J. Walker to oppose the rate change at Tuesday's hearing.

Dr. John Bauer, rate expert for the city, and other rate experts say that the proposed fixed charge of 60 cents a month for each meter and demand charge of $1 a kilowatt a month for commercial customers probably would amount to more than $21,000,000 annually. Matthew S. Sloan, president of the Edison company, has estimated that the proposed new schedule would reduce the annual revenues of the four companies $5,396,000.

These same rate experts said any estimate would necessarily be rough but that the annual fixed charge from the 60 cents a month meter cost to the 1,942,109 customers affected would bring in an extra $13,983,180. In addition there are 270,900 commercial customers who would have to pay the previously mentioned demand charge of $1.

Comparison with Chicago Difficult.

Any comprehensive comparison of the New York rates [old and proposed] with those effective in Chicago is difficult, as the rate structure in both cities is most complex—something like the Einstein theory.

In Chicago the Commonwealth Edison company which serves the city has a "room basis" rate for residential subscribers. Each room is placed on a three kilowatt hour basis. A home with five rooms is charged on a basis of 15 kilowatt hours. The initial rate for the 15 kilowatt hours is 8 cents per hour, 6 cents on each of the next 15 kilowatt hours, and from there on up 3 cents. There is a prompt payment discount on the 8 and 6 cent rates.

Has Advantage Over New York.

That the Chicago subscriber has a big advantage over the New York electric current user is pointed out by rate experts in the following manner:

An apartment of five rooms with 20 light outlets is used for the purpose of comparison. It is assumed that more than 30 kilowatt hours a month are used. With the 60 cent meter charge which is not applied to current used, and a flat charge of 5 cents a kilowatt on a basis of 38 kilowatt hours a month, the New York subscriber would pay $2.50 under the proposed Sloan plan. Under the old rate of 7 cents a kilowatt the same subscriber would pay $2.66. The million subscribers who use less than 30 kilowatts a month under the new plan would pay approximately 5 per cent more than under the old rate.

The same apartment owner, if he were in Chicago and paying on the "room basis" plan, would get his 38 kilowatt hours for approximately $1.86 of 80 cents cheaper than in New York even under the proposed rate "cut."

Say Rates Too High

Based on comparative studies, outside utility experts here agree that even though electric companies operating in New York have exceptionally high distribution costs, the present rates as well as the proposed rates are still far higher than they should be.

The demand charge proposed for commercial customers—that is, all but householders or those whose consumption is so great that they pay at wholesale rates—is unique under the proposed change. With the demand charge and meter charge in force, no shop, store or office would get a bill for less than $1.60 a month—$1 minimum demand charge plus 60 cent meter charge. The sum would be paid before any current was provided.

Tabulated Comparison.

The proposed and present rates for electric current in New York City as compared with Chicago and other cities are given in the following table. The table does not attempt to show the intricate rate system employed, but only the total monthly charge for the different classes of customers. The figures are for residence rates and have been compiled from schedules obtained from each city:

Net monthly bill for residence service.

New York [present]	$1.40	$2.66	$8.61	7
New York [proposed]	1.60	2.50	6.75	5
Chicago	1.30	1.86	4.41	3
Albany	....	2.90	5.49	...
Buffalo	....	1.72	3.94	...
Philadelphia	....	2.52	5.37	3
Baltimore	....	2.12	4.97	3
Detroit	....	1.85	4.05	2¾

There are two cities where a meter charge such as that proposed for New York City is in effect. The cities are Atlanta and San Francisco. In both cities the rate graduates down to very low prices. The meter charge in Atlanta is $1 and the net low residence rate per kilowatt hour is 2 cents, while in San Francisco, where the meter charge is 40 cents, the low rate is 1½ cents per kilowatt hour.

Graf Sails for 100th Flight as Germany Hails Republic

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 10.—(AP)—While all Germany was celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the republican constitution today, this airport's world wandering Graf Zeppelin began touring the German skies on its 100th cruise. The Graf took off at 7:30 a. m. with 20 passengers, and with Capt. Lehmann in command, for Darmstadt, her return was set for late tomorrow.

DEMAND 4 MORE CONGRESSMEN IN COOK COUNTY

of the downstate districts, the 11th, has a population of 356,189.

In furtherance of their contention Congressman Igoe's supporters showed how the various counties of the 24th congressional district—which is in the southeast corner of Illinois—lost in population. By counties, the population shown in each census was as follows:

Clay	19,553	18,661	17,684	16,137
Edwards	10,345	10,049	9,431	8,383
Gallatin	15,836	14,628	12,856	10,088
Hamilton	20,197	18,227	15,920	12,949
Hardin	7,448	7,015	7,533	6,954
Johnson	15,667	14,331	12,922	10,202
Massac	13,110	14,200	13,559	11,071
Pope	13,585	11,215	9,625	8,079
Saline	21,635	30,204	28,353	37,078
Wayne	27,626	25,647	22,722	19,120
White	25,386	23,052	20,081	18,150
Totals	190,438	187,279	184,786	171,942

Several of the other districts have lost population in the last 10, 20, and 30 years, the prepared data showed. Since Cook county has continued to grow without having its representation increased, Congressman Igoe and his allies declare their claim for four more seats in congress is just.

PLANES COLLIDE; 1 KILLED, 1 HURT

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bernard "Doc" Allen, Terre Haute aviator, was killed and Arthur Foulkes, another local pilot, was critically injured when airplanes they were piloting collided south of here today.

Allen, Foulkes and three other pilots were reported to have been starting a race when the crash occurred. Allen's ship, flying below Foulkes, swung upward into the other plane, made a complete loop and struck Foulkes' plane a second time.

MYSTERY SHOTS KILL ONE AND WOUND PASSERBY

Sam Siciliano, 28 years old, 1006 Cambridge avenue, was shot to death last night at Hobbie street and Cambridge avenue. Joseph R. Breder, 55 years old, a laborer, 1402 Larrabee street, passing by, was wounded in the leg by bullets that missed Siciliano.

Joseph Siciliano, a brother of the dead man, identified the body as it lay in the street, and he turned to the assembled crowd and shouted, "You people better watch out, for I'm going to get you!" Lieut. William Davern of the East Chicago avenue police said the slain man had served a term in the Bridewell for larceny and his last known occupation was as a laundry wagon driver.

Gary had its second gang killing of three days last night when Nick Cavaretti, 1140 Van Buren street, Gary, was shot several times and his body thrown from an automobile near 25th and Chase streets, in an outlying part of the city.

YANK'S MESSAGE OF 1902 IS FOUND IN ARCTIC ICE

NOVAYA ZEMLYAL, U. S. S. R., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A cork flask containing a message written in 1902 by Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, leader of an American exploring expedition to Franz Josef Land, was found today by a member of the soviet artic expedition to the same northern country.

The cork container was frozen in the ice on the rocky shore of the northern section of this island. The message asked for fuel and food.

Coats That Play Leads in the Annual Fur Sale

This Hudson Seal* at $225

We feature this Hudson Seal coat, not because it is the lowest priced of the season, but because we believe there is more fashion in its make-up and better quality in its fur than in any coat we have seen at the same price.

This Hudson Seal Knows That . . .

Being a flat fur it is best adaptable to the new fitted silhouette.

It is extremely practical—because it is a long wearing fur. And because it is worn on any occasion for the day.

It can be as youthful or as dignified as you wish.

Marcelle Rose Way of Lifting the Brim

There are ways and ways of doing it—Marcelle Rose does it with the bandeau, smartly carrying the brim far out on one side and straight down on the other.

This is the designing of a very clever woman, but she leaves it to you to wear it far back on the head, slightly tilted over the left eye. The original is black velvet with green grosgrain at $55. Copies in the French Shop for $22.50.

JAPANESE LABOR UNITES TO FORM THIRD DIET PARTY

Demands Women's Votes and Social Reform.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 10.—Formation of a new political party here through the merging of the three major proletarian groups, the Nihon Taishuto, Zenkoku Minshuto and Zenkoku Kyogikai, which has just taken place after years of discord, will enable the Labor party for the first time to put up a united front against the capitalistic parties in the diet this winter.

The merged groups have taken the name of Zenkoku Taishuto, or the National People's party, and announce among their cardinal principals the enfranchisement of women and the appointment of civilian heads of the ministries of army and navy.

Demand Eight Hour Day.

"Our demands are not unreasonable," Hisashi Aso, newly elected chairman of the party, declared today. "They are already in effect in most civilized countries. Our plank includes the seeking of payment for damages to persons taken into custody, but who are subsequently found not guilty, and the establishment of a minimum eight hour day system, as well as the abolishing of night work for women and child laborers.

"In the matter of social reforms, we demand equal rights for men and women, socially and politically, the abolition of traffic in women and children, modification of the peerage system and establishment of old age pensions."

Ignored by Diet Majority.

Although leaders of the new party include such national figures as Dr. Iwasaburo Takano, Toyohiko Kagawa and Kamekichi Takahashi, the Zenkoku Taishuto is taken lightly by the Seiyukai and the Minseito, the two leading factions which now claim an overwhelming majority in the lower of the two houses in the Japanese diet.

The public, however, weary on the one hand of the Seiyukai's corruptness and on the other of the Minseito's overstringent methods, is looking with considerable favor on the formation of a fairly strong third party. Close observers of the situation predict it will not be long before Japan will be run by its first Labor cabinet.

$1,250,000 Fire Destroys New Vancouver Rail Pier

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Fire swept through the new $1,000,000 Canadian National railway pier at Burrard inlet here today, destroying the interior of the structure and burning a considerable quantity of freight awaiting arrival of coastwise vessels. Government officials estimated the total loss at $1,250,000.

CHINA CIVIL WAR SPURTS UP WITH RENEWED FURY

Rebels of North Aim to Seize Shantung.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Fighting in northern Hunan and Shantung provinces between Nationalist and rebel troops, which slackened somewhat during the looting of the Yangtze valley by southern forces, broke out again with renewed fury today, with both side claiming important victories.

Feng Yu-hsiang, northern leader, claimed decisive victories along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway, with the capture of an entire brigade of Nationalist troops. Gen Feng also announced his troops had captured the important cities of Kweiteh and Mamutsi in Honan with the resulting seizure of enormous supplies of military goods and foodstuffs.

Halt Nationalist Drive.

Further northern military reports stated Yen Hsi-shan, former "model" governor of Shansi province, had halted a Nationalist advance toward Tsinanfu by effective use of machine guns and artillery in the vicinity of Tainfu and Feicheng. Heavy damage to Nationalist troops was claimed.

Nationalist military sources flatly contradicted northern claims, asserting loyal troops in Shantung were continuing their advance northward toward Tsinanfu, with capture of that provincial capital expected within a few days.

Deny Loss of Cities.

Although the rebels hurled a heavy offensive against the Nationalist positions in Honan, Gen. Feng's troops were driven off with heavy losses, the Nationalist leaders asserted. They added that the cities of Kweiteh and Mamutsi, claimed by the northerners, still were in possession of Nationalist troops.

With such conflicting claims it was impossible to determine the tide of battle, but it seemed clearly indicated the long heralded decisive battle for possession of Shantung was under way.

The Nationalists are known to have assembled in Shantung the largest airplane offensive unit yet seen in China. At least 35 armored airplanes equipped with machine guns are believed to be in use against the rebels with considerable efficiency. Most of the planes are of American manufacture.

Dies Saving Neighbor; Murder Plot Suspected

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Joseph Galko, 45, and father of five small children, died today, the victim of his effort to save the life of a neighbor in what police describe as a murder plot. Galko, with Louis Pella, smelled gas escaping from the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Biatagowitz. The men entered to search for the leak, and Mrs. Biatagowitz lighted a match. The house was wrecked. Police said Biatagowitz confessed he attempted to kill his wife by asphyxiation.

NEBRASKA G. O. P. FIGHTS FOR VOTES OF DEMOCRATS

Tomorrow's Primary to Decide Result.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Sweetness and light in cornfed politics were the Sabbath theme in Nebraska's battle between Senator George W. Norris, 70 year old insurgent leader, and W. M. Stebbins of the conservative group, in which the results of the Republican primaries Tuesday will depend upon how many Democrats hop the fence and for whom they hop it.

The Stebbins camp sneered at "wild jackassism" as unethical, irreligious, immoral, and even plumb ridiculous. Its main plank is party regularity.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock, ex-senator and candidate in the Democratic primaries for senator against Dr. Jennie Mather Callfas, former national committee woman who bolted Al Smith for Hoover in 1928, renewed his exhordium that Democrats remain pure and refrain from crashing into the Republican pew Tuesday. The Hitchcock regular Democrats seem obsessed with a fear that those who stray on Tuesday may forget to come home in November.

Senator Norris sneered at this talk of "party purity" as being of a "hypocritical nature." Norris, who makes no bones that many Democrats will cross Jordan for him and become Republicans for a day in the primaries, charged his antagonists with perpetrating the same offense of which they are accusing him.

Norris in a radio speech late Saturday night charged that Hitchcock, "the wet Democrat," ex-Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie, wheat member of the Hoover federal farm board, and others, are in a combination to put over Stebbins, the "dry Republican." Norris said Hitchcock was pulling for Stebbins by exhorting Democrats to stay in their own party, "because he knows Stebbins will be a weak Republican candidate and Hitchcock thinks he can win in November if I am defeated Tuesday."

Norris added, "I don't know how many Democrats may vote for me on Tuesday, but I do know they wish to support me for principle. They will not be trying to nominate a weak candidate in the Republican primary so that a Democratic candidate may have a chance to win in November."

Both camps trundled out their forecasts, as usual. Both side, for some reason, struck the mystic number—45,000 [it's probably as good as any]—as the plurality they look for, with reservation that they may hoist the pot Monday.

$10,000,000 HEIRESS TO WED PRESIDENT OF INSURANCE FIRM

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Louise M. Ehret, widow and heiress to her late husband's $10,000,000 estate, and John A. Griffon, widower and president of an insurance brokerage firm, will be married here tomorrow, it was announced tonight

Mrs. Ehret's first husband, George Ehret Jr., member of one of New York's richest brewery families, died in March, 1929. Mrs. Ehret recently gave $250,000 to the Lenox Hill hospital for the erection of a children's department in his memory.

Her marriage to Griffon will take place at the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola on Park avenue, to be followed by a breakfast at the Savoy Plaza. On their return from a European trip the couple will make their home in the old Ehret town house.

FOREST ON FIRE WITHIN A MILE OF MENOMINEE

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 10.—(AP)—More than 100 men, directed by Joseph M. Hornick, Menominee, county conservation commissioner, tonight battled a forest fire within a mile of the city. Hornick characterized the situation as bad.

In Mackinac county a brush fire along a five mile front belched smoke over the Straits of Mackinac and slowed down lake traffic. Masters ordered their ships at slow speed to prevent possible collisions on the smoke covered waters. A few small fires were reported in Chippewa county.

The fire roared through forty acres of timber and cut over lands. A scarcity of water, due to the drought, handicapped fire fighters. Men shoveled sand and dirt in the path of the flames, which bore close to the city.

"We're all right for tonight," Hornick said, "but if we don't control it by morning there can be no guarantee of safety for the city."

CANDY MAGNATE, "PRISONER" OF EX-ACTRESS, DIES

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Aaron Unger, a New York manufacturer, died today in a Lansdowne apartment, where members of his family charged he was being held captive by Miss Amelia Phillips, a former actress. Mr. Unger was 48. His death automatically brought to an end court proceedings pending in Media, Pa., and in New York.

Four months of litigation had revolved around the candy manufacturer's residence here. His death came at a time when Miss Phillips was awaiting the Delaware County court's decision in habeas corpus proceedings brought by members of the Unger family to have him removed from her custody. The former actress has declared that she and Mr. Unger were engaged, although he was undivorced.

Stray Bullet Kills Girl as Gunmen Shoot It Out

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—An eleven year old school girl was killed today by a stray bullet from the pistol of a gunman shooting it out with a rival in the heart of Harlem's Little Italy.

The gunmen emptied their weapons at each other and then, apparently unscatched, fled in opposite directions. The victim, Sadina Gammorato, was in a hallway in East 114th street when the bullet struck her.

BEYOND THE CITY LIMITS.

The Cook county board has just published its road maps of the Chicago region. One of them shows the immediate vicinity of the city within the boundaries fixed roughly by 147th street on the south, the Des Plaines river on the west and Dempster road on the north. The other map presents the metropolitan area from the Wisconsin line on the north to Gary and Crown Point on the southeast, Dresden Heights on the southwest and the line of the Fox river on the west.

The maps are intended to "acquaint the metropolitan motorists with the secondary system of roads and streets which are marked as lettered routes . . . It is contemplated to extend this system throughout the adjoining counties and increase the number of routes as rapidly as possible."

The effort is in the right direction, for it marks another recognition of the existence of the metropolitan area in fact if not in political theory. There is no single unit of local government which binds the metropolitan area into a political entity, but that is merely a way of saying that political action has not kept pace with the growth of the metropolitan community. Prof. Merriam's statements to Mr. Philip Kinsley, in interpretation of the new census, emphasize this point. Mr. Merriam, like others who have examined the census returns, is impressed with the growth of metropolitan regions all over the country. This trend in the distribution of population is the one with which political thinking in America in our generation will be most concerned.

Coöperation has come relatively early, as might be expected, in the field of communications. For years, now, THE TRIBUNE has been emphasizing the need for a road system in the region which would not be designed to meet the purely local requirements of several hundred communities, but would be related rather to the general needs of the metropolitan region viewed as a whole. Much, though by no means enough, has been accomplished in this direction. The maps indicate that many even of the subsidiary roads are being planned and built with regard for the requirements of through traffic in the region. A system of uniform road markings has been adopted and installed in Cook county and is to be extended into the neighboring counties. Communities on the rim as well as Chicago are demanding 40 foot radial roads.

The need for metropolitan transportation is reflected, also, in the new traction ordinance, the title of which is "An ordinance providing for a comprehensive local transportation system for the city of Chicago and metropolitan area." The phrase "metropolitan area" is defined in the ordinance as "the territory embracing the city of Chicago and the territory within the state of Illinois lying within 30 miles distant from the nearest point marking the corporate limits of the city of Chicago." Here, too, is a recognition of the existence of a metropolitan community which transcends township, county and city lines.

The acceptance of the metropolitan area for purposes of transportation has come relatively late. As might have been expected, the first important recognition came in the field of sanitation with the organization of the sanitary district in 1889. Originally the district was bounded by Devon avenue, 87th street, Harlem avenue, and the lake. Today it includes not only all of Chicago but some 50 other incorporated cities and villages. The city of Chicago pumps water to a number of suburban communities, and Chicago's health department supervises dairy herds which supply milk not only to Chicago but to many of the other municipalities in the region.

The metropolitan point of view is destined to prevail. The start has been made in sanitation and in highway and rail transportation. The process of integration will not stop there. As Mr. Merriam and others have suggested, the end of the road may be the independent metropolitan state.

THE EMERGENCY NURSE.

A communication from Supt. Bacon of the Presbyterian hospital published in the Voice of the People today contains some interesting facts and suggests a new form of practical philanthropy, the endowment of what we may describe in military analogy as a nursing reserve. There are many patients both in and out of hospitals who cannot afford a private nurse, but whose condition has reached a crisis during which special nursing may mean the difference between life and death. Here is when the hospital, which has nurses endowed for such service and therefore not engaged with either the routine duties of the hospital service or with private cases, can, as it were, move its troops to the point of emergency.

Mr. Bacon says a fund for such service was provided 13 years ago by Miss Helen North, and we agree with him that it opens up a most promising field of service which ought to be greatly extended. People of means who wish to assist in the war against human suffering and extend skilled aid to the sick of small means should consider this plan.

CHICAGO'S REPUTATION.

A traveling Chicagoan sends us the first page of a Los Angeles newspaper bearing a double line eight column streamer as follows: "Terrific Heat in Midwest. Chicago Loop Registers 115."

The exhibit is characteristic of the Californian policy of touting its own charms, with an expedient suppression of shortcomings, while advertising the weaknesses of regions supposed by Californians to be less favored by Providence. But it is also characteristic of the general disposition of newspapers to make Chicago a scapegoat in the service of their own local self-righteousness. Chicago crime especially is the best advertised in the world, though crime records do not support our reputation.

The ironic result of this treatment is, however, not the expected. It illustrates rather the showman's maxim that it is better to be slandered than ignored, and Chicago has become in the mind of the world what it is in fact, one of the most interesting places in America. Even its detractors cannot forget it. It is no longer merely a suburb of the stockyards or the dull metropolis of the prairies, but a great city with all the lure of puzzling conundrums and unknown forces, a place of power and fascination, of dark deeds and blazing achievements and unpredictable possibilities.

Our worthy citizens who are concerned for Chicago's reputation would do well to save their worries. It is what Chicago is that counts, and Chicago is the most interesting spot on the globe, not only for us who know what it is because we are a part of it but for those who read across the world the Gargantuan legend of our deeds. There is no greater romance in our day than Chicago, and the best of it is that in the essentials and despite the perversions of detail it is the romance of reality.

THE SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY.

The Chinese Nationalist government has taken the occasion of communist violence in central China to disclose the operations of Russian influence through a Chinese communist party. This party has been split into two factions, one affiliated with the Trotzky faction in Russian politics, now crushed out, and the other with the Stalin faction, now triumphant at Moscow. The Chinese faction which followed the Stalin group is more aggressive in policy, advocating a radical Red revolution in China, and is encouraged from Moscow, according to the report of the Nanking government news agency. The recent changes in the soviet foreign office are interesting in this connection.

The retirement of Chicherin, chief of the foreign office, removed from the field of foreign affairs one of the ablest of living diplomats. He was the only important survival of the czarist régime. He was an aristocrat before the Red millennium and an official under the czar. But he took service under the soviet and served its ends so satisfactorily that he rode successfully through the recurrent internal crises of communist party politics. The reason is twofold. In the foreign office he was evidently outside of the struggle for party power and the wrangling over domestic policies. He was not in line of advancement to internal dictatorship and his tastes and talents probably did not tempt to ambitious intrigue in this troubled sphere. But another reason for his security is of more significance to us and the world. It arises from the fact that apart from its flamboyant effort to spread the communist revolution over the world, which Chicherin could not have taken seriously save as it served his practical purposes, the soviet foreign policies are substantially the same as those of the czarist régime. The advancement of Russian interests in the far east and the near east are the objects of Moscow as they were the objects of St. Petersburg.

Chicherin therefore as a patriotic Russian could labor as freely and skillfully as any of his czarist predecessors, and doubtless more so. His retirement will be felt by the soviet power, for he was one of the ablest and most masterful men in the foreign affairs of his time. Meanwhile the new appointments will be noted with interest in every chancellery in Europe. The selection for head of the department, Litvinoff, we are not sufficiently informed to appraise, but that of his two assistants is suggestive. One is the former soviet ambassador to Berlin, the other is Karakhan, the wily Armenian who was until recently soviet ambassador at Peiping. The former is doubtless an expert in German problems and conditions, the latter certainly a master of Chinese peculiarities. The promotion of these two men emphasizes, not unexpectedly, the overshadowing importance of Germany and China in Russian foreign policy.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

It is almost dead silent in the woods, except for the lifeless drone of insects. There is no gay chorus of birds to greet the dawn. A tired robin may lift his voice for a moment, a wood thrush try his flute and find it out of tune, a field sparrow pipe one tentative air. Then silence. And through the day there is only the bored preaching of the monotonous red eyed vireo, and an occasional sigh from a wood peewee.

The birds are still here, but they are molting. They are sick, and have no heart for song. Step by step, in this month of August, they will lose, and replace, every feather on their bodies. Spring molting is a different and a gayer process. A few birds, like the gaudy scarlet tanager, acquire almost complete new coats of feathers twice a year. But the freshness of a robin's breast in spring is due not to new feathers but to the fact that at last the gray tips that hid the warm brick color have worn off. It was there, all the time. August's molt is a more serious business. Gay feathers go; drab feathers come. The birds are preparing for a hard winter, and while few of them lose enough plumage to interfere with flight they skulk about in the shadows, like a woman who knows that strenuous activity has splotched her makeup.

Birds look gay, but they lead strenuous lives. In another fortnight the swallows will be assembling for the long southward flight. Molting is merely preparation for more work, strangely different from the summer vacations with which human beings exhaust themselves. There was once a theory that the human vacation was to be a period of rest, or recreation of worn out faculties. It has been perverted into an orgy of unaccustomed activity, a period of frantic sunburn, when winter softened muscles are desperately overstrained and tired frames extended to the limit. We return needing more rest than when we went away. Perhaps it is unfortunate for us that we, too, do not molt.

THE FAT BABY.

THE fat baby is the mother's pride. She exhibits him and she struts in doing so. "Her baby is not as other peoples' babies," is the implication. Of course he is not; but, then, he may be. Pride is a force for good. The pride of the mother in her well nourished child is based on accomplishment. She has protected him against bad milk and spoiled food generally. Flies have not been allowed to bring disease to him. So far as contagion is concerned he has been intelligently cared for. His clothing has been proper for the season. This is enough to entitle her to pride in her own performance as well as in her charge.

Having said this, let us add a few cautions, that her pride may not have a fall. A fat baby has been a healthy baby. His condition, therefore, is proof of past health. Does it mean that the baby is in present good health, measured by all the standards? Does fat offer any guarantee of continued good health?

A fat baby is somewhat out of nutritional balance. His diet has contained rather too much carbohydrates and rather too little vitamins and minerals. Translated into foods by their common names, his diet has contained too much sugar of one kind or another and too much cereal and bread. On the other hand, it has not contained enough orange juice, other fruit juice, tomato juice or other vegetable juice; not enough wheat germ, soup, finely mashed vegetables, eggs and meats or meat juice. Being fat, he needs less heat making foods. He will suffer more from heat in hot weather and will need to be kept in a cool room, to be dressed very lightly, and to be bathed frequently. It is the fat baby that most frequently develops eruptions of different kinds.

The fat baby is generally soft and flabby. He needs more exposure to light and more exercise because of his fatness. He is less resistant to disease. If he is exposed he is not likely to escape infections and if he develops a disease he does not stand up well under it.

Our advice to mothers of fat babies is to change the diet somewhat.

MUST BUILD UP FEET.

Mrs. R. L. D. writes: My husband is said to have flat feet and suffers towards evening of each day with burning and aching of the instep. Could you suggest a set of exercises he might use to strengthen the muscles involved? He is 26 years old and I hope can correct this trouble before it is too late.

REPLY.

He must build up his foot and lower leg muscles. Have him walk pigeontoed. Have him bend his foot downward and inward. His shoes should be light in weight and built to promote toeing in. Dancing helps to build up the weak muscles.

GET PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Mrs. J. P. E. writes: 1. My 22 year old son recently became ruptured. He is now wearing a truss. Do you think an operation advisable?

2. What is the cause of ruptures?

3. Do they ever prove fatal?

REPLY.

1. Your physician's opinion is better than mine. The degree of inconvenience caused by the rupture is generally the guide in deciding whether to operate.

2. The causes are twofold. The principal cause is an inherited weakness in the wall. The precipitating cause is some muscle strain

3. Yes, sometimes. If the hernia strangulates death may result. However, most hernias are not dangerous.

DO NOT DO ANYTHING.

R. T. E. writes: My 13 year old grandson is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He is smart at school. His father is 6 feet tall and his mother average height. What can they do so that he will not grow more?

REPLY.

I know of nothing that can be done or should be done.

CANADIAN BORN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—In 1919 I entered the United States from Canada to attend college. When I entered I paid the required $8 head tax. However, at the time of entering I did not state that I wished to reside in the United States permanently. In 1924 I received my declaration of intention. Can I receive my final papers under the above circumstances? H. E. M.

Under the facts stated the writer, if he was born in Canada, is probably legally in the United States, and it is suggested that he apply for naturalization.

H. L. ROETHE,
Acting District Director of Naturalization.

WANTS ESTATE CLOSED.

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there a state inheritance tax in Illinois? 2. Can one of the heirs to an estate [consisting wholly of real estate] give a quitclaim deed to the other heirs before any move has been made toward settlement of said estate? The estate has drifted along for seven years. 3. Is there any specified time within which an estate must be settled, or can it drift indefinitely? A. B.

1-2. Yes.

3. Ordinarily, settlement is possible shortly after a year from the commencement of the probate. If the executor delays unreasonably, you should ask the clerk of the Probate court to institute citation proceedings to compel him to close.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO LOSE DEPOSIT.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A party was about to rent a flat and gave the owner a deposit of $5. The party did not at once move into the flat, but about a day before they were to move the owner requested an additional deposit, and $20 was given him to apply on account of rent. The party, because of certain circumstances, did not rent the flat and immediately notified the owner.

Can any part of the money deposited by the party be obtained from the owner? MRS. D. S.

It seems probable that the owner's damages due to the lessee's breach of agreement will exceed the amount of the deposit. He would not be entitled to hold the entire deposit if his damages were less, but the amount involved is hardly enough to be worth suing for.

THE RETORT CRUSHING!

We've thought and thought and thought for a proper comeback to the taxidrivers who crush us when we are driving a car by sneeringly saying, "Hain't yuh got no steerin' wheel on that car?" We tried 2 or 3 answers to the taxidrivers, but they did not seem to get over very well. But yesterday a gay little flapper was driving her flivver in front of us and got all tangled up in a traffic jam. She shoved over right in front of a taxi whose driver had asked her in a very haughty manner the stereotyped question used on all such occasions, "Hain't yuh got no steerin' wheel on that car?" "I really couldn't say," replied the flapper sweetly, "I'm a stranger here myself." The taxidriver tried to pull himself together, but he only sputtered in vain—he couldn't think of a word to say, and finally, with a countenance covered with shame and defeat, he backed his car, untangled it from the jam, and drove mutely away. We're going to try that one the next time a taxidriver bawls at us.

THE BALLAD OF BAYLIS O'BANNON.

The smoke of the smoldering peat hung low,
The salt wind from the sea
Flattened it into streamers wide
That floated thin and free.

Baylis O'Bannon, hastening home
O'er the bog in the moonlight's sheen,
Heard through the smothering shrouding mist
The wail of the dread Skitleen.

Now the thing to do when you hear that cry
Is to flatten down on the ground
With your toes dug deep in the spongy sod
And pray your rosary round.

But Baylis O'Bannon stood straight and tall,
He crossed himself with a sigh,
Then buried his rosary under a stone
And sent an answering cry.

Across the fen: "'Skitleen! Skitleen!'
'Tis Baylis O'Bannon am I!
'Twas my great-grandsire who heard your call
A hundred years gone by.

"He followed you far; have you come for me,
Baylis O'Bannon, the clod?
Then call again, and I'll go if need
Unshriven, up to God!"

All night he followed the Skitleen's cry,
While over the quaking bog
Strange phantoms danced, and weird light burned
On peaks thrust through the fog.

Castles and palaces, rainbow gems,
And deadly blossoms sweet
Sprang from the blackness of the earth
At touch of his flying feet.

And when the false dawn's rose was gray,
And the fleeting darkness came,
Backward the Skitleen flung to him
Her glorious torch of flame!

Then the pale moon set, and a spreading glow
Lapped the cold blue of the sky,
While from far beyond the Great Causeway
Came the Skitleen's last faint cry.

Somewhere, in the waste of the dank morass
The village clout had died;
But Baylis O'Bannon, poet, lived
In legend to abide.

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

WHO SAYS PEOPLE have no more money any more? We looked in at a fashionable country resort down in Indiana the other night and asked them what they had in the way of accommodations, and the clerk with a haughty look said he could find something for us and a small room for the chauffeur. "How much?" asked we, tremblingly, as magnificently attired ladies and gents passed us on the way to the dining room. "Thirty dollars for your room," said the clerk, "twelve dollars for the chauffeur's room." "A week?" sez we. "A day," sezze. "Good-night," sez we. "Good-by," sezze. But somebody must be able to pay thirty per diem for a room or they wouldn't be asking it. Gosh!

Or Indeed Yes!

THEY'RE TALKING of a new cigarette that lights itself without the aid of a match. It's got some kind of doofunny on it that busts into flame if given a little encouragement, such as rubbing. In this day when dry sleuths are slapping us to see if we've got a bottle, and city cops are slapping us to see if we've got a gun, and the bandits are slapping us to see if we've got any money, that kind of cigarette is just going to mean that we're liable to give a correct imitation of a Fourth of July fireworks show almost any time.

LAGNIAPPE.

BERNARD SHAW says: "I'm afraid the poor old theater is done for. It may survive as a place where people are taught to act, but apart from that there will be nothing but talkies soon. All my plays will be made into talkies." Which, of course, shows the theater is all through. Wish Bernard would eat some raw meat, or a goulash, or something that wasn't vegetarian, then maybe he wouldn't be so darned modest.

AUGUST 11. This is the day when father used to go out in the garden and plant the fall vegetables. But look out in the garden now and ask where the old rascal's gone. He's not planting any fall vegetables this year; he's down there on the corner playing peewee golf. R. H. L.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1914.

LONDON.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Cap Ortegal, with $5,000,000 in specie aboard, has been captured by the British, the Daily Mail says. The liner sailed from Buenos Aires on July 16 for Southampton.

LONDON.—The Daily Telegraph correspondent reports a message from Maastricht stating that there has been heavy firing along the line between Liege and Tongres. The latter is across the Meuse river, north of Liege. The Germans are placing heavy guns before Liege and Namur. Only long range firing is in progress before the Liege fort.

PARIS.—That the French army invading Germany from Belfort by way of Altkirch and Mühlhausen has engaged in a great battle with the Austro-German forces in the Rhine valley was reported here after the war office suddenly prohibited announcement of casualties. The French war department admits serious losses when the French troops occupied the Vosges pass at Sainte-Marie-aux-Mines, above Colmar. The French troops were reported in force at Hardtforest yesterday before Neu-Breisach, where the German army reinforced by 40,000 Austrians has taken its stand. It is believed that in a battle fought there the French advance has been checked.

PARIS.—It was officially announced that France had broken off diplomatic relations with Austria-Hungary.

BRUSSELS. — Forty-six thousand German troops that had concentrated at Esch, in the grand duchy of Luxemburg, invaded France today. They razed the village of Merl.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1900.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y.—With a left hook on the jaw Bob Fitzsimmons put out Gus Ruhlin, "the Akron Giant," after 2 minutes and 10 seconds of fighting in the sixth round. Ruhlin fell forward on his face like a chunk of heavy timber and was carried to his corner a limp mass of flesh and bones. It was seven or eight minutes before he was revived sufficiently to come forward to shake hands with his vanquisher. The result was tremendously popular and the crowd cheered uproariously for "Good Old Fitz."

LONDON.—Li Hung Chang, according to a Shanghai dispatch, has been ordered by the Chinese government to negotiate for peace with the allied powers. This report is regarded with several degrees of doubt here, as recent experiences with Chinese diplomacy have taught the European governments to regard with suspicion every move of the Peking officials. Russian advices say that 12,000 Chinese troops are marching from the provinces toward Peking and Tientsin.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Amelie Palmer Strout of New York and George Wilbur Reed of Chicago were married in London, England, yesterday.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Attorney General Speed, in response to the inquiry of President Johnson whether persons charged with the offense of having assassinated President Lincoln should be tried before a military tribunal or a civil court, gave a written opinion sustaining the former method of trial. The opinion maintains that the military tribunal exists under and according to the constitution in time of war.

NEW YORK. — The Commercial says that Mrs. Stephen A. Douglas' appeal to President Johnson for the pardon of Herschel V. Johnson, who was on the ticket with her husband for Vice President in 1860, has been successful.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Capt. James M. Moore, sent to Andersonville, Ga., to give decent burial to the remains of federal prisoners who died in the Andersonville prison pen, reported to J. E. Potts, chief clerk in his office here, that there are still about 14,000 head boards to be lettered and put up. The trial of Capt. Wirz, the inhuman commandant at Andersonville, probably will not take place for two weeks.

BERLIN.—A German paper says that the hanging of Mrs. Surratt was a compliment to the female sex because it recognized the responsibility of woman.

ELECTRIFICATION.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—We thank THE TRIBUNE for starting proceedings before the Illinois commerce commission to compel electrification of the steam railroads within a radius of fifty miles of the Chicago terminals, and to compel the erection of modern Chicago stations to replace the present worn out structures. We offer our services in any way that will help.

Our people are among the worst sufferers from these long years of inaction and delay. We appreciate the great service that you are performing and we wish you every success.

LEO HELLER,
Executive Secretary, South State Street Improvement Association.

THE NURSE IN RESERVE.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Chicago has 126 hospitals, caring for some 300,000 patients annually, spending about $27,000,000 every year for their maintenance, and with approximately $80,000,000 invested in lands, buildings and equipment. Fifty-five of these institutions are organized as charitable corporations, either independently or under the auspices of churches, offering a total of 9,049 beds, or slightly more than 40 per cent of the total bed capacity of the city. (Report by Margaret Lovell Plumley and Michael M. Davis to the Institute of Medicine of Chicago.) These include some of the finest plants in the world, impressive monuments to medical progress and private philanthropy.

In the charitable hospitals Chicago physicians and surgeons have given and are giving their services according to the ancient laws of medicine. But what of the nurse? Her rate of compensation is fixed, affording no more than a living wage. She cannot give of her time and skill without regular payment and survive. Yet in some cases her services are indispensable, not as a floor nurse but in the capacity of a private or special nurse giving full attention to a patient during a few days or a few hours of critical condition.

Some thirteen years ago a Chicagoan hit upon the answer to this problem and inaugurated the first philanthropy of its kind when she endowed a nurse for work in the wards of the Presbyterian hospital. By setting up a sum of $35,000 Miss Helen North provided sufficient income to pay the salary of one nurse for front line duty the year round. Wherever death is nearest this nurse goes. She is the reserve force which the hospital superintendent throws into the balance when a man, woman, or child goes deep into the shadow and the forces of dissolution are dangerously near a victory.

A day, perhaps two, and the crisis is past. The Helen North nurse, as she is called, does not always win. In the vast majority of cases, however, the patient in the modern hospital survives. The next day finds the nurse fighting the same battle at another bedside. She cares for approximately 250 patients in the course of a year. Time and again the attending physician says, "Mark up another score. That thyroidectomy would never have pulled through without you."

Another front line nurse was provided in 1921 by an endowment undertaken by Presbyterian nurses with the aid of the woman's board of the hospital. She is known as the Gladys Foster nurse, in memory of a member of the nursing school who fell in line of duty during the influenza epidemic of 1918. In March, 1930, another was added by endowment of Mrs. Hamill, being known as the Ernest A. Hamill nurse.

So far as is known, these three in Chicago are the only examples of endowed hospital nurses. Yet it would seem highly desirable that this should become a common form of philanthropic expression. Under the pressure of providing the utmost in modern hospital equipment, the art of nursing, and the fundamental requirements of the very sick patient, should not be overlooked. And while the welfare of the patient is the first consideration, the practice of endowed nurses will also provide some definite increase of nursing education due to the fact that only the well qualified nurse will secure the endowed position. ASA S. BACON,
Superintendent Presbyterian Hospital.

LOADED DICE.

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—"Fair Play" in your issue of July 31 is badly informed. The courses chosen for the international yacht races are not off [illegible] Hook, but the line will be located [illegible] miles southeast, magnetic, from [illegible] tons Reef light vessel in Block Island sound, off Newport, R. I. It blows [illegible] —mostly southwest, fresh—and some of the courses fetch close to Point Judith, and as any one knows if he's ever rounded "Point Jud" on the Fall River line, it gets rugged there. The present challenger is almost identical to the defender candidates in construction, but is under jury rig, shortened and split up to ketch rig to avoid the necessity of using her tall racing rig. A comfortable, seagoing rig and under convoy of the S. Y. Erin, nice easy getting. Loaded dice? Never.

TRANSPLANTED DOWN EASTER.

GREAT ART.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—My compliments to the man who wrote your editorial "How Well Creates Another Opus." His art an understanding heart and a deft pen. I have always felt that it was the wickedness to confine Mr. Well [illegible] mere expression of his talent. His rare finesse and refinement are of tangible value in this uncouth world. Perhaps it would lessen the taxpayers' burden to appoint a sleuth to follow him after each performance and make him return the cash. Such art is scarcely worth money anyway.

What a pity he could not have been induced to accept a chair at the recent naval doings. By this time there would not have been a rowboat east of the Statue of Liberty. H. D. INGALLS.

NIGHT HIGH SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—It is certainly fine that a big city like Chicago has only one school on the south side—namely Englewood—which affords high school credits for pupils attending night school. The average downtown worker does not get home until 6 p. m. or after, eats dinner, washes up and has to be at 63d and Stewart by 6:45 p. m. Studies are from 6:45 to 9:45 p. m., which means that that person does not arrive home until 10:30 or 11.

Roseland has a big spacious high school; Fenger, which is open nights, does not give high school credits.

CZARIST FOES OF RED RUSSIA GET READY FOR WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Leaders of all parties of White Russians, exiled supporters of the former czarist régime, met here last night to launch what they hope will be their supreme offensive against the boisheviks.

The meeting took place in the home of Gen. Miller, successor to Gen. Koutiepoff. No announcement was made but it was learned today that even the most cautious of White leaders declared the prospect of a successful counter revolution brighter than at any time since the collapse of Gen. Baron Peter Wrangel's army in the fall of 1920.

Red Army Discontent.

Gen. Stogov, head of the White espionage system in the far east, said that the Red army, despite military efficiency, was no longer a safe political weapon, owing to the growing discontent among the troops. He pointed out that the army is composed almost entirely of peasants, who are the most bitter opponents of Joseph Stalin's dictatorship.

Gen. Stogov then took up the situation in eastern Siberia. He declared that a thousand deserters of the Red army, following an unofficial war with China, were roaming the Siberian steppes and that near Vladivostok more than 10,000 mutinous Red sailors and soldiers were still holding out against the army.

40,000 Czarists Ready.

When asked the strength of the White forces he said that 10,000 well armed and disciplined troops were at present stationed along the Manchurian railroad and that 30,000 more were under arms in various parts of Mongolia. He added that there would be no difficulty in raising 100,000 trained men in the course of a few weeks, provided money was found to equip them.

After listening to the reports of Gen. Stogov other secret agents and leaders then passed a series of resolutions. They decided that the first thing was to raise immediately several million dollars, and for this purpose it would be necessary to carry on an energetic campaign among the emigres of western Europe, many of whom are rich. It is reported that Sir Henri Deterding promised to match every dollar raised by the Russians.

Next Gen. Micyael Diterich, who has been carrying on a guerrilla warfare in Asia against the bolsheviks for the last five years and maintains headquarters at Shanghai, was named as generalissimo of the White forces in the east. The leaders decided that as soon as money is raised they will organize an army on the Manchurian border and launch a drive against the soviet forces in eastern Siberia.

SOVIET RUSSIA BUYS $40,500,000 OF U. S. FARM MACHINERY

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Orders to the value of $40,500,000 for agricultural machinery and tractors have been placed in the United States in the last two months on behalf of soviet collective and state farms, it was announced today by the Amtorg Trading corporation, the soviet commercial agency in this country.

About 85 per cent of the purchases are made up of tractors, 12 per cent of combines, and the remainder of other agricultural machinery and spare parts, it was stated. The orders were placed by M. Kalmanovitch, vice commissar for agriculture of the U. S. S. R., who sailed for the soviet union on the Majestic last Friday after completing his business here.

The orders were described as "the largest for farm machinery ever placed for export in a corresponding period of time," and as "the result of the rapid development of large scale mechanized farming in the soviet union."

"While in 1929 the U. S. S. R. was third in imports of American farm machinery, and in the first few months of the current year first, the continued expansion of state and collective farms makes the soviet union an even greater market for agricultural machinery and equipment," the Amtorg announcement declared, attributing this picture of the situation to Mr. Kalmanovitch.

In commenting on the new purchases here, Peter A. Bogdanov, chairman of the board of the Amtorg, through which the orders were placed, said that the purchasing of such a large quantity of agricultural machinery for the soviet union at this time should be considered "a significant event in soviet-American trade relations."

U. S. EMBARGO ON TIMBER AND FISH ANGERS RUSSIA

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—The strongest tone yet noted in editorial comment on the American embargo of soviet timber and fish, is used today by the Pravda under the headline "Full Clarity Needed." Beginning with the assertion that the embargo affair isn't an accident, but "one of the clearest manifestations of an economic campaign against the soviet recently carried on by world capitalism."

The Pravda works up to the conclusion, which goes beyond a more or less disguised threat of moving business away from the United States to Europe.

"It's not merely a matter of such natural counter measures on our part, but the whole question of the basis of our economic relations with America," the Pravda says. "In the present circumstances, in the absence of any rights of guarantees, at the mercy of such incidents, can our trading organizations find the proper basis for their foreign trade plans in the United States? Obviously they cannot. In the atmosphere of slander and hostile acts, which break the most elementary rules of international relationship, and make successful business impossible, the working interests of the U. S. S. R. and the interests of our program of industrialization demand full clarity in soviet-American economic relations."

GOVERNOR CALLS GUARDSMEN WAR SINEW OF NATION

40,000 Visitors Hear His Talk at Camp Grant.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—This tented city presented a carnival appearance today. Forty thousand civilians, a majority of them women, were visitors. The 10,000 Illinois National Guardsmen [33d division] in their annual encampment had their big day of the year as Gov. Emmerson addressed them.

"You have the greatest of responsibilities," Gov. Emmerson told the troops. "Our nation gives less attention to the necessity of training its boys and men in the essentials of national defense than any other country of equal importance. Consequently, in case of war, you men must form the framework of the great armies necessary if this nation is to remain free from foreign invasion.

Praises Guard's War Record.

"Illinois is proud of the record of its National Guard in the world war. In that conflict, the National Guard of our state furnished 130 companies of highly trained troops, composed of 18,884 officers and men. Of that number 812 died in service and 3,270 were wounded."

Col. B. M. Chiperfield, judge advocate, who introduced Gov. Emmerson, declared that the National Guard now ranks with the regular army in importance in the event of war.

"This division is no longer subject to the designation of 'tin soldiers,'" Col. Chiperfield said. "You have the largest National Guard in the United States and your progress in training has met with the approval of both state and government."

The visitors began swarming to the camp soon after sunrise. Before noon the gay gowns of girls and women were fluttering in every company street. There was a strumming of ukuleles. Every khaki clad soldier had a feminine companion or two.

Festivities at Headquarters.

At the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the 33d division, there was also a large number of visitors. The lawn about the spacious home of the commanding general was dotted with gayly chatting groups of officers and their wives and sweethearts. Mrs. Keehn, official hostess, was much admired in a striking black lace gown and large picture hat.

At a dinner given by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Keehn, at which Gov. Emmerson was guest of honor, were Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Frank R. Schwengel, Capt. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, State Senator and Mrs. Harry E. Wright, Congressman John T. Buckbee, Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity, Col. Chiperfield, former Judge George Cook, Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Carlos E. Black and Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman.

Fate of 200,000 German Soldiers Still Unknown

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—The fate of 200,000 German soldiers who participated in the world war is still unknown, according to the latest reports of the central bureau for war casualties. This institution keeps a record of every member of Germany's 20 army corps, which constituted the former imperial army. Some 15 million records are on file.

FESS DECLARES TARIFF WILL BE ELECTION ISSUE

Wet, Dry Spots in Both Parties, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Scanning the political horizon today from his new post as chairman of the Republican national committee, Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] reiterated earlier predictions that the Hawley-Smoot tariff law will be the chief issue in the coming congressional campaigns.

Here and there in isolated cases throughout the country prohibition, according to the Ohio senator, may be a controlling factor in congressional campaigns, but "the distinctively social and economic" nature of the problem precludes it, he argued, from becoming a national partisan issue. Both major parties, he pointed out, are dry in some sections of the country and wet in others and neither, he contended, is ready to make law enforcement an issue.

Farm Relief Also Out.

Likewise, there is small probability, Fess asserted, that farm relief—in spite of reported dissatisfaction in some agricultural states—immigration, or disarmament will play an important part in the November elections. Both parties, according to the new Republican chairman, are so generally agreed on the major principles that an issue cannot be made of either immigration or disarmament.

"I don't see how farm relief can be made an issue at this time," continued Senator Fess, "in view of the fact that the legislation enacted was fulfillment both of the pledge of the party platform and the recommendations of the President. The law will demonstrate its value. It will prove itself to be valuable."

As the personal choice of President Hoover to reorganize the Republican national committee's activities and build a permanent aggressive all year round campaign organization, Fess declared the party "gladly accepts" the Democratic challenge to make the tariff the major issue and confidently asserted the result will show that the country is overwhelmingly "protection minded."

Yesterday Fess made known some of his plans for expansion of the national committee's research and publicity bureaus to combat the efforts of a highly organized Democratic publicity machine which has been concentrating its attacks on the Hawley-Smoot tariff.

Under the immediate direction of Robert H. Lucas, new executive director of the national committee, research and publicity men will be placed in charge of the two bureaus to conduct a continuous "educational" campaign to counteract the Democratic propaganda.

PASTOR OF AIMEE CHURCH IS GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Riverside, Cal., Aug. 10. — (AP) — Joseph A. Smith, pastor of Aimee Semple McPherson's church here, was sentenced to serve two prison terms of one to five years today.

Smith was convicted of eleven violations of the corporate securities act in connection with the sale of stock in Angelus Mines, Inc. Church people of Los Angeles and Riverside counties were the investors.

The state contended Smith obtained $17,500 in Los Angeles and $9,000 in Riverside by promising to spend part of the profits in missionary work.

Smith said his wife and five children were destitute in Chicago.

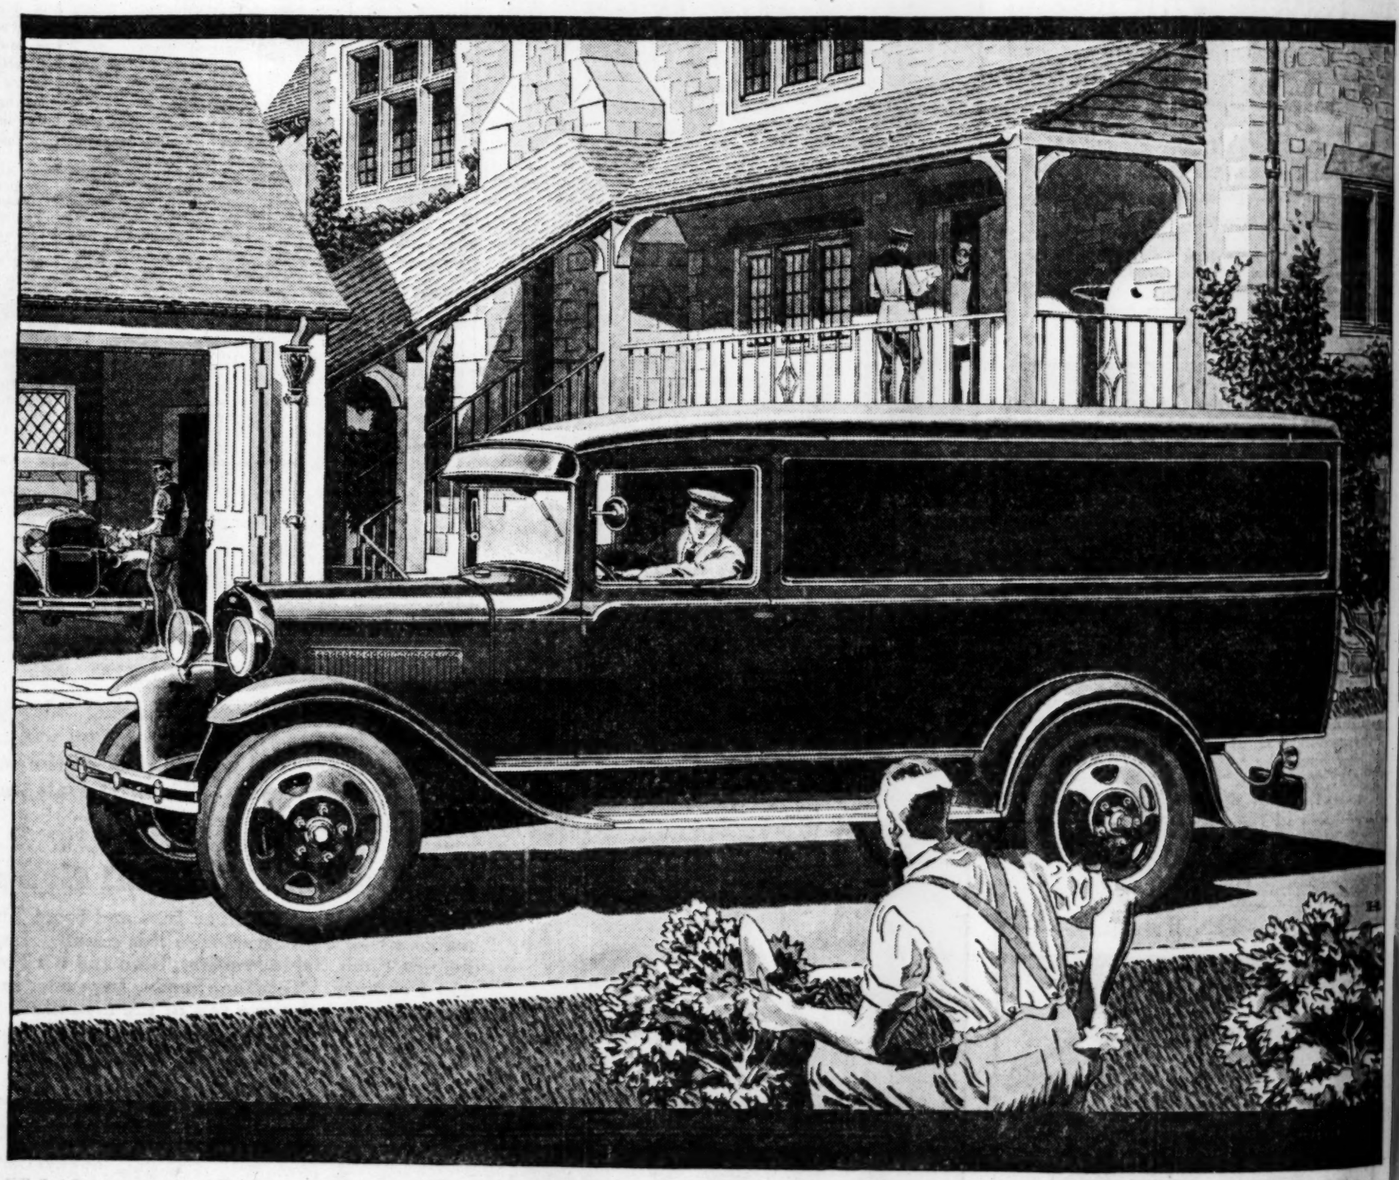
The Ford Truck serves many businesses



THE FORD 1½-TON PANEL DELIVERY

THROUGHOUT the country, Ford trucks are serving a large number of businesses,, under the widest possible variety of conditions. Whether delivering merchandise promptly for smart retail shops, or moving gravel by the cubic yard, the Ford truck gives value far in excess of the price. It is a sturdy truck, always ready and able to hurry a load to its destination . . . and to do it at low cost.

The Ford truck has a good engine. It develops its full 40 horsepower at 2200 r.p.m., which is but a medium engine speed. Wear on moving parts is thus reduced, and many miles added to the life of the truck.

Because the fuel, lubrication, ignition, electrical and cooling systems are simple in design, their operation is highly reliable. Bearings and reciprocating parts are held to close limits of accuracy in size and weight, by means of precision-gages in the hands of expert workmen. For example, the diameter of piston-pins is held within three ten-thousandths of an inch. The result is decreased wear, longer life, and improved performance.

Other features of the truck, which increase its ability to serve you both long and well, are the 4-speed transmission, which provides a wide range of speed and power; the new rear axle, which has a spiral bevel gear with straddle-mounted pinion; the option of two gear-ratios; the larger brakes; the heavier front axle and spring; and the dual rear wheels available at small additional cost.

Standard bodies are the panel, stake, and platform types, all of which are sturdy and good-looking, with ample loading space. Both the open and enclosed cabs are available with the stake and platform bodies. These bodies are mounted on the chassis with 131½-inch wheelbase. For carrying loads of greater bulk, a chassis with 157-inch wheelbase can be supplied. Go to your Ford dealer today, and examine this truck in detail.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and Mr. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has known better days. Mrs. Colt wants Theresa to marry Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work. For Christmas he sends her a thousand dollar bond.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. When he confesses, Theresa feels he has deceived her and she will not forgive him. He breaks his engagement, and the girl infuriated, sells his letters to a newspaper. Johnny returns to his father's home. Theresa tells her mother she will marry Billy Treadway and writes to her father, who calls and tells Theresa it would be criminal for her to marry Billy.

INSTALLMENT XXXI

A LAST WISH.

Theresa heard Mrs. Nulman's front door closing gently as Katie, with her robust energy, flung wide her door. Everywhere doors, closing, opening; a yard of crêpe fluttering in the wind from a door, a symbol of one; for another, a stork on a card. But for Theresa was only the thought of the woman below who breathed so laboredly and of her stepping beyond that threshold which divides with a stab of enduring anguish—the living and the dead.

* * * * *

Katie, having cleaned house all that day and walked up, down stairs and ladders and across bare floors to the extent of many long miles, was dressed to go to a dance with him, and elated by the thought of more walking to music. But she forgot the beckoning joys of the evening as she saw Theresa's stricken face.

"What's the bad news, kid?" she probed anxiously; she drew Theresa within a room where once had been love's garden—tended by Johnny—and here, Theresa told Katie—"the bad news."

"You set yourself down," Katie ordered. And speaking, she took from her frizzled hair a metal toque with "violets kinda mashed to one side real cute." She had been trying it on "against" that night, which was to have been, for Katie, "a real dressy affair." "Gotta telephone," she stated, "but I'll be right back. I'll boil yuh a negg when I come back. Mrs. Seefy she give me some farmer's eggs today—I done a little extra fer her—make yerself comfortable, kid——"

Kind Katie, but—impossible—that last, to do! Theresa waited by Katie's window, staring blindly across one story, red painted, tin roofed kitchens which, grown of wood, leaned against the main, brick houses. The narrow, long stretching rear yards did not, this evening, depress Theresa. One overlooks small discords in a blare of pain! A cat picked her nicely fastidious way along a slat that topped a leaning fence. Theresa watched the cat's progress in that dull, concentrated manner which grows of full shock.

Her mother; pneumonia! And a doctor talking under-voice, and a nurse, so kind, yet stern.

Katie, in Mrs. Nulman's main hallway, dialed a number to hear a "Yeh?" and this made her bark into the telephone a harsh "Who is this?" and Herman's "hussy of a landlady" [the shameless offerer of potpie!] responded with an equally harsh "Well, who do you want?"

"You get Herman Plonk to the phone and don't take all day to it, neither, see? I happen to know he's at home so don't try none of yer funny tricks," said Katie, who admitted she was not one to be downed in such argument as waxes most fluent across a fence.

The landlady, after bestowing upon Katie a new title, complied with Katie's gentle request. Then Herman's "Yeh?"

"Herman," said Katie, "my little kid's mother got awful sick on her and I gotta stay with the kid. I don't see as I could do nothing else."

"Why, sure!" he agreed. It was just like Katie, Herman knew. Deeply and for-all-time-in-love was Herman, who revealed the grand passion by offerings of hot dog sandwiches, pinches, ursuline hugs, and loud, smacking kisses.

"I feel awful bad, darling, but there ain't nothing else to do," Katie went on.

"Why, sure!" Herman said yet again. He, too, felt there was nothing else to do. "You didn't leave no friend down; you went and set with 'em when they was sick, takin' bananas or anything handy, and cheering, or—the season being right—a crab cake."

"They ain't no one like you," Katie said loudly. Herman asked anxiously whether "this here sickness" was catching. Katie felt him relax when she said no. A few minutes later Katie hurried up the stairs.

Somehow, for Theresa, the evening passed. The taupe that had been twilight was swallowed in that black which can be night . . . rain coming, and no stars . . . Theresa moved around the office sitting room . . . Once or twice she stroked Lucky cajolingly, eyes closed as she stroked: who; of us is not turned back to childhood's hopes and gestures by real need? Dr. Dart came, to stay for a considerable time, left. Katie appeared to say that she had fixed her cot for Theresa; Theresa slept [a little] upon Katie's cot. Six times during the long night she tiptoed down Mrs. Nulman's chilly third floor stairs to "see how things—were;" then—back again to creep under cover and there to lie wide-eyed in the dark—shivering.

At noon the next day Mrs. Baum appeared to ask how she had been "took" and when. Mrs. Baum had happened to see Dr. Dart go in the Bellevue court door, and then she had seen him stop at "Lamberts." Then Mrs. Baum had happened to go into the Lambert's to find Mr. Lambert wrapping a pint of whisky which he marked for Mrs. Colt, and Mrs. Baum had put two and two together—Theresa heard the tale dully.

A half hour later Mrs. Detwiler brought wine jelly. She had "heard it" from Mrs. Baum. Billy came with a masculine sacrifice: "a quart of the real old stuff." Something in Theresa's eyes kept him from making heavy love to her, and so grateful she was for this that she almost liked him—again. At five Mrs. Lambert brought a little bunch of violets which smelled of earth and upon which Elsie Colt, in a short, lucid interval, smiled. But, then tossing, she began once more, shrilly, "I might have known Barrington would never—get—on! I was—a fool! A fool!"

Dr. Dart came four times that day, and a night nurse named Wantz was engaged. She came, hearty and cheering, but nothing and no one could really cheer. Dr. Detwiler stopped in at six to say that if there was anything he could do Theresa was "just to say the word and it would be—done!" Kindness leaps always as life wanes. After Mrs. Stipe got "Miz Mullin's wash into the tubs to soak [which was at eight that night], Mrs. Stipe appeared with her offer "to wash the dishes around fer nothin'," but Katie, who had sent all her "customers" word that she wouldn't "be around," was doing all that and—considerable loud sniffing over the way the nurses got ice on the floor while chipping ice.

B. Jones halted to say in his heavy, slow way that he would be glad to "run any errands," and the idea of his running disinterred Theresa's smile for a short space, but in a wry, unsteady version.

That, in rough, the history of the first full day of Elsie Colt's illness.

* * * * *

The next afternoon Laura Smith Ames heard, at a tea, that "that woman" was critically ill with pneumonia. A group near who had been talking of it loudly, saw her to hush. Laura's cup danced on its saucer.

A little later she overheard again an item concerning "the girl" who was "pitiably upset." Miss Willis had reported to a broadcasting friend.

Laura picked up her bag to draw her furs close. She was going home. She sick in animals and humans hunt holes in which to hide. At home she sat close to the boy, who was playing, this day with spools, reasoning that if any one helped "the girl" it should be her uncle, Frank Hillis. She had passed him on the street that day to realize that he looked white and sick, and to remember a whispered tale of his "taking something" to make him sleep. She watched Arnold narrowly as he ate his dinner to decide he hadn't heard of it.

That same evening Elsie Ames Colt became quite sane to ask for her daughter.

"Darling——" she panted in a weak whisper as Theresa stood by her bed, "Mother wants to—see you—married—to Billy."

Miss Willis shook down the thermometer.

"Whatever you want—Mother."

"It would make me—me—more comfortable—going!"

"O, don't—darling!"

* * * * *

Laura could not sleep that night. She listened to Arnold's heavy regular breathing, to tiptoe away twice in order to see that the boy was covered.

GASOLINE ALLEY—OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS BUT ONCE

SEE ALL THOSE LANTERNS HANGING ALONG THERE, EMILY. I'VE BEEN WISHING WE HAD ONE.
BY GOLLY, THEY'RE GOOD LANTERNS — JUST LIKE WHAT I'VE WANTED
BUT, AVERY, YOU WOULDN'T TAKE THOSE. THEY'RE TO KEEP PEOPLE FROM RUNNING INTO THE DITCH AT NIGHT.
OH AVERY! DOESN'T THIS SUNSET SCENE THRILL YOU TO YOUR VERY SOUL!
YEAH. YOU KNOW — THERE WERE SIX OF THOSE LANTERNS. FIVE WOULD HAVE BEEN PLENTY FOR 'EM.

Good Morning!

I hold that it's worth thirty-five cents of anybody's money to hear Noah Beery singing in his deep growl as how "one little drink makes him BIGger and BOLDer; two little drinks make him WILDer and OLDer; three little drinks put the world on his SHOULDer," while a few quarts not only don't harm he, but make him "head of the ARMy!" I sure love a Beery!

The singing, the color, the excellence of cast, photography and sound, and the beauty of the leading lady, Bernice Claire, give this picture its pull. The story is not convincing—and the direction might have been better, my dears.

Russia is the locale and the revolution background for the tale. A sort of Russian Joan of Arc goes about singing and inciting her people to rebel until one day a great light dawns on her. For light, see pix. She hides, and while under cover falls in love with a prince—one of the once hated aristocrats. O, O!

Enter the jealous Communist Konstantin [Mr. Beery], who always has been crazy for Aniuta and has been hunting her ever since her disappearance. He compels "The Flame," as she is called, to start singing again—or off will come the head of her prince! — with such results as you shall learn if you go to the Orpheum theater, where it is very nice and cool.

The music is really charming and the color effects a delightful eyeful.

QUALITY: Rather shoddy.
PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.
ACTING: Fair.
DIRECTION: Mr. Cruze shouldn't be too proud.
SOUND: Good.
DIALOGUE: Ordinary.
STORY: Has its points, but they've been carelessly cared for. Carlos, a café violinist, adored by women, is "Cock o' the Walk"—a conceited darling. He marries a mysterious lady, whom he discovers when she's about to commit suicide, under an agreement that she shall take out insurance in his name and defer for a year her tieup with the heavenly throng. The denouement? Well, the less I say the more you'll enjoy the picture, I reckon. I only wish to remark that I don't believe a word of that jail break.

REMARKS: Don't judge young Mr. Schildkraut by his work and conversation in this one, because I DON'T think he's to blame. Miss Loy and other good players in the cast also do their best in the face of odds.

See you tomorrow.

Dolls and Pet Animals Paraded in Czech Festival

Favorite dolls were trundled in their carriages and pet animals were led and carried by youthful owners in a parade on 26th street near Hamlin avenue yesterday afternoon. The event was part of a celebration sponsored by the American National Alliance of Czecho-Slovaks in conjunction with 26th street business men. The American Legion, Boy Scouts, Boys' club and other organizations cooperated.

Bohemian Music Played at Ravinia Full of Gay Tunes

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A solo of an unusual and seldom heard kind was presented in the course of the concert of Bohemian music at Ravinia yesterday afternoon. Vaclav Jiskra, the eminent principal of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's double bass section, brought his huge instrument to the front of the stage and played a fantasia by Kuchynka, another bass player who lives in Prague.

Seemingly, the composer had access to the same folk material as did Smetana when he wrote "The Bartered Bride," for a number of tunes were identical in the two works. They are good tunes, losing none of their gayety in the effective way that Mr. Jiskra played them. The double bass is not a brilliant instrument, sounding like a softer and deeper toned cello, but Mr. Jiskra did some astonishing things in the way of waking it out of its customary slow pace, playing harmonics, rapid scales, chords, and other things that bass players usually keep to themselves.

The piece was not only new to Ravinia but a first performance on the part of the orchestra. Mr. Jiskra was encored.

There were other reminiscences of "The Bartered Bride," for the other soloist, John Weicher, played an arrangement of its polka for violin solo. He, too, was encored.

Most of the orchestral music was from the pens of Smetana, Dvorak and Suk, and charming music it is. The Czecho-Slovakian vice consul, Ladislav Urban, made an address showing great enthusiasm for Bohemian music, an enthusiasm which can be shared by those not of the Czecho-Slovakian race, also for Ravinia, in which he was also entirely correct.

Want Legal Holiday to Recall Massacre Near Ft. Dearborn

The Chicago Association of Commerce is urging recognition of Aug. 15, the anniversary of the Fort Dearborn massacre, as a legal holiday in Illinois to commemorate the courage and sacrifice of the state's pioneers. Gov. Emmerson has been asked to issue an official proclamation to set aside the 118th anniversary as a state holiday.

The association has arranged commemorative services for next Friday. An army bombing plane is to strew a ton of flowers along Michigan avenue from the site of old Fort Dearborn, now occupied by the London Guarantee and Accident company building, to 18th street and Prairie avenue, where the fort's garrison was slaughtered by Indians. An army bugler will blow taps at the monument marking the scene.

Women Asking World's People to Outlaw War

Peace League Says That Treaties Aren't Enough.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—World-wide demand for "total and universal disarmament" was sought tonight by the 26 national sections of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom by soliciting signatures for a petition sent to members of the organization throughout the world.

The petition forwarded to American members of the league was printed in English, French and German with blank spaces for ten signatures. In the directions to members on the reverse side it was urged that signers be asked for "a dollar and if not that a dime."

American headquarters of the league here announced that Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, international president of the league, was the first American to attach her signature to the petition. Among those abroad who were said to have signed the petition were Prof. Albert Einstein, the countess of Oxford and Asquith, Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the British chancellor of the exchequer; John Galsworthy, the writer, and others.

"In spite of the official renunciation of war grave danger to peace still threatens," the petition said. "Will the peoples allow their governments to prepare their destruction? Let them unite and demand world disarmament."

The petition asserted that "whole populations are in danger," and enumerated methods of destruction, including poison gas and incendiary bombs.

In conclusion, the petition requested the governments of the world to take necessary steps to achieve world disarmament.

Moscow Atheists Form Anti-Religious University

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The All-Union Society of Militant Atheists today decided to establish a central anti-religious university in Moscow with facilities for 400 students. Anti-religious professorial chairs will also be created in existing universities in Russia.

The society further plans the opening of seven other anti-religious schools in various parts of Moscow province.

Polish Alliance, Fifty Years Old, Recalls Days of Its Founding

Celebrating the 50th anniversary of its founding in this country more than 1,200 members of the National Polish alliance met yesterday afternoon at the Chicago Stadium. They also had a banquet last night in the La Salle hotel. Seth W. Richardson, an assistant United States attorney general, was the principal speaker. Anthony Czarnecki, collector of of U. S. customs, was toastmaster.

Mr. Richardson said: "The people of Polish blood in this country have brought to this land devoted patriotism, high ideals and a wide variety of talents which have rendered splendid service."

There are 300,000 members of the alliance in this country, John Romaszkiewicz, president of the alliance, declared, with 70,000 members in Illinois, 45,000 of them in Chicago. The founding of the organization in 1880 was inspired as a protest by American Poles against oppression by Russia, Germany and Austria in their native land. "Its goal now has become that of the encouragement of education and social welfare, Romaszkiewicz added.

Other speakers last night were Casimir W. Sypniewski of Pittsburgh, grand censor of the alliance; Mrs. Magdelene Malewski, president of the woman's department; Alexander Szczspenski, Polish consul general; Charles S. Deneen, United States senator; Oscar Nelson, state auditor, and Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area.

15,000 Hear Musical Contest in Peoria, Ill.; Winners to Sing Here

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Before more than 15,000 persons here the champions of central Illinois, who will compete in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE festival in Soldiers' field Aug. 23, were chosen this afternoon. The contest was in Glen Oak park and was sponsored by the Peoria Journal-Transcript.

Tenor—Orville A. Brokaw, Tiskilwa, Ill.
Baritone—Robert Winifred Durdee, Havana, Ill.
Bass—Jack W. Borland, Peoria.
Trombone—Russell Hale, East Peoria, Ill.
Saxophone—Lewin Elliott, Peoria.
Cornet—Leonard Koeder, Pekin, Ill.

THE STAGE

FOR the third time the opening of the Grand Opera house with the revue called "Artists and Models" has been postponed. The latest date to be announced is Monday, Sept. 8, and doubtless that is final. This entertainment, staged last spring in New York, is being polished up for a Chicago run. James Barton is a recent addition to the company.

The approach of Mae West in her tour de force called "Sex," which was suppressed by the New York police season before last, has been threatened for several weeks. Now, however, it is a definite promise. Miss West will bring this opus to the Garrick theater on Monday evening, Aug. 25. . . . There will be another première that week: "The House of Fear," a mystery melodrama with Miss Cecil Spooner heading the cast, at The Playhouse, on Sunday evening, Aug. 24.

Labor day usually brings six or eight theaters to the starting post, but the promises for that holiday are somewhat vague at present. The Selwyn, however, will anticipate the rush by disclosing "Lost Sheep" on Saturday evening, Aug. 30. This play was a mild shocker on Broadway last spring; it deals with a clergyman's family, containing three pretty daughters, that unknowingly moved into a house whose portals had formerly been adorned with red lanterns.

The cast for the Chicago engagement will include: A. P. Kaye, Walter Bingham, Ruby Hallier, Wilfred Clarke, Cecelia Loftus, Sidney Fox, Valerie Cossart, Patricia Calvert, John M. Troughton, Harry McNaughton, Rex O'Malley, William H. Sams, Walter Plinger and Ronald Dexter. Jack Donahue, the dancing comedian, is a business partner in the "Lost Sheep" enterprise.

The Dramatic League of Chicago, which will begin its subscription season at the Princess theater Oct. 6, announces these plays for its program, in the order named: "The Girl in the News," by Attila von Orbak, adapted by Frederick and Fanny Locke Hatton; "Death Takes a Holiday," with Philip Merivale in the leading rôle; "The Man in Possession," by H. M. Harwood; "As You Wish Me," by Luigi Pirandello; "Napoleon Intervenes," by Walter Hasenclever; and "Doctor Harmer's Holiday," by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero.

There is a definite possibility that "Hotel Universe," by Philip Barry, will be staged at the Goodman theater in the course of the coming season. This was a recent Theater guild production. Mr. Barry is willing, and Hubert Osborne, new director of the Goodman, is enthusiastic over the idea. If the Theater guild says yes, and the Goodman's play reading committee approves, and the trustees of the Art institute think the play has "entertainment value," and the members of the Goodman repertory company are suited for the rôles, this dream may come true.

The Goodman theater believes that the change in its organization which divides the repertory company from the school of acting has solved many of its difficulties. Its bulletin on the subject says:

"The recent decision of the trustees of the Art institute to create separate departments of the theater and the school, with separate heads for each, is expected to relieve all confusion, internal and external, as to the major objectives of the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman endowment. The studio will devote itself to little theater experiment without the financial worry of public support. The repertory company will be conducted as a business enterprise, including in its program plays of entertainment value along with revivals and flings at the classics."

Jane Cowl will begin rehearsals of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" this week. Her company will include Leon Quartermaine, Arthur Hohl, Walter Kingsford, Jessie Ralph, and Joyce Carney.

Hindenburg Has Hopes to Tour U. S., Kill Bears

But Wants 2d Term as President First.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—"I would like to go to America on a visit, but I don't like to be interviewed, and don't you think I would be interviewed an awful lot there?" President Paul von Hindenburg asked his friends in an intimate chat.

There would be some delay in the visit, however, for President von Hindenburg explained:

"My first presidential term ends next year, but I now believe I should run for a second term—that would be another seven years."

The German president will be 83 next October. He looks fit. After a second presidential term Von Hindenburg would like to go to America to "see Yosemite and the grand canyon, possibly Niagara falls, but, above all to go on a good hunting trip. We do not get much bear hunting here, and I would love to shoot bear in America."

In a few days President von Hindenburg will go to Bavaria on his annual hunting trip in the mountains.

"Many of these younger men," he said, "stay in the castle and just go out a little bit from time to time—I don't call that hunting. I want to be out all day and camp out at night as often as that can be done. That is real hunting. You get all the real good air you need, and that is what counts."

"What is your health creed?" he was asked.

"Long walks in the open air," he replied. "I would not be president of Germany today if I could not go for a long walk every day, sometimes four or five hours with a dog.

"Then an important thing, if you want to keep well, keep away from doctors, don't believe what they tell you. I have been told I must not say anything against doctors and their cures, but I believe open air is much better than they are."

Diplomatic circles in Berlin tell with delight of a party given recently by Von Hindenburg in which the wife of the Italian ambassador sought a statement in favor of a dictatorship or a monarchy. The ambassador's wife is a sister of a prominent Berlin banker.

"When in Bavaria you will meet our dear Prince Rupprecht and probably shoot on his hunting grounds," she said with a smile.

"I will not see Wittelsbach and I will do my shooting on the estate of old personal friends, and then go to the state domains of the republic," Von Hindenburg replied. Finally, after prince after prince was mentioned in a similar way, Von Hindenburg, consistently ignoring the first names and titles, lost patience and said:

"Germany is all right. I don't want the government to be weak for it must guide the country firmly, but our country does not have to fuss with dictatorship experiments. Let everybody do his share and things will be improved I am sure."

The ambassador's wife glowingly described "our Italian Fascism." Von Hindenburg listened, then asked quietly, "But originally you are from Berlin?" He made her talk about her father's famous art collection.

Cardinal Attacks Stage Productions of Greek Farce, Modern Revue

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—A formal attack under the auspices of Cardinal Hayes was launched throughout the archdiocese of New York today against what the Roman Catholic authorities call "obscene plays" in this city.

The bulletin contains an editorial headed "Classics and Modern Animalism Exploited." It was admitted at the cathedral rectory this evening that the first paragraph referred to "Lysistrata," the adaptation of Aristophane's comedy by Gilbert Seldes, now being played, and that the second paragraph referred to the "Vanities."

The editorial says:

"A classic of unabashed pagan mockery, as audacious an assault upon public decency as has ever been perpetrated on our stage, cannot, it seems, be reached by the police.

"Another production, speciously claiming to be artistic, but which, in the words of a prominent critic, is meant to be 'nude and leering and close to the mood of the gutter,' has actually come within the clutches of the law."

Wife, Regarded as Slave, Balks; Tells Her Woes

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Some men seem to possess the old slave instinct about wife management and get away with it—for a time. The other poor fellows whose lives are being ragged out of them trying to please "the old girl" must entertain a secret admiration for one who can make his wife work from dawn to midnight without having to pay her a nickel for her services.

Not that we're recommending the system for the downtrodden's admiration. Because the particular wife in the slave case referred to is already inquiring where she can get a room cheaply. Proving that pre-civil war tactics or European methods of wife handling do not go in America—for long. Not with our marriage doors swinging on the easy divorce hinges they are so well known to be!

But fancy at 22 being condemned to this form of penal servitude in the land of the free:

Abuse for spending ten cents for bus fare when five blocks beyond there is street car service that costs a nickel.

More abuse for asking for the price of a pair of shoes, the first purchase solicited in a year and a half of marriage!

Up at six to get breakfast, clean up the house, do washing and ironing, prepare the dinner vegetables and shop in order to be on duty in the husband's store at eight a. m. In charge of the store from that hour until 11 and 12 at night, with only time enough off to get lunch and dinner ready. Request for one evening off a week or a Sunday to catch up on housework and sewing denied.

Threats to leave, at a sister's solicitation, simply laughed at. The last threat made at the suggestion of the man's own mother met with: "You wouldn't dare. Nobody else would hire you!"

Any one with the physical strength to stand that many overtime hours in a day need not worry about employment.

Sandman Takes a Long While to Come, Sometimes

A booklet on "Sex Education" will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This is a question and answer day.

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I have a little girl, aged 5½. She is a fine child, and plays in a natural way with children her own age all day. She rests a little after her bath and lunch. She is put to bed at 7 o'clock in a quiet, airy room. It takes until 8:30 or 9 p. m. for her to fall into a sound sleep. She lies and tosses in her bed until that time. Leading the regular, natural life that she does, I think sleep should overtake her immediately on being put to bed.

"Can you suggest anything? Do you think it is natural for all children this age to toss about for 1½ hours before sleeping? And constructive criticism or suggestions will be appreciated by "Mrs. ———."

The answer follows:

My dear Mrs. ———: I do think that an hour and a half is too long for a child to lie awake. There are several possible reasons why your little girl, who lives such a happy normal life, does not go to sleep more readily. I will run over a few:

She may play too hard before bedtime.

She may have stories told or read that are too stimulating just before bedtime.

She may be overtired from not having had a long enough nap or rest time during the day.

She may have had either too much or too little supper. Hunger keeps children awake sometimes or makes them wake up too early.

Or—and this is quite possible—instead of being overtired, she may not need so much sleep and a later bed hour—perhaps 7:30 or even 7:45 might find her just tired enough to drop off easily. Later you might go back and try the seven o'clock hour again.

There is this bit of information that would be encouraging to many mothers: Ordinarily children do not drop off to sleep instantly. It takes the majority of them about twenty minutes to relax enough to go to sleep—and some longer.

Steaming the Face Helps to Remove Small Defects

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Using hot water on the face is one of those things not recommended for complexion upkeep. It is drying to the skin. It has a softening effect on the tissues. This is counteracted, however, to a large extent, if, after the hot water is used, cold follows—plenty of cold water.

Where one is fighting blackheads, however, very warm water is recommended for use. An occasional steaming is also advocated, the latter not to be indulged in more than twice a week, which is enough for the treatment of blackheads. The principle of steaming is to open the pores and make it possible to remove the blackheads with more ease. And, incidentally, it is not a bad idea in fighting blackheads to indulge in an occasional Turkish bath, which works out the steaming principle even more effectively.

If, when one goes into the hot room, she will cream her face well and do a bit of massaging while waiting to warm up, and remove this cream before going into the steam room, then from the steam room on to the shower enjoy the further advantages of skin cleaning, a clearer complexion is one of the things she will get out of the venture. In fact, it is a nice way of getting a facial. But, of course, you have to be told again that the face must be turned to the cold water as the final touch of magic. And because there is ice handy about these establishments you are asked to give yourself a bit of an astringment treatment with a good ice rub on your face.

But to get back to the steaming and hot water for the blackhead condition: In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred there is a greasiness or oiliness of skin in connection with heavy blackhead conditions. And the hot water, used in moderation, as I say, is excellent for the oily surface.

For the acttual steaming process clean the face first with a cream, if you will, then with soap and water and a complexion brush. Have two towels working during the operation. The pores open under the action of the hot towels. Remove those black spots that will come out with light pressure. Don't force them out. Don't use bare fingers, but use a small extractor or operate with a small piece of clean linen held in the fingers. Then rinse the face with warm water.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Youngest Set Plans Hunting at Onwentsia

Lake Forest's junior equestrians are looking forward to an exciting program during the hunting season this fall.

While their elders are riding to hounds over the country west of Lake Forest, the children will be taking part in a pony drag and a gymkana of their own, in addition to their annual horse show.

The committee for junior fixtures at Onwentsia has announced that there will be two drags each week, on Wednesday and Saturday mornings, beginning Aug. 30. When the weather gets cooler and school opens the drags will be held in the afternoons. There will be a small pack of hounds and David Wilhelm and Annie May Henry, dressed in hunting livery, will act as whips.

The gymkana will be held on Sept. 6 in the club horse show ring. It is to be a fancy dress affair, with each child in costume. Prizes will be awarded for the most beautiful, the most original and the most ridiculous regalia worn.

The annual children's horse show, which usually is held on July 4, will take place this year on Sunday morning, Sept. 14, at the Austin Niblack's place, the Paddocks. Mrs. Niblack is an active member of the children's horse show committee at the Onwentsia junior stables.

The marriage of Miss Mary Fentress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress of Hubbard Woods, and Burwell Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Dodd of New York, will take place at 4:30 this afternoon in the gardens of the Fentress residence. Miss Fentress will be unattended, and the groom will have his brother, Edward H. Dodd Jr., as best man. A small reception will be held after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Forgan of Lake Forest drive are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son last Monday at Alice Home hospital. The baby is to be named J. Russell Forgan Jr.

Members of the Junior Garden club, an auxiliary of the Lake Forest Garden club, met for luncheon at Mrs. Henry Isham's residence on Friday and afterward attended the Lake Geneva flower show. Gardens of members will be visited tomorrow by a landscape architect and a junior garden club committee for the awarding of prizes to those rating highest in design, color, and succession of bloom.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schweppe of Lake Forest, with their daughter, Miss Jean Schweppe, and their niece, Miss Mary Reed, daughter of Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, will return next week from Europe. They attended the tennis tournaments at Wimbledon and the Davis cup matches in Paris. Mrs. Reed is abroad with Mrs. John G. Shedd and probably will not return until early September.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin D. Trowbridge have returned from their wedding trip to England and have taken Miss Frances Gould's house on Washington Circle in Lake Forest for two months. Mrs. Trowbridge was Miss Lillias Dell Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Frank Webster of Bronxville, N. Y., before their marriage on June 19.

The Bertrand Ambergs have also returned from a European honeymoon and are residing at 11 East Goethe street. Mrs. Amberg is the former Miss Agnes Ward Keeley, daughter of the Richard Thomas Keeleys of Madison, Wis. Mr. Amberg's sisters, Miss Agnes and Miss Virginia Amberg, are back from a trip to Europe, too. Their parents, the John Ward Amberg of 1311 North State street, plan to leave this week for a ten day stay at Mackinac.

Mrs. Benjamin H. Brewster III, of Baltimore, Md., and her son, Benjamin Brewster IV., are visiting Mrs. Brewster's parents, the William B. McIlvaines, at the Chicago club at Charlevoix, Mich. The John B. Lords have returned to Charlevoix after having spent a week in Chicago. Other recent arrivals include Miss Nancy Jane and Miss Mary Evans, who are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Arthur T. Evans, and Mrs. R. Douglas Stuart with her children, Anne, Margaret Jane, and Robert Douglas Jr.

Recent additions to the list of boxholders for the National Air races to be held from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1 at the Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport include Walter S. Carr, Leonard Florsheim, Samuell Insull Jr., James M. Hopkins Jr., John Wentworth, Gerhardt F. Meyne, Lloyd A. Lafin, James N. Rawleigh, Vaughan C. Spalding, S. E. Thomason, and R. C. Vilas.

Miss Jessie and Miss Catherine Colvin of Lake Forest will sail from Quebec tomorrow for a six weeks' motor trip in Europe.

Lieut. Floyd S. Crosley, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Crosley, with their two children, Floyd Jr. and Elizabeth, are visiting Lieut. Crosley's parents, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Walter S. Crosley, at the Great Lakes naval training station.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dennehy of Lake Forest were recent visitors at Baden-Baden, Germany.

[Neff Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Schlenker of 4243 Greenview avenue announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth Hutton, to Harold Lawrence Nelson of Springfield, Ill., to take place next Saturday. Miss Schlenker is a graduate of Oberlin college and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Margaret Elna Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Riordan of 7922 Paxton avenue, to David J. Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Stafford of 7522 Crandon avenue, will take place next Saturday morning at Our Lady of Peace church. A reception will follow the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents. Miss Collins is grand president of Sigma Phi Omega.

The marriage of Mrs. Baker De Clerque of 425 Surf street to Roderick Nourse of Hartford, Conn., took place last Wednesday in New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Nourse will reside in Hartford.

Mrs. Wilmore Alloway of 7106 Normal boulevard announces the marriage on July 25 of her daughter, Alline Barbara, to James Marion Fredrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fredrickson of 7601 East End avenue.

Sally's Crowd Soon to See Jack and Jill

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I know that all the young theater goers in the vicinity were delighted with the announcement yesterday of our next summer party which is to be at the Jack and Jill theater on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 23. If you are interested in the stage, have histrionic leanings or have ever taker part in a play yourself, you will enjoy what these young thespians have to offer. They are boys and girls, no older than you, who have been working under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley and are finished actors and actresses. Their programs are extremely interesting ones and that planned for the afternoon of our party sounds especially enjoyable.

There will be three one-act plays each of a different nature and the setting of each one is in a different part of the world so you can't help but be thoroughly entranced with them. The first on the program will transport us to the days before the civil war when southern plantation owners kept large numbers of slaves. One of these was "Li'l black Heliotrope," devoted to her young white mistress who in turn is greatly attached to the colored girl. A cruel aunt decides to sell Heliotrope and the darkey's tricks and antics in escaping this calamity are very funny indeed.

Then there will be "Wee Willie Winkle," by Rudyard Kipling, and the magic carpet of Jack and Jill carries us off to far away India, where the action of this play takes place. Then you rub your eyes and the scene is again changed—we are in Ireland and "The Pot of Broth" is being enacted before our eyes. This is the play by William Butler Yeats and its principal character is an Irish beggarman who pretends to make a pot of broth out of a stone to fool a man and his wife.

Now that I've told you all about this fascinating party, I know you want to know what you must do to win an invitation to it. Well, I shall have as my guests 100 girls and boys and I want them to be the ones who will enjoy such a day most. So write me letters, you who are interested, and I shall select the 100 writers who sound the most anxious to see the Jack and Jill players. These must reach me no later than next Thursday morning and they must include your name, address and age.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover has as her week-end guests at the Rapidan camp Mrs. Cheatham, wife of Brig. Gen. B. Frank Cheatham; Mrs. Henry B. Flather and Mrs. Gerrit S. Miller Jr., all of Washington. They are interested in Girl Scouts' work. They went with Mrs. Hoover to the Girl Scouts' summer camp in the Shenanadoah valley. They will all return to Washington tomorrow.

The chief justice and Mrs. Hughes sailed yesterday for this country after a vacation in Europe. They will come at once to Washington to see about taking possession of their new home here, which was occupied last winter by Miss Helen Cannon, who is now in Paris. Chief Justice and Mrs. Hughes will go on to Chicago Aug. 20 for the American Bar association convention.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont has gone to Lake Forest to join his family for the remainder of this month. They will return here after Labor day, which this year comes on Sept. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hamilton today announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Emily, to Nelson N. Alexander of New York City and Harriman, N. Y., the son of Mrs. Alexander and the late Thomas Alexander of New York City and Harriman, N. Y. The wedding will take place this winter. Mr. Alexander is a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton at their country home north of Washington.

Announcement is made here of the forthcoming début of Miss Katrina McCormick, daughter of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick and the late Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, at a ball to be given at the Mayflower hotel on Dec. 27.

Morning Ensemble in New Patou Print

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris is preparing certain big changes that will be fully revealed only by the August openings. But many indications permit us to do a little fashion fortune telling, and so we'll pass it on to you right now. One of these changes vitally concerns the surface of our fabrics. The tendency is all away from rough textures toward smooth, and away from spotty patterns toward plain. This does not mean that there will be no more prints, but it does mean that the new prints will be cloudier and less definitely spaced; many of them give a sort of marble-veined effect faintly reminiscent of batik backgrounds.

Jean Patou uses one of these new prints to make the effective morning ensemble, sketched today. It's of marocain in dark moss green and beige, and its pattern, or rather lack of pattern, reminds you of the mossy bark of some light tree.

The dress features one of Patou's new box plaited tunic skirts. Both tunic and underskirt have six wide box plaits—three in back and three in front. Those of the tunic are stitched about half way down from the fitted hip yoke, allowing a slight flare above the knees. The band stitched down the front of the blouse, which extends on to the hip yoke where it is finished with two self-covered buttons, is repeated in the back by a free band attached to the curved stitched band that underlines the collar and to the tailored marocain belt over which it buttons.

The accompanying coat just covers the hem of the tunic. It is finished with a stitched band of itself and is worn with the collar of the frock outside. Three horizontal bands ornament the hip line and finish the sleeves. This frock has been selected by Comtesse Albert de Mun, one of Patou's smartest clients.

GIRL'S DRESS.

This sports dress for the junior girl has little shoulder capes that give the impression of flared sleeves, and a pert bow finishes the V neckline. The straight skirt has circular godets inserted at either side, providing a soft flared fullness that suggest princess lines. Any of the usual cottons or crepe de chine, plain or printed, will be attractive.

The pattern, 2601, comes in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Offers Boy Scout Suit.

"I have a Boy Scout suit for a boy about 13 years of age. Do you know of some one who would like to have it?

Mrs. V. S."

The young scout whose financial circumstances forbid his buying the uniform he wants would do well to write me for this one. Your letter must bear the O. K. of your scout master.

Bright Sayings of the Children

One day a group of friends were sitting on the porch, when the family cat jumped from the ground to the top of the railing—quite a distance. One of the ladies remarked about it, when up spoke little Louise, saying: "Well, he ought to be able to jump, he's full of grasshoppers." L. V. C.

Food Talk.

In these days of modernism it may seem stupid and antediluvian to some to talk about a quiet half hour to build reserve strength in body and soul. Not a few of us seem to regard rest and quiet as a nonessential. We go at a breakneck speed several hours without stopping. The result is we are fast becoming a tired, nervous, complaining generation. Not so wise as we think we are, else we would intelligently intersperse work with a reasonable amount of rest. Just a little time off in the middle of the afternoon would help tremendously in both the home and the office.

When the long shadows of the afternoon appear and we become weary and feel as though those last two or three hours will never pass, I always think how pleasant it would be if one might have a short surcease from the day's activities. Fatigue is best relieved by complete relaxation. The best way to relax is to lie down and take a nap. But this is not always practical.

For generations the people of England and Scotland have served afternoon tea to refresh their family and friends. This custom also existed with our early American colonists, and I am glad to know that New England still has many homes that hold on to the practice of serving afternoon tea.

If tea is to appeal to us it must, of course, be as good as tea can be made.

Don't make tea at 7 a. m. for use at 3 p. m.

Don't forget that the Chinese use no sugar, and they know tea.

Don't think that one slice of lemon will satisfy your guests.

4 tablespoons tea put into tea bags or porcelain tea strainers.
8 cups freshly boiled water [cold water that has been heated just to the boiling point should be used].
Cracked ice.
1 large orange.
3 lemons.

Rinse the pot with boiling water and put in the tea. Add boiling water and steep 5 minutes. Drain at once into a pitcher filled with cracked ice. Chill 3 minutes. Add the juice of orange and lemons. Sweeten to taste; add as garnishes slices of lemon, pineapple, orange, Maraschino cherries or mint. This tea must be made strong as the melted ice reduces the strength. Yield: 8 servings.

CORNED BEEF HASH.

Salt and pepper.
½ cup milk or water.
2 tbsp. butter or other fat.

Mix beef and potatoes lightly and season. Pour the milk into a frying pan with half the fat, and when this is warm turn in the hash, spreading it evenly and placing the rest of the fat, cut in pieces, on the top. Cover the pan and place it where the hash will cook slowly for half an hour. There should then be a rich, thick crust on the bottom. Do not stir the hash.

Fold it as an omelet is folded and place it on a warm platter. This slow process of heating the hash gives it a flavor that cannot be obtained by hurried cooking.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Bees Increase Fruit Crop.

Illinois bees have been handed bouquets of both flowers and compliments by the apple and other fruit growers most numerous in the southern part of the state. That was discovered last week in a two day tour of "Little Egypt's" honey and apple districts by beekeepers and members of the Illinois Horticultural society.

Some of the latest methods include placing bouquets of flowers in the orchards at the time when pollination is being carried on by the bees in gathering nectar from apple blossoms. This cross pollination often means an appreciable increase in fertilization and a resultant higher crop.

Instead of placing hives in one larger cluster or colony in an orchard, those orchardists keeping up with the times are arranging the individual hives of bees so that there is one to about every 200 feet in each direction through an orchard. This is said to be a valuable aid to pollination of the fruit blossoms during murky days when the bees do not care to travel very far from their hives as they have possibly only an hour or two in which they can work during the day between rains.

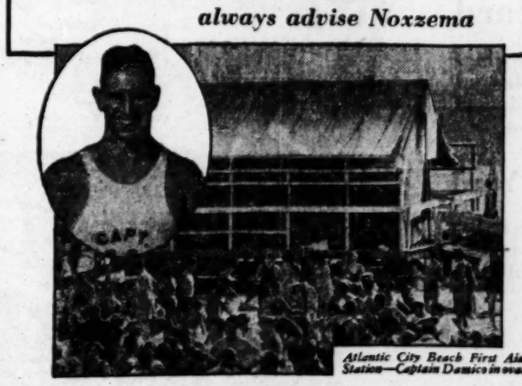
SUNBURN?
Beach First Aid Stations always advise Noxzema



Atlantic City Beach First Aid Station—Captain Damico in oval

Relieves pain instantly doesn't stain clothes

WHY SUFFER with painful sunburn when you can get sure, immediate relief? Treat it the way Lifeguards and beach First Aid Stations do. They all agree on Noxzema Cream as the best sunburn remedy in the world—and they have tried them all!

For example, Captain Damico of the Atlantic City Beach Patrol says: "We have used Noxzema at our First Aid Station for seven seasons. It is wonderfully cooling and soothing the instant you put it on. Noxzema takes all the fire and pain out immediately—prevents torturous blistering."

At Coney Island, Asbury Park and other famous beaches, Noxzema is used for first aid for sunburn. Don't take chances with sunburn—use the remedy that for years has proven most effective. Get a jar of Noxzema today at any drug or department store.

GREASELESS—STAINLESS
Noxzema may be used whenever and as freely as necessary without fear of staining clothes. It is absolutely greaseless—won't stain even the daintiest frock.

CUBS GAME FROM TOP; BEAT BRAVES TWICE

ROBINS LOSE PAIR TO CARDS, 8 TO 2 AND 4 TO 0

Hallahan Fans 12 in Nightcap.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Brilliant pitching by Wild Bill Hallahan and steady mound work by Burleigh Grimes gave the Cardinals a double victory over the Brooklyn Robins here today. The double defeat for the Robins, while Chicago was winning two from Boston, reduced Brooklyn's lead over the Cubs to one game. The Cardinals won 8 to 2 and 4 to 0.

Hallahan Fans 12.

In the nightcap Hallahan was the master all the way. He allowed the National league leaders only five hits and fanned 12. In the third, fourth, and fifth innings he struck out seven of the nine men to face him, five of the strikeouts coming in a row. Elliott and Moss pitched creditably for the Robins, but they had no chance with Hallahan in form.

For six innings the first game was somewhat of a pitching duel between Grimes and Adolfo Luque, but Adolfo blew up in the seventh and was taken out after the Cardinals had scored three runs. Adams, the first batter to face his successor, Dudley, doubled, sending two more runs across. Thereafter Dudley held the Cardinals bitless.

Lose 2½ Games.

During their three days here the Robins have lost three of four games, which, coupled with the Cubs' double victory over Boston, represents a loss of two and one-half games in the standings.

Sparky Adams, Cardinals' third baseman, was the batting hero of the day, collecting six hits and three runs in eight times at bat. These included a triple, double, and single in the first game, and a single and a pair of triples in the second. Scores:

LIPTON LEAVES FOR AMERICA IN QUEST OF TROPHY

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, famous yachtsman, whose challenger, Shamrock V., is now crossing the Atlantic to take part in the America's Cup races in September, sailed for the United States today aboard the Leviathan. He left with high hopes of bringing back the coveted trophy to England.

A wireless on Aug. 6 from Sir Thomas' steam yacht Erin, convoying the Shamrock V. over the ocean, stated that the two vessels were then half way between the Azores and Bermuda.

JUDGE, MEET YOUR OPPONENT

Among the enthusiastic players in The Tribune's golf tournament are Judge Joseph Sabath, left, and Erwin Beyer, who played their match over the week-end, on different courses. Judge Sabath played 18 holes at the Idlewild Country club, while Beyer was traveling around the Pipe o' Peace links. Their cards have not been compared, so the winner is not known. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Hanford Rides 9 Winners; Leads Hawthorne Jockeys

BY FRENCH LANE.

Hawthorne is to be the scene of the most spirited race for jockey honors of the year in Chicago, it was indicated yesterday at the end of the first week of the season.

B. Hanford, an apprentice lad, has taken the lead and is holding it by a fairly wide margin, but before the end of another week C. Corbett, J. Marcum, Willie Garner, and M. Knight will be pushing him for top place.

No jockey has ridden more brilliantly in Chicago this year than Hanford during the first six days of Hawthorne's meeting. He was home first on nine horses. But Garner is showing all his old time skill, while Corbett and Knight have hit their best stride. Thirteen jockeys accounted for all the 42 races that have been run at Hawthorne. The standing is as follows:

Jockey.	Winners.	Jockey.	Winners.
B. Hanford	9	R. Ayraud	3
M. Knight	5	A. Richards	2
C. Corbett	3	J. Redding	2
J. Marcum	3	D. Trivett	2
W. Garner	3	P. Neal	1
E. Gianelloni	3	O. Laidley	1

Old Display's comeback has not been marked by any great success and his chance of overcoming Zev for high money winning honors on the American turf are not bright. After watching him run eleventh in the 13 horse Hawthorne handicap Saturday many racegoers wondered if Walter J. Salmon will wait until next year to retire him definitely from the turf.

Except that he was away slowly after delaying the start for 10 minutes Display had no excuse to offer in the Hawthorne handicap. But that is the way he has always run, far back until reaching the stretch—then an electrical rush that often brought victory. When he failed to show that late burst of speed at Hawthorne Saturday many of the Display followers were of the opinion he is just a ghost of the once great Display.

There is to be another meeting of that crack quartet of western 2 year olds which includes Insco, Siskin, Don Leon and Back Log. It will come in the Chicago Juvenile championship stakes to be run later in the Hawthorne season. Insco's victory in the Post and Paddock stakes at Arlington stamped him as the best of the lot, yet Siskin, Back Log and Don Leon all had bad luck in that race. Siskin has been training in a way at Hawthorne that indicates he will make Insco run the greatest race of his career if he hopes to take his measure a second time.

The crowds at Hawthorne are not speculating as they did a year ago, according to John C. Schank, president of the Hawthorne Jockey club.

"Our attendance for the first week showed a big increase over last year but the play through the mutuel machines was not as large as it was for the first week in 1929," he said. Mr. Schank blames uncertain track conditions which prevailed most of the week for the falling off in wagering.

Many additional horses and several jockeys will make their first appearance at Hawthorne today, coming from Latonia where the summer season closed Saturday. The Johnson N. Camden stable is among the larger establishments moving here from the Kentucky track. Kenneth Russell, who rides for the western division of the Harry Payne Whitney stable, will be among the jockey arrivals.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan is trying to make route runners out of several sprinters at Hawthorne. The Del Prado purse, which features today's program, finds several of the fleet short distance racers going into action in a mile and 70 yard event. Gracious Gift, Calome, Sweet Verbena, Skibo and Sweeping Willow are among them. Flat Iron, which hasn't been able to win but once at any distance in the last two seasons, will also take a flyer at the prize.

Barnes Beats Sellers in Ohio Valley Tennis Final

Covington, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., won the men's singles title in the twentieth annual Ohio valley tennis championships by defeating Robert Sellers of San Francisco today, 6-0 6-1, 6-3. Karl Kamrath, also of Austin, won the junior singles championship by defeating Jimmy Meyers of Cincinnati.

Mr. Alexander Submits His Idea of Ten Best Bouts

Chicago Daily Tribune,
Dear Sir:

In response to your suggestion that the general public propose ten boxing matches and attractions for Chicago, I submit the following. These will have the effect of drawing large sums at the gate as well as eliminating a lot of national pests.

FIRST BOUT—Jack Dempsey and Bishop Cannon of the Virginia Methodist church, one hundred ten minute rounds at catch weights with one ounce gloves made of terra cotta.

SECOND BOUT—Primo Carnera vs. Al Singer, the former to be barehanded, the latter armed with a six pound sledge hammer, pointed.

THIRD BOUT—Amos 'n' Andy, at either end of a stone corridor, sixteen feet long, armed with machine guns.

FOURTH BOUT—Senator Heflin of Alabama, on a bicycle, vs. Westbrook Pegler in a Mack truck equipped with an asphalt roller in place of front wheels.

SIXTH BOUT—The Rockford W. C. T. U. vs. the Louisiana Anti-Racing association; tug of war at either end of a half inch steel cable studded with broken Canadian ale bottles.

SEVENTH BOUT—Abe Attel vs. a team composed of Joe Jackson, Ed. Cicotte, Buck Weaver, and Swede Risberg, in an exhibition of plain and enthusiastic blanket tossing on the cornice of the Stevens hotel.

TENTH BOUT—Adding machine contest between a Mills 25 cent slot machine and the cash register in a loop speakeasy.

R. M. ALEXANDER.
4718 North Drake avenue, Chicago.

Mr. Alexander's letter was sent to the sports editor in THE TRIBUNE'S contest to determine the ten most popular bouts which would be arranged in Chicago. The contest closed last night and the results will be announced tomorrow.

OFFICIALS AREN'T BEARING DOWN AT SARATOGA, EITHER

N.Y. Racing Center Agrees with Miami on Gambling

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Complaint has been made to the governor of New York that games of chance are running quite openly in the roadhouses and casinos in and around Saratoga, where the race meeting is now being run off, with considerable commercial benefit to the local citizens.

The law forbids roulette, faro, craps and all such highly speculative diversions, so it goes without saying that some of the officials of the region must be grafting. It is impossible to run a gambling house openly and frankly unless the law officers are induced not to bear down and any one who is disinclined to believe this cynical view of the situation can test the accuracy of the same by renting some house or store premises, moving in the regulation equipment and setting up in the gambling business without consulting the local officials.

It's Very Simple.

The furniture can be obtained from dealers in New York, Chicago or Kansas City and the personnel to run the wheels and tables can be picked up very readily upon inquiry at any race track. Business has not been exactly booming in the gambling line since last fall when most of the casual money went back to work and there are nowadays about ten experienced spinners for every spinning wheel in this country.

But if any one should casually move into such a place as Saratoga or Miami and set up such an establishment without first conducting negotiations with the proper authorities the police and sheriffs would descend upon the house within one hour.

Still the grafting system of regulation appears to be the only feasible method of controlling the gambling business in those hypocritical American communities of which there are several where there is no productive local industry and the populations pursue a parasitical existence, living off the people drawn to their midst by the attractions of climate, scenery and privilege.

Visitors Wouldn't Stay.

If the local officials did not impose some fee upon the gambling operations there would be no limiting the number of gambling houses, and yet if they refused to permit gambling at all the visitors would go elsewhere and the local citizens, after a meager season, would express their indignation by voting them out of office at the next regular election if, indeed, they did not hold a recall election to put them out sooner.

In Miami the grafting system has not been successful, either, because there has been no dominant authority or boss to whom the fix was payable and from who reliable privileges could be purchased. Last winter the gambling operators, a remarkably trustful group, considering the vicissitudes of their business and the dishonesty of humankind, proceeded to Miami and opened their stores serene in the belief that having paid the stipulated fix beforehand, they would be allowed to pursue their calling without molestation. But they had not been operating long before there ensued a series of raids, some of them attended by the most wanton destruction and personal violence.

It was then discovered that another source of authority had not been consulted in the original arrangements. There was a demand for further inducements and while some of the operators were willing to pay any reasonable price for peace, some others merely called up the sheriff of another jurisdiction, close at hand, and arranged to transfer their business to his county. He bade them welcome because his county had always been overshadowed by Miami and legitimate business and unofficial pickings were poor.

This would have meant that much revenue would leave Miami, for the people who frequent gambling houses

BIG DAY FOR HACK AND CUBS

Hack Wilson celebrates the rout of the heat wave by hitting three home runs during the Cubs' double victory over the Braves. The pudgy outfielder is crossing the plate after his second circuit drive in the first game. Others present are the batboy, Catcher Cronin of the Braves, and Stephenson, who is awaiting his turn at bat.

Sox Have Him Stopped, Donie Bush Admits

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—Donie Bush, to whom is entrusted the management of the White Sox, is on the verge of letting himself become a grumpy little old man. He admits it himself.

The cause is a realization that little headway has been made in rebuilding the Comiskey entry. In the spring Bush had something to look forward to. He anticipated worth while services from various athletes snared from the minors. During training and for the first week or so of the season he saw some of these possibilities blossom and he felt great strides had been made. But the blossoms were only morning glories, and now Bush knows he must start all over again.

Jolley a Disappointment.

One of the keenest of the Sox disappointments is Smead Jolley, who was purchased from the Coast league at an excessive price. He was selected because it was figured he could knock the lining out of American league pitching. He hasn't done so. He has an average around .325 and a fair amount of home runs, but that means nothing. He is a poor fielder, a slow man on the bases, and is a hindrance unless he can bat .360.

Cissell, for whom great things were predicted a year ago, also has slipped back instead of coming forward. He was so erratic at short that he was tried at second. He was the same there, and third base was handed to him. The latter position gave him more trouble than the other two. Bill is back on the bench now, but eventually you may find him doing business at the old stand—shortstop.

Faber Hurls Today.

Bush isn't saying much about what he would like to do to make his outfit a championship contender, but he undoubtedly feels that not more than a dozen men now in his care are worth keeping. Of the pitchers he probably would set aside Lyons, Thomas, Faber, Braxton, McKain and Caraway. Tate is the only catcher worth while, with Crouse next.

Outside of these battery men Reynolds, Watwood, Fothergill, Cissell, Kamm and Mulleavy, if he develops, could be used in the construction of a contending team.

The Sox will get down to business again tomorrow, but with only one game scheduled against the Mackmen. Faber will be asked to pitch. Mahaffey is expected to start for the champions. Immediately after this battle the Sox will hop a train for Washington, where they are billed for three days of labor starting Tuesday.

OUTBOARD CHUGS UP RIVER DESPITE MOTOR TROUBLE

Carruthersville, Mo., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The And How III, tiny outboard motorboat, attempting to set a new record between New Orleans and St. Louis, passed here at 5:17 p. m. today. The And How III left Cottonwood Point, fourteen miles down the river at 4:45 p. m. after stopping there to refuel.

C. H. Mickler, pilot, said at Cottonwood Point that he had experienced motor trouble which greatly reduced his speed. Mickler said he had not seen the Vivian G, the only other boat remaining in the race. The Seabird cracked up late yesterday and two other entries went out earlier.

Mickler still had an excellent chance to better the present record from New Orleans to St. Louis. The record, held by Dr. Louis Leroy's "Bogie" of Memphis, is 87 hours and 31 minutes.

Wilson Drives Out 3 Home Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The cool wave yesterday drove Hack Wilson into a frisky frenzy, causing him to knock out three home runs in the course of the Cubs' double victory over the Boston Braves. Spectacular as Hack's work was, however, it did not overshadow the sterling performances of Charley Root, who shut out the Braves, 6 to 0, on three hits in the first game, and Pat Malone, who allowed five hits in hanging up an 11 to 1 win in the second contest.

Hack knocked his first homer with one on in the first inning of the first game, his second with one on in the third inning of the first game, and his third with two on in the second inning of the second game. The first two sailed into the right field bleacher. To vary the monotony of his home run artistry Hack knocked the third homer over the left field wall, a spot he rarely selects.

Ties His 1929 Record.

Wilson's third homer was his 39th of the season, and tied his best previous season record, made last year. He has 44 more games in which to make five homers to beat the National league record.

The double barreled victory, while Brooklyn was losing a doubleheader to the Cardinals, enabled the Cubs to gain two games on the Robins, whom they now trail by one game. Today the Cubs and Braves will engage in their final, with Blake pitching against Cantwell. And tomorrow the Robins themselves come to Wrigley field.

Yesterday's games furnished ample food for thought for the superstitious. Root's airtight victory was his No. 13 of the season and Malone's triumph likewise was his No. 13. Prior to the Root victory the Cubs had lost seven consecutive Sunday encounters. It was a bum day for jinxes.

Malone Wild in Fourth.

Two of the three hits made off Root were propelled by his erstwhile teammate, Freddie Maguire. Freddie made a single with two out in the second and a double with one out in the fifth. After his second hit Maguire got to third on an infield out. No other Brave got as far as second. Malone had only one embarrassing inning, and it wasn't so embarrassing because the boys, including himself, had staged an eight run uprising in the second inning. In the fourth inning Pat allowed a single, a double, and hit two batsmen, but the best the Braves could derive from all this was their one run of the day.

And before we pass from the pitchers, be it noted that both Charley and Pat did some hitting on their own. Charley batted .667 with a walk, a double and a single, and Pat batted .500 with two singles. Malone scored after each of his hits.

The Braves were beaten in the first inning of the first game, although they didn't know it at the time, of course. Blair popped to Chatham to start the Chicago offensive, but English lined a single to right. Cuyler was called out on strikes. Then Hack hit his No. 37, a beautiful arc which reached half way up in the right field bleachers. English scored ahead of Hack.

Hack Drives In Two More.

English led off the third with a tap to Sisler. Cuyler cracked a single to center and then Hack stepped up and walloped No. 38. This one was a liner, a bit harder hit than No. 37, but it landed in about the same spot.

The Cubs operated on Hack's production until the eighth when some of the other boys decided to make a pair of runs on their own. Stephenson walked and stopped at third on Grimm's double to right. He scored and Grimm progressed to third on Hartnett's sacrifice fly. Farrell doubled, scoring Grimm. Root and Blair struck out through sheer politeness.

The onslaught in the second inning of the second game was touched off by Maranville's fumble of Grimm's bouncer. Hartnett sent a hot single at Chatham's insteps, and when the Braves' third baseman threw the ball away Grimm pulled up at third and Gabby at second. Farrell then drove them home with a single to left. Malone also singled to left, Farrell stopping at second. The bases were full after Blair's single to short left. English singled to right, scoring Farrell. Cuyler caromed a double off Maranville's shins, Malone and Blair scoring and English stopping at third. At this point Brandt relieved Cunningham.

More Runs in Eighth.

Although there was no need for the demonstration, the Cubs opened up a bit in the eighth inning. After Hartnett had been thrown out, Farrell singled and went to third on Malone's hit. Blair doubled, scoring Farrell, and English walked. For the second time in the game Cuyler doubled with the bases full, this time scoring Malone and Blair and putting English on third, exactly the same activity as resulted from his double in the second inning. Wilson walked, but the Cubs' offensive was over for the day when Stephenson hit into a double play.

HOPPING INJURED AS REGULARS WIN IN POLO TEST

Reds Spotted 8 Goals but Lose, 14-13.

Port Washington, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Despite fresh injury to Earle A. S. Hopping, who fell under his pony in the seventh period, Capt. Tommy Hitchcock's white clad polo ists spotted the Reds an eight goal handicap and beat them today, 14 to 13, in one of the most exciting tests held for the American international team this year.

Hopping, who returned to the saddle last Wednesday after a two weeks' layoff due to a previous fall, narrowly escaped serious injury. His pony, caroming off an opposing mount, lost its balance in turning. Both mount and rider went down in a swirl of dust.

Returns to Game.

The animal partially pinned Hopping down as it rolled over, but the young player extricated himself quickly and jumped to his feet. Hopping's right side and leg were bruised and his right elbow cut, but after a short rest he returned to the saddle. Hopping plays at No. 2.

Hopping had just scored the goal putting the Whites in the lead for the first time when he tumbled. He then figured prominently in the final period rally which saved the game for the regular forces after the Reds had retaken the lead. With less than two minutes to play, Hopping tied the score and Eric Pedley, No. 1 man, put through the winning goal.

In the midst of the finishing excitement the Reds also suffered a casualty. Rube Williams, the Texan, riding at No. 2 against Hitchcock, was slashed by a mallet in the toss-in and his right hand cut to the bone. After receiving first aid he continued play, scoring the goal that put his side temporarily in the lead.

34 Goal Lineup.

The Whites, with Pedley, Hopping, Hitchcock and Guest, presented a 34 goal lineup that many critics believed will be the combination to face the British challenge in September for the International cup. It outscored the Reds 14 to 5, but it took some sharp shooting by Pedley, plus some fine defensive work by Guest and Hitchcock, to overcome the stubborn resistance put up by the "Jayvees."

Lineups and summary:

WHITES [14].	Position.	REDS [13].
E. Pedley	No. 1	W. A. Harriman
E. A. S. Hopping	No. 2	R. H. Williams

SHIELDS, VINES BEATEN IN GRASS COURT SINGLES

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Two of America's leading young players were eliminated in the second round of the eastern grass court championships today.

Frank Shields of New York, 12th in the national ranking, was defeated by a virtual unknown, Arthur S. Fowler of New York, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1. The second favorite to fall was Ellsworth Vines Jr. of Pasadena, winner of the recent metropolitan turf court title. Vines was beaten by Bryan Grant, Atlanta youth in three sets, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Most of the other favorites advanced without trouble. Big Bill Tilden, defending champion, won two matches today to gain the third round, as did John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., Eddie Jacobs of Baltimore, Dick Murphy of Utica, N. Y., Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, and Wilbur F. Coen Jr. of Kansas City. Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, who had won his first round match yesterday, defeated A. Lincoln Halberstadt of New York, 8-10, 6-3, 6-2, to gain the third round.

Both British entrants, H. G. N. Lee and S. J. Perry were beaten. Lee was eliminated in the first round by Edward W. Feibleman of New York, 6-2, 6-3. Perry, after beating Isidore Blitchik of New York, 6-1, 7-5, was beaten in the second round by Sutter, 6-3, 6-3.

Ruth, Combs, Goslin and Blue Hit Homers.

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Yanks outslugged the Browns to take their sixth straight and their third in a row over St. Louis by a score of 14 to 11 today.

Home runs played a big part in the scoring. Ruth hit his 42d, while Combs, Goslin and Blue also rapped out circuit clouts. Goslin drove in four runs while Ruth sent in three.

The Browns started off with a four run lead, but Coffman could not hold it, while Holloway, who relieved Pennock, failed to last. Johnson wasn't much better, but got credit for his second victory in two days. Score:

Open Cowes Regatta to American Yachts

COWES, Isle of Wight, Eng., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Competition for the king's cup at the famous Cowes regatta will be open to yachts from all over the world next year, according to an announcement made here. This will enable the American yachts now being groomed for the defense of the America's cup to enter against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V. in the next king's cup race. Previously this race had been open only to craft of the royal yacht squadron.

Pontecante Wins Mile Race at Deauville

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Pontecante, bay son of Guemel, out of Ponthcartrain, belonging to Robert Lazard, won the Jacques Le Marois stakes, Deauville's annual mile for three year old colts in 1:37 today. The track was made sloppy by a pelting rain. Jefferson Davis Cohn's Potiphar, favorite, was second, and Edouard Esmond's Golden Manna, third.

Fishermen Are Urged to Report Labeled Catches

BY BOB BECKER.

Any Illinois fisherman who catches a bass, crappie, bluegill, white bass, catfish, or other fish that has a tag on it should report his catch to David H. Thompson, zoölogist, state natural history survey division, at Urbana, Ill.

There are a lot of fish swimming around in Illinois waters with labels on them and the scientists want to know when and where any of these are caught. The idea is to secure more data on the travels of our finny tribes. Some of them are regular vagabonds, a fact that will influence the restocking of lakes and streams with certain species because there is no use in planting 100,000 fingerlings of this or that species if the adult fish are going to pack up and move when they are two or three years old and finish the rest of their days in a neighbor's fishing hole.

Michigan has just learned that the rainbows do this very stunt. In both Michigan and Wisconsin there also are large numbers of fish wearing tags, so anglers in those states should be on the watch for any of them and report their capture to the conservation departments.

David Thompson tells us that in Illinois he has tagged 39 large mouth bass which now are living in the Fox river and lake country. Rock river has only twelve small mouth bass tagged and released, so the chance of picking one of the marked fish is slim.

But in the Fox river and lakes country in northern Illinois there are hundreds of other species wearing labels. R. P. Drews of Chicago snagged one of these the other day. He hooked and landed a rock bass (No. 2,602) that had been tagged in Pistakee lake June 26, 1929.

Mr. Thompson says that 32 white crappies, 102 black crappies, 26 warmouth bass, 12 sun fish, 29 pickerel, and 29 rock bass have been tagged in the Fox lake country. If you hook and land any of these be sure and report their capture.

RECORDS SAFE AS WORLD TRACK MEET CLOSES

DARMSTADT, Germany, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The so-called international intercollegiate track and field championships came to an end here today with no record performances.

Simson of England, won the 400 meter hurdles in 54 2-10 seconds, with Lincoln, United States, second in 55 2-10 seconds. Koernig, Germany, won the 200 meters in 21 5-10 seconds, and Mueller, Germany, the 800 meters in one minute 58 2-10 seconds.

The 5,000 meter went to Dahlstroem, Sweden, in 15 minutes 24 seconds, and the javelin throw to Suski, Finland, with a toss of 217 feet 10¼ inches. Nishida of Japan won the pole vault at 13 feet 5 13-16 inches.

Mackie Sinks 15 Foot Putt for New York Amateur Title

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Jack Mackie Jr., son of the professional who taught Helen Hicks to become a star golfer, won the New York state amateur title today at the Lakeville club at Great Neck, L. I. His victory came on the 36th green, where he ran down a 15 foot putt for a birdie three. The loser was Pennington Miller-Jones.

Saratoga and Miami Agree on Gambling

are not habitual gamblers in the main but citizens of good quality who spend, in the aggregate, a large amount of money for food, hotel accommodations, taxi hire and sports attire. But Miami then reconsidered, an adjustment was effected and the gambling houses which so lately had been attacked as a moral blight upon the city were permitted to do business without further difficulty until the end of the season.

Gambling and grafting from the gamblers have been recognized pursuits in Saratoga for sixty years. John Morrissey, the heavyweight prize fighter, who became a member of congress for a time, ran one of the earliest, if not the first gambling house there, and Richard Canfield later conducted another palace of chance in a mansion in the heart of town, set within a park which subsequently passed to the city.

In recent years the games have been conducted in roadhouses called clubs, some of which have contributed an appearance and reputation of genteel refinement. Certain of the aristocrats of the horse business, or distinguished turfmen as they are called, delight to dine, dance, drink, and speculate in the more exclusive houses, and it can hardly be contended that any of the roadhouses are disorderly resorts, for, aside from the music in the café rooms and the subdued click of the chips on the tables in the gambling rooms, there is very little sound.

It's a Problem for Officials.

The public official in such a resort confronts a problem in popular hypocrisy which permits of no honest solution compatible with political success. Citizens of Miami, for instance, are dry and moral for political purposes, rejecting all candidates for public office who would candidly admit the necessity for liquor and gambling in Miami's business. But they resent suppressive gestures by their dry and moral public servants.

Saratoga's local population is of similar character, and any official who would close the town in accordance with those statutes and amendments which are held sacred above all others would be condemned by his electorate as an enemy to local prosperity. Politicians are pretty much alike everywhere, and in such places as these they adjust their conceptions of law enforcement to the desires of their constituents, reflecting, probably, that the people are the responsible hypocrites after all.

Pros Are Most Honest.

Of all concerned, the most honest are the professional gamblers, who, among themselves at least, maintain a remarkably scrupulous and simple system of credit and moral rating. A gambler who pays off is all right, but a welcher is a zebra, and these two classes are all there are in this migratory trade. Changes of reputation are posted from one end of the country to the other in very little time.

Sentimental about their loyalties and cynical about the morals of the public, they stake their sick, bury their dead, and recognize no honest man in public life with the exception of Alfred E. Smith. There is a great social and ethical distinction between the professional gambler and the racketeer.

Once, at a roadside restaurant, in the piney woods near Shreveport, La., I came upon an old faro dealer with reminiscenes of gambling houses in Denver, Chicago, Butte, San Francisco, New Orleans, Hot Springs, and St. Louis. After forty years of it he was frying chickens, in person, for a small and not at all sportive clientele and serving them in person, too.

"My mother's old," he said; "she got to ageing about five years ago, so I thought I'd come home and find some way to make a living so I could stay with her. There she sits, as healthy as ever and good for ten years if she's good for a day. But she needs me and I suppose the long and short of it will be that I'll be out here in the woods cooking chickens the rest of my life. It gets lonesome at night sometimes."

Hines Wins Kentucky Singles Championship

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Witmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., won the Kentucky state tennis singles championship here today by defeating Robert [Lefty] Bryan, Chattanooga, Tenn., in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

Mangin and Bell Win in Net Doubles

Southampton, L. I., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin of the United States Davis cup squad today triumphed for the second straight year in the men's doubles final of the Southampton tennis tournament.

The victors, who last year defeated William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, today had a much easier time in retaining their doubles laurels, besting R. Norris Williams 2d, and J. Gilbert Hall in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-1.

Compared to their semi-final encounter with Sidney Wood Jr., and Frank Shields, yesterday, Bell and Mangin merely had a practice workout in winning today.

The superiority of Bell and Mangin was apparent from the beginning of the match. They got off to a good start by taking the first set, 6-3. Williams and Hall played their best in the second set, forcing the winners into extra games.

Hall and his veteran partner thrilled the gallery by giving Bell and Mangin spirited opposition in the second set.

ARCHERS TO OPEN 50TH ANNUAL U.S. MEET TOMORROW

The fiftieth annual tournament of the National Archery association will open tomorrow morning on the green just north of the Field museum in Grant park. It will mark the 50th anniversary of the first archery tournament held in Chicago, at which the city's social, financial and civic leaders crowded the seats of the old White Stockings baseball park.

Among the bowmen to face the targets tomorrow will be Dr. E. K. Roberts, national champion, and such famous shots as Dr. Robert P. Elmer, Carl Thompson, and Dr. Paul Crouch. Mrs. Audrey Grubbs of California will defend her national title in the women's division. Among the younger men and women will be a number of rising archers, including Robert Hoogerhyde of Michigan, who won the midwestern championship a month ago.

The events to be shot are two York rounds of 144 arrows each on Tuesday and Wednesday, two American rounds of 90 arrows each on Thursday, a team round for club championships on Friday and several novelty shoots, including flight or distance shooting, the old English clout shoot and shooting at a 2 inch wand at 100 yards. Corresponding women's rounds will be shot simultaneously.

Chicago will be represented by a score of archers, including Mrs. Tyler Price, Illinois women's champion, and Fidelis Harrer, Chicago champion. The tournament will be open free to spectators.

LAST TRACES OF INDIAN SAVAGERY SOON TO VANISH

Plan to Make Better U. S. Citizens of Red Men.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Eradication of the last traces of savagery among the American Indians with a view to making all of them industrious, self-respecting citizens is the objective of the government's reorganized bureau of Indian affairs, Commissioner C. S. Rhoades told President Hoover in a report made public today.

"It is our purpose to discourage the proclivity of the average Indian to participate in circus, rodeos, wild west shows, and similar enterprises and to direct him toward a more dignified and more permanent means of livelihood," Rhoades declared.

Plan Change in Schools.

"We propose to give the Indian a practical education along vocational lines whenever possible, to make better provisions for his medical needs, to assist him in finding and keeping a job, to increase the productivity of his land, and to give him the advantages of modern organization and business methods to the end that we may hasten the day when he will be able to assume entire responsibility for caring for himself and his problems just as does his white neighbor," the report stated.

Courses of study in Indian schools are being changed to place greater emphasis upon vocational training, Rhoades said.

Taught by Special Teachers.

In its efforts to make the Indians self-supporting, the bureau of Indian affairs has established a system for securing employment for Indian school graduates, Rhoades explained. Special agents have been employed to instruct them in agricultural and stock raising pursuits. A government selling agency to market the products of Indian handicraft such as pottery, baskets and rugs have been contemplated.

Within the Indian bureau itself Commissioner Rhoades stated, decentralization of activities is being brought about through the placing of more responsibility upon superintendents and others in the field and these in charge of the various divisions of the Washington office. He added that routing correspondence and reports are being reduced as far as possible.

SAYS FORMER KAISER WILLING TO RETURN IF GERMANY CALLS

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The former kaiser is willing to return to Germany "if the fatherland calls," in the opinion of T. St. John Gaffney, formerly in the United States consular service and a consul general in various German cities during the Wilson administration. Mr. Gaffney has known the former kaiser for twenty-five years and invariably visits the former German ruler on his annual trips to Europe. Mr. Gaffney, a resident of Summit, N. J., returned yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Stuttgart.

While the former kaiser would consider in a favorable light an invitation from his countrymen to return to them, he would "under no circumstances" return without such an invitation. Mr. Gaffney said the former ruler, asked directly by Mr. Gaffney if he had any intention of making a visit to Germany, replied:

"Never will I return to Germany, unless the fatherland wills that I be recalled."

Fleet of Ferries Electrify Water; Separated at Night

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Because they made a gigantic electric cell of the bay waters around their slips, the vessels of the Coronado ferry fleet have been separated at night.

The steel hulled Coronados was berthed close to the Morena and the Ramona, whose hulls are copper sheathed. The two metals plus salt water caused the liberation of current such as takes place in a wet cell battery. There was not much current, but it was decided to moor the boats on opposite sides of the bay to prevent corrosion of the hulls.

WHOLESALE DIST. ENJOYS PICKUP IN ITS BUSINESS

Conclave of Merchants Draws 2,000.

BY HOWARD CARSWELL.

Activity in the Chicago wholesale district enjoyed a sharp pickup last week, the occasion being the semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants council and the several trade expositions of fall and winter merchandise lines. About 2,000 retail merchants were in attendance at the sundry events of the week.

From the standpoint of attendance and interest in all lines of autumn merchandise, last week's summer market of the Chicago wholesale district was very successful, leaders of the district agreed. The buying, however, appeared rather hesitant and on a cautious scale and was generally made in small quantities, it was reported. Business conditions this year were naturally given as a deterring influence, while drought conditions prevailing over sections of the middle west further aggravated the situation.

Hail from Small Towns.

Most of the visiting merchants in Chicago last week hailed from the small towns. By September, according to well informed opinion in the wholesale district, these small town merchants may be expected to replenish their depleted stocks by buying in more substantial amounts. Retail merchants everywhere have been operating on such low inventories that more substantial purchasing of fall and winter lines will be a matter of necessity, it was pointed out.

Buyers and representatives of the larger city retail stores are expected to begin coming into the Chicago wholesale market for much of their buying, as will buyers generally from the southern and southwestern sections of the country.

Good Attendance.

The several exhibits of ready to wear, jewelry, gifts and artwares and other lines reported excellent attendance at the different hotels where the expositions were held. Gross business, they reported, compared well with that of the summer market of 1928, although that abnormally prosperous year of 1929 stands well ahead of 1930 so far. Butler Brothers reported that attendance of their customer-merchants was virtually the same as at last summer's market.

"Fort Dearborn day" will be the occasion on Tuesday at Marshall Field & Co. [wholesale] for a special bargain day observance.

Tidewater Oil Has Net of $5,595,635 for Half Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The Tidewater Associated Oil company reports a net consolidated profit for the first six months of 1930 of $5,595,635 after deduction of minority interests' proportion of profits, depreciation, depletion and federal taxes, equivalent after preferred dividend requirements to 58 cents a share on the 5,843,937 shares of common stock outstanding at the close of the period. This compares with net profits of $5,042,020, or 56 cents a share on the 5,098,310 shares outstanding during the first six months of 1929. Current assets as of June 30 aggregated $71,469,382, as compared with $70,025,102 at the end of 1929. Inventories of crude oil and its products constituted the greater part of current assets, amounting to $42,051,475 on June 30, against $40,949,368 on Dec. 31, 1929. Current liabilities totaled $12,524,911, compared with $19,788,931 at the close of 1929.

SALE OF AUTO TIRES AT SERVICE STATIONS SEEN REVOLUTIONARY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The recent decision of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and affiliated companies to sell automobile tires at their service stations and the likelihood of a number of other important oil companies adopting the same practice will eventually have a far reaching effect not only on the tire industry but the oil industry, according to those familiar with both industries.

This innovation, it is believed, will finally result in an almost complete change in the merchandising methods of tire manufacturing companies and the independent tire dealer will be practically supplanted by the service stations of the larger oil companies.

During the last few years the number of the independent tire dealers has been gradually decreasing, it is said in the tire trade. Increased competition from the mail order houses, which are selling tires delivered approximately 25 per cent below the regular standard retail prices for tires, has been the most important factor, it is said.

Sale of tires through mail order houses last year, it is estimated, exceeded $50,000,000. This business was almost entirely taken away from the independent dealer, it is said, and it now looks as if the tire dealer's business will be further cut into through competition with the oil companies.

Another factor in the gradual elimination of the tire dealer has been the action of important tire manufacturing companies in extending their retail outlets through company owned stores and super service stations.

Recommends Trading in Wool Top Futures Nov. 1

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The wool committee of the New York Cotton exchange has recommended that trading in wool top futures be started on the exchange Nov. 1. In submitting its favorable report to the board of managers, the special committee said that the November date would provide sufficient time for the adoption of wool top standards by a board of experts, incorporation of wool associates of the New York Cotton exchange and taking other steps incident to trading in wool futures.

A meeting of members of the exchange will be held Aug. 18 to discuss the report.

Dismiss Complaint Against Tailor-Made Shoe System

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The federal trade commission announced that it has dismissed a complaint charging Tailor-Made Shoe System and others of Chicago, retail dealers in ready made shoes, with unfair methods of competition in advertising themselves as manufacturers selling direct from factory to consumer. Dismissal was ordered because the firm is involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

Oliver Farm Equipment Gets Big Russian Order

Officials of the Oliver Farm Equipment announce a substantial order for tractors and combines from the Amtorg Trading corporation for use on the state farms of Russia. Shipments will be made over a period from November to April. The Oliver company did not reveal the size of the order.

SERIOUSNESS OF DROUGHT IS SEEN BY U. S. BUSINESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The overshadowing development in business last week was the realization of the seriousness of the drought which has prevailed over most of the corn producing areas. The damage to the corn crop evidently has been extensive and, as alarm over the situation became acute, the price of corn advanced above $1 a bushel, with wheat following close behind.

The outlook is regarded as too uncertain to admit of accurate appraisal. In financial circles there was sharp disagreement as to the significance of the drought as far as general business is concerned. Apparently the conclusion was reached in Wall street that business would be adversely affected, for the week ended with a sharp decline in stock prices.

Steel Output Sags.

Most of the important indices of business activity were again lower. Steel production dropped to 54 per cent for the industry as a whole after having held at 56 per cent for four weeks. The present rate of operations represents a new low for the year. It has given rise to much disappointment in financial circles where it had been hoped that the steel industry would show the way to recovery in the fall by an improvement early in the present month.

Electric powef production also declined for the week. Car loadings for the week ended July 26 amounted to 919,349 cars, compared with 928,256 the previous week, and 1,101,061 in the corresponding week of last year. The figure was a new low for the year.

Automobile production increased during the week with the reopening of several plants which have ben shut down. The rate of activity was still abnormally low, however. Bank clearings showed an advance over the preceding week, but were 25 per cent below the level for the corresponding week of last year.

The week's record of failures was slightly improved. According to R. G. Dun & Co. there were 452 failures reported last week, compared with 468 the preceding week and 435 a year ago.

Grain Prices Move Up.

As a result of the recovery in the price of wheat and corn commodity indices showed an advance for the week. The movement did not reflect a general improvement in prices, however, for apart from the grains the majority of prices was either unchanged or somewhat lower.

Some firming of money rates took place during the early part of the week, reflecting the month-end settlements, with the result that the outflow of gold was restricted to exports of $12,000,000 made on the first two days of the week. Reports by telegraph from the various federal reserve districts show no definite signs of trade recovery. In most districts conditions continue dull, with the centers affected by the automobile industry experiencing a pickup as the plants reopen after the midsummer shutdown.

SINCLAIR OIL CO. OFFICIAL ENDING PIERCE MERGER

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—A. E. Watts, vice president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company and of the Mexican Sinclair Oil corporation, has been in Mexico three weeks completing the acquisition of the Pierce Petroleum corporation, which was purchased last May.

Absorption of the Pierce interests in Mexico by Sinclair is believed to indicate the purchaser's confidence that Mexican oil legislation will permit satisfactory working by foreign companies of sections rich in oil, but now undeveloped. As far as the Sinclair companies are concerned, the Tamaulipas fields on the United States border; Panuco, noted oil producing district, and southern Mexican oil fields will be exploited intensively as opportunity and local conditions permit.

Mr. Watts is optimistic as to final solution of the difficulties that have arisen from the Mexican law requiring foreign companies to apply for confirmation of concessions already granted to them.

Brown Frence & Wire Cuts Dividend to 60c on Class B

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Directors of the Brown Fence & Wire company of Cleveland, O., have reduced the annual dividend rate on the class B stock to 60 cents from $2.40, by declaring a quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share on the issue.

Universal Lock-Tip.

Is there a company that manufactures shoe laces with new patent lock-tip attachments called the Universal Lock-Tip company of 168 Dartmouth street, Boston, Mass. I would like to know if the stock is listed in Boston and if same has any value.—B. G.

We are informed by Boston Better Business Bureau that the Federal Trade Commission has issued a "cease and desist" order against Universal Lock-Tip company, 168 Dartmouth Street, Boston, Mass.

"The Federal Trade Commission," says the Boston Better Business Bureau's report, "in its finding as to the facts has made an exhaustive analysis of the business, of the stock-selling activities, and of the statements and representations contained in the circulars which were sent out from time to time through the mails. The Universal Lock-Tip company, the corporation, the finding states, has never done any business and has not had, since its organization, any assets of substantial value."

The company's stock has no market.

Building a Foundation.

I would like to get my 16 year old son interested in savings. What would you suggest as a safe investment of about $300? I know most of the better bonds come mostly in blocks of one thousand dollars each. Would some good preferred stock be satisfactory and if so what would you suggest?—Mrs. H. B.

If you wish to teach your son how to invest his money conservatively we would advise letting him first build a solid foundation with sound bonds. Such bonds may be had in denominations of $100 or $500. Good preferred stocks may be added later.

We do not suggest specific securities. Go to a good bank or investment house and ask them to suggest several bonds that would be suitable for the purpose you have in mind. Then if you care to send us the names of the bonds recommended we shall be glad to report on them.

Bickford's Lunch System.

Will appreciate information as to the following: common stock in Bickford's Lunch System, a corporation located in Salem, Mass. Having failed to obtain information concerning the above, I am looking forward with much interest to your reply.—P. T.

Bickford's Lunch System was acquired by Bickford's, Inc., a new company incorporated in New York June 1, 1929.

We suggest that you write there for information about the present status of Bickford's Lunch System common stock.

BULLISH CORN, BEARISH WHEAT IS EXPECTATION

Look for Govt. Crop Report Today.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A bullish government crop report on corn and a fairly bearish statement on wheat is expected at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Estimates on corn are for 2,300,000,000 to 2,550,000,000 bu, a loss of around 500,000,000 bu from the government report in July of 2,903,000,000 bu. This is an estimated crop loss of about 16 per cent due to the drought.

Based on Secretary of Agriculture Hyde's recent statement that the corn crop had been damaged 500,000,000 bu, there would be 2,300,000,000 bu. Last year's crop was 2,614,000,000 bu and the five year average is 2,700,000,000 bu. Private reports given out Aug. 1 showed an average of 2,876,000,000 bu. The lowest of the five estimates was 2,850,000,000 bu by Donovan, the Logan & Bryan crop expert.

Wheat Estimates.

Estimates on winter wheat are for 575,000,000 to 585,000,000 bu, which will compare with 558,000,000 bu by the government in July, and an average of 552,000,000 bu by the private reports. Last year's yield was 578,000,000 bu. Spring wheat returns have been disappointing in many instances and estimates are for 220,000,000 to 255,000,000 bu, as compared with 250,000,000 bu last week and 228,000,000 bu last year. Private estimates average 259,000,000 bu. In the June returns there ware 257,000,000 bu. A lowering of the estimates on oats and barley also is expected.

It is said that the government takes the conditions up to Aug. 5 and secures special information from many important districts later, so that the report should show nearly the full extent of damage from drought.

General Deterioration.

There is said to be corn fields in some sections that are practically dead and will not produce any grain. In 1901, the crop was cut by drought to 1,523,000,000 bu, a loss of 600,000,000 bu from the previous year. There never has been a year when crop deterioration was so general all over the country, particularly in some of the largest corn growing sections of the belt, as has been seen this year. There are spots here and there, however, where beneficial showers have saved the corn, and the prospects are that there will be around an average yield. In the greater part of the country the corn has been irreparably damaged. Where tassels have burned and the crop has failed to pollinize, prospects are poor. The Iowa report suggests that returns indicate failure of the cob to fill.

With pastures burned to about a finish and the hay crop short, a small yield of potatoes, the feeding situation becomes most important and consumption of wheat, oats, rye and barley is expected to exceed any other year. In all, there has never been a season when drought was so widespread, from one end of the country to the other. The cotton crop is smaller than last year and there will be increased consumption of cottonseed meal, soy beans and oil cake to a greater extent than any other season.

Buying Increases.

Speculative buying of corn futures has greatly increased, with outsiders taking more interest than at any time within several years. Prices have advanced around 30 to 33 cents inside of three weeks, and have been close to the $1 level to slightly above.

The market at times met heavy selling for profit, based on prospects of rain, with a break of around 4c or more in a few minutes. It is one of the most erratic markets that the trade has known in years. Outsiders and local professionals bought on all declines and selling on all upturns.

September corn, which sold at 84c the previous week, advanced to $1.01⅝ the last week, reaching the top on Wednesday, with a drop to 96½c on Friday and a close on Saturday at 98⅛@98¼c. May corn crossed the $1 level and December reached 98⅞c at the extreme, with a break of over 6c in a short time and a finish at 94⅝@95⅛c. March closed 96⅝@96⅝c, and May 98¼@98⅜c. Net gains for the week were 9@11½c.

Corn Supplies Small.

A strong feature in the corn situation is that there was practically no accumulation throughout the year and stocks in Chicago are down to 936,000 bu and the total visible is 3,656,000 bu, compared with 8,751,000 bu last year. High prices brought out increased offerings of old corn from the country, and about 1,000,000 bu are estimated to have been bought to come to Chicago during the week.

With a sensational advance, the market is in a strained condition and sharp fluctuations are to be expected and any general breaking of the drought, it is said, would cause heavy selling of futures and a break, which would make the market a better purchase. Prices follow:

Wheat Bulge a Surprise.

One of the greatest surprises ever given the wheat trade of the world was presented by the Chicago wheat market last Monday, which continued throughout the week. The market opened in the "offers" at on Monday after it had closed heavy on the Saturday previous, at the lowest price of the season with the trade bearish and short, and generally despondent

BANKING ARRIVES AT THRESHOLD OF NEW ERA, SAYS LONSDALE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—American banking is on the threshold of a new era wherein the daily routine of the banking business is likely to be affected by new laws, new circumstances, and perhaps a modified public opinion, according to John G. Lonsdale, president of the American Bankers' association, in a statement issued through the American Bankers' association Journal, Mr. Lonsdale urges all bankers to participate in the convention to be held in Cleveland from Sept. 20 to Oct. 2.

"Banking is fundamentally sound. The achievements of the business as a whole in the last decade have been incomparable. It has been the mainspring in a season of unparalleled prosperity and it has held firm, sound and unmoved in the recent period of stock market deflation. The rapidity of modern business change, the strength and daring of business enterprise, the tendency of large scale operations both within and without banking have brought us to the threshold of a new era of banking, wherein our daily routine is likely to be affected by new laws, new circumstances, and perhaps a modified public opinion," said Mr. Lonsdale.

"There are legislative hearings and investigations of banking pending that may lead we know not where. Earnest men in official and in private life are conscientiously trying to find the right of many questions, trying to find the correct answers to perplexing problems. It is the duty of all of us in the profession to help, so that public opinion may be clear and not confused, that our business and all business may pursue a course during the coming years that will retain the prosperity our nation possesses and that will multiply that prosperity," he said.

COMMITTEE ON SUGAR HAS TWO BIG AIMS AHEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Financing of the purchase of additional sugar from Cuba by the soviet government of Russia and appointment of a delegation to open negotiations with European countries for the restriction of sugar acreage next year are the two immediate purposes of the recently formed committee of American and Canadian bankers and Cuba sugar interests, according to reports in sugar circles.

The committee itself, aside from the announcement that its general purpose is "to find and apply remedies for the present deplorable situation," has given no indication of what immediate steps will be taken.

The Russian outlet is regarded as being the only immediate method of relieving Cuba of the present enormous unsold supplies. Russia already has purchased 330,000 tons from Cuba, and is reported to be in the market for about 250,000 tons more if financing can be arranged.

That supplying this demand will be one of the first purposes of the committee is regarded as obvious in sugar circles, inasmuch as Hayden Stone & Co., who have membership in the committee, have been instrumental in financing the purchases which already have been made by Russia. Of these purchases 125,000 tons were sold on a basis of 25 per cent cash and eight-month notes for the balance; 50,000 tons on a basis of 40 per cent cash and three-month notes for the balance, and 50,000 tons were taken for cash.

Reach Merger Terms with Beatrice Creamery

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10.—Tentative terms have been agreed upon for the consolidation of Liberty Dairy Products corporation, Pittsburgh, with the Beatrice Creamery company of Chicago through an exchange of stock. Negotiations during the last six months have terminated in a proposal from the Beatrice Creamery company to be acted upon by stockholders of Liberty Dairy Products at a special meeting Aug. 18. The Pittsburgh company will continue to operate as the Liberty Dairy Products corporation under the same management. Liberty Dairy Products had total assets of $3,385,626 on April 30, 1930, and surplus of $1,846,033.

Seasoned Bonds Hold Preference

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Seasoned issues are still the favorites on the bond market. New offerings were small last week and the continued institutional demand for high grade bonds forced prices up appreciably. The gains made by railroad obligations and, to a lesser degree, utilities set a new high price mark for 1930 as measured by the averages.

Although the bond market was not expected in most quarters to do more than hold its own during the August vacation period, prime corporation bonds have been working steadily toward higher levels. There is a wide spread between their price position and second and third grade issues, but little change in this situation is expected until the investing public shows more interest. Institutions are doing most of the bidding and are taking only bonds that can be quickly liquidated.

Credit Conditions Steady.

The situation last week was favorable to an acceleration in upward move. Only $70,940,000 in new offerings, including a $30,000,000 note issue, was marketed. Credit conditions and commodity prices showed little change. In addition new funds were available for reinvestment.

Activity was about normal for midsummer. Despite the cautiousness of institutional buyers, their inquiry for standard issues influenced a steady advance in prices. Heading the procession, both in price movement and trading, were good railroad obligations, which on several days set new highs for the year in the averages. On the two days the gains made by carrier obligations boosted the average price level to new 1930 highs. For some time the market has hovered around the mark established last March, but it was not until last week that the spring record was surpassed.

Foreign Inquiry Slackens.

Inquiry for foreign bonds slackened somewhat and the price level was little disturbed. Stock privilege issues and speculative bonds moved lower, with some sharp breaks occurring on Friday when pressure in the share market virtually erased the gains made the last few weeks.

Among the developments of the week which may influence the future course of bonds were the reports showing large increases in deposits of savings banks and commercial financial institutions and the resumption of buying of government securities by the New York Federal Reserve bank. The reserve's action was influenced by the gold exports and was in line with its policy of maintaining easy credit conditions.

Point to Savings.

Bond men regarded the $273,000,000 increase in mutual savings banks' deposits during the first six months as an indication of the huge fund available for investment in bonds. In citing the large increase in the volume of "other securities" held by banks during the last quarter, the federal reserve board said the swing to bonds was natural in view of the yields available, in contrast with low interest rates on open market loans. Bond men expect bank buying will continue until the current ease in money abates.

Sees Americans Spurred in Argentine Competition

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Great Britain's effort to regain a leading position in trade with the Argentine republic by running a trade fair in Buenos Aires and, possibly, by sending the prince of Wales there next year, will probably spur American interests in that country to competitive action, according to D. Max Winkler, vice president of Bertron, Grisom & Co. He points out in a survey of Argentine and U. S. trade relations that in 1929 British trade with Argentine showed an increase of 91.45 per cent over 1913, while her investments there had increased only 15 per cent in that time and he asks whether or not the failure of Great Britain to increase her investments markedly may not be because a saturation point has been reached.

TO USE RYE IN LIEU OF CORN FOR SOLVENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Owing to the present drought and the resultant substantial price advance in corn, the Commercial Solvents corporation is planning to use rye in place of corn in the production of solvents and other products made by the company, it is announced.

The new process, which requires only 3 per cent more rye than corn to produce a similar amount of products, has been placed in successful operation at the company's plants at Peoria and Terre Haute. Although the company has benefited materially by the low price of corn prevailing in the first half of this year, utilization of rye, it is believed, will effect further important economies in production costs. Rye is selling approximately 30 per cent less in the prevailing market than corn.

Importance, Cost of Home Ownership Is Discussed

BY SCRUTATOR.

One of the greatest natural advantages of the Chicago metropolitan area, its vast expanse of level land, is approaching its final destiny at little more than a snail's pace.

Near the railroads that enter the city are thousands of acres of open land all suitable for home building. One can hardly fail to be struck in explorations of the suburban area by the ease with which the conversion to homes could be made. Swift electrified transit such as is furnished by the Illinois Central and a favorable level of building costs would be needed; nothing more.

The importance of home building and the necessity for a readjustment of its conditions have been recognized by President Hoover. A few days ago he appointed Secretary of Commerce Lamont chairman of a conference that has the task of finding a way to remove the influences which seriously hamper the spread of home ownership.

Suggests Better Designs.

Among the President's suggestions was one that better designs and economy should be discovered for the prospective home builder. He added that commerce, industry, installment buying and even farm mortgages have more effective credit reservoirs for their financing; that there were months during the depressed period when a shortage of mortgage funds was so acute that construction was off greatly. Second mortgages in some cities had to be paid for at the rate of 20 to 25 per cent, according to the President.

Money costs are high. Construction costs are still higher. In percentage as compared to 1913 they have climbed and remained above the price levels of practically all commodities and above the increase in rail rates.

American incomes are spent for satisfactions that are most attractive at the cost. No one denies that a better automobile can be bought now for say a thousand dollars than could have been had five or six years ago for 60 per cent more. The washing machine that cost $150 a little while back is having competition at half the price. The same is true of a hundred other articles.

Houses Are Cramped.

In the face of this, residential building costs remain so high that American city dwellers probably live surrounded by fewer bricks and less lumber than any other class of prosperous people who ever existed on earth. Their homes have the radios, the bathtubs, the mechanical refrigerators and all the other standard products that modern efficiency dispenses at low cost. But their homes are cramped. Real estate languishes and fresh air goes unbreathed.

Even the people who already have houses of their own seem reluctant to make extensive repairs on them. Builders report that a campaign to get such work done was far from a success because the owners balked at costs.

Lay Brick at a Time.

The automobile has been referred to as the greatest object of human desire ever manufactured. The fulfilment on a gigantic scale came only when the bulk of the incomes were large enough and car prices low enough to meet. As it is now, the mass of incomes cannot meet the costs of building on the abundant land around Chicago, although a wealth of building materials is close at hand.

Perhaps nothing can be done about it. On the other hand, the conference may find a need for builders to get away from tradition. For thousands of years, up until the time of Napoleon, the swiftest transport was the back of a horse. Our house walls and floors are still laid a brick and a board at a time.

WALL ST. NOW WATCHES CROP NEWS INTENTLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—It is so long since Wall street has watched the "crop news" with the consuming anxiety which it displayed last week that the picture came as a reminder of an almost forgotten past.

Financial circles had got the habit of taking hard times in the farm belt as a matter of course. The vicissitudes of agriculture did not affect the country's financial fortunes as they were once supposed to do; periods of highest enthusiasm on the stock exchange occurred at a moment when the farmer's distresses were a matter of urgent discussion. It is not surprising that last week's events should have been considered with something like bewilderment.

Yet there has been a singular periodicity in sessions of spectacular hardship or good luck in the farm country which have visibly influenced the financial situation, and it did not end with the war. The success of our own specie resumption, half a century ago, was insured by a great American wheat crop when harvests failed in the outside world. The famous trade revival after 1897 was introduced by a precisely similar incident.

Start of War Boom.

The "war boom" of 1915 had its start in the marketing of an exceptionally large wheat crop in this country while Europe was drafting its

Reorganization of

Wickwire Spencer Steel Company

To the Holders of Certificates of Deposit issued under or subject to the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization dated May 27, 1929, for

Wickwire Spencer Steel Corporation
First Mortgage Seven Per Cent. Sinking Fund Gold Bonds (hereinafter called First Mortgage Bonds);
Wickwire Spencer Steel Company
Prior Lien Collateral and Refunding Mortgage Seven Per Cent Convertible Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A (hereinafter called Prior Lien Bonds);
and

and

To the Holders of Five Year Six Per Centum Class B Notes (hereinafter called Class B Notes) of Wickwire Spencer Steel Company:

The Committee representing holders of the above Class B Notes having objected to the Plan of Reorganization on the ground that the Class B Noteholders were entitled to a part of the stock of the new company to be issued pursuant to the Plan, an agreement was entered into between the Reorganization Committee and the Class B Noteholders' Committee to submit to arbitration the question of what amount of stock the Class B Noteholders should receive. This question has been arbitrated accordingly and a decision rendered by the arbitrator to the effect that the holders of the Class B Notes are entitled to receive substantially 10.686 per cent of the stock of the proposed new company to be presently issued, which is equivalent to 10.8171 shares of new stock per $1000 principal amount of Class B Notes. The Reorganization Committee has therefore determined to amend the Plan so as to permit the deposit thereunder of Class B Notes and to increase the amount of stock to be presently issued from 329,030 to 368,397 shares, to be distributed to holders of deposited First Mortgage Bonds, Prior Lien Bonds, Class A Notes and Class B Notes as follows, per $1000 principal amount of deposited securities:

First Mortgage Bonds	20 shares	Class A Notes	30 shares
Prior Lien Bonds	20 shares	Class B Notes	10.8171 shares

The above number of shares distributable to holders of deposited First Mortgage Bonds, Prior Lien Bonds and Class A Notes is the same as in the original Plan of Reorganization on the basis of deposited Prior Lien Bonds to receive also, in the amended as in the original Plan, $11.66⅔ in cash per $1000 principal amount of said bonds.

A statement of the above mentioned amendment and a copy of the Amended Plan has been filed with the Bondholders' Committee constituted under the agreement of November 11, 1927, with the Class A Noteholders' Committee constituted under the agreement of December 13, 1927, and with the depositaries under said agreements and under the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization. Copies of the Amended Plan may be obtained from such depositaries and from the Secretary of the Reorganization Committee.

Holders of certificates of deposit for First Mortgage Bonds, Prior Lien Bonds and Class A Notes may, at any time on or before September 10, 1930, upon surrender, in negotiable form, of their respective certificates of deposit to the depositary which issued the same, and upon payment to such depositary, for account of the Reorganization Committee, of their pro rata shares, as fixed and apportioned by the Reorganization Committee, of the compensation, expenses, indebtedness, obligations and liabilities of the Reorganization Committee, namely, at the rate of $23.17 per $1000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds or Prior Lien Bonds, and at the rate of $30.32 per $1000 principal amount of Class A Notes, represented by such certificates of deposit, withdraw from the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization, and thereupon and upon compliance with all the conditions thereof, will be entitled to receive securities of the character and to the amount represented by the certificates of deposit so surrendered, in proportion to their respective interests. Every holder of a certificate of deposit for First Mortgage Bonds, Prior Lien Bonds or Class A Notes not so surrendering and withdrawing, and whether or not having actual knowledge thereof, will be deemed to have assented to said Amended Plan and to the changes and modifications of the Reorganization Plan of May 27, 1929 therein set forth, and, whether or not otherwise objecting, will be bound thereby as fully and effectively as if he had actually assented thereto.

Holders of undeposited First Mortgage Bonds, Prior Lien Bonds and Class A Notes (together with scrip representing fractional interests therein) may, prior to such date as may hereafter be fixed by the Reorganization Committee, deposit such bonds and notes, accompanied (except as otherwise permitted by the Reorganization Committee), in the case of First Mortgage Bonds and of Class A Notes by the appurtenant coupon due January 1, 1928 and all subsequent coupons, and, in the case of said Prior Lien Bonds, by the appurtenant coupon due November 1, 1927 and all subsequent coupons, with the below-mentioned depositaries for such bonds and notes, and will receive therefor certificates of deposit of such depositaries, stamped as having irrevocably assented to the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization and to the Amended Plan, and by the acceptance of such certificates of deposit will be deemed to have conclusively assented to the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization and to the Amended Plan, and to have irrevocably waived any right of withdrawal under the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization.

Holders of Class B Notes (together with scrip representing fractional interests therein) may, prior to such date as may hereafter be fixed by the Reorganization Committee, deposit such notes, accompanied (except as otherwise permitted by the Reorganization Committee) by the appurtenant coupon due January 1, 1928 and all subsequent coupons, with the below-mentioned depositary for said notes, and will receive therefor certificates of deposit of such depositary, and by the acceptance of such certificates of deposit will be deemed to have conclusively assented to the Amended Plan and to the Reorganization Agreement of May 27, 1929.

A decree has been entered providing for the foreclosure of the mortgages securing the First Mortgage Bonds and Prior Lien Bonds and for the sale of all the property of the Company both mortgaged and unmortgaged. Over $9,000,000 (71%) of said bonds and over $2,000,000 (82%) of Class A Notes have been deposited under the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization. Mr. Rudolph B. Fleershem, Chairman of the Class B Noteholders' Committee, has been elected a member of the Reorganization Committee and that Committee has received assurances to the effect that substantially all of the outstanding Class B Notes will be deposited under the Plan as amended.

Dated New York, August 11, 1930.

over the future, because wheat had failed to advance with corn, was most unexpected.

With wheat prices up around the $1.00 level there was more disposition to sell wheat on bulges and buy on breaks. At the same time, export buying was said to have been checked.

Canadian Crop Yields Down.

A reduction in Canadian crop estimates, due to drought, heat, and black rust from 390,000,000 to 425,000,000 bu down to 365,000,000 bu formed the basis for a great deal of buying and an advance in all wheat markets. All indications are that the Canadian crop will be spotted, with threshing returns in the southern districts of Manitoba and the Saskatchewan disappointing.

Foreign crop news became more bullish due to heavy rains in France, Germany and Belgium are said to have reduced to yields in quantity and quality. In all, the world's wheat crop situation is rather more in favor of holders, barring any supplies that Russia may spring on the trade. Latest advices from that country indicate that they will be sellers of wheat on all bulges.

An increase of 10,000,000 bu is expected in the visible supply report today, which will bring the total up to nearly last year's record volume. A year ago the increase was the largest known up to that time, 18,626,000 bu. Higher prices have increased the country movement, and the primary receipts, recently fallen off, are expected to increase in the near future.

An idea of the greatly increased trading was seen in the aggregate sales of 452,735,000 bu for the week, a gain of practically 200,000,000 bu over the previous week and compared with 488,000,000 bu last year.

At the close September wheat was 95⅝@95½c; December, $1.01⅝@1.01½; March, $1.06⅝@1.06½, and May, $1.09⅝@1.09¾. Prices for the week follow:

Oats Advanced 10 Cents.

Oats surprised the trade by moving up 10c from the low point of the previous week. Sharp reactions followed with a close at net gains of 4 to 5⅝c. Extensive buying by industries, shorts and selling by hedgers, featured the week's operations. The advance in corn and reports of crop damage by heat and drought, were also important constructive factors. September closed at 41⅞c, December 45⅝@45½c, March 49¾c.

Large holders, who recently were heavy buyers of rye, when prices were low, took advantage of a sharp advance created by new purchases because of the advance in other grains and took profits on the extreme bulge of over 10c and caused sharp reactions. At the close there were net gains of 9⅛@10c for the week. September close at 64¾c, December 70½@70⅝c, March 74⅝c.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

A five year test has proven conclusively that second mortgage loans can be made at a cost which is not out of proportion to the rates charged on first mortgage loans and other types of recognized and regulated financial transactions.

And these rates which we have introduced in this community and all of the conditions attached to our way of loaning have stood the test of prosperous times, and are standing the test of a period of depression in real estate.

We are making second mortgage loans and invite the home owner who may be looking for new funds or who may be desirous of refinancing a part or all of maturing mortgage financing to make use of the facilities which we offer.

We charge 7% accruing interest and a commission of 3½% for 1 year, 4½% for 2 years, and 9% for 3 years.
